NEWTON HIGHLANDS AUDIENCE

Hears a Lecture on Christian Science by Mr. Charles I. Ohrenstein, C.S.B. of Syracuse, N.Y.

A large audience listened to a very clear presentation of some of the basic truths of Christian Science, by Mr. Charles I. Ohrenstein, C. S. B., of Syracuse, N. Y., at Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands, Tuesday evening, Feb. 28th. Mr. Ohrenstein as a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, was amply qualified to speak in an authoritative way regarding his subject. He was fittingly introduced by Mr. John L. Wright of Newton Highlands, and the lecture in full is as follows:

Probably no idea has taken possession of the human thought during recent years like that of the need of preparedness, safety, and efficiency; and certainly these factors are indispensable for achievement or success of any kind. Every activity is spurred by this idea. The home, the school, the playground, the factory, the office—all are aflame with it. Preparedness, safety, efficiency may be said to be inscribed upon the mental banner leading all endeavor.

Now, let us look over history, and find its best prepared, safest, most efficient character. Instantly, what name comes to the thought of all? Just one; the name of him who was indeed "armed and well prepared," armed with the sword that was the destruction of every ill, every hardship, every wrong—the sword of Truth that meant life, freedom, peace, to every living thing, peace in all trials, all circumstances, a peace that still passes mere human understanding; the name of one who upon sea and land, in turmoil, storm, stress, in contact with depravity, contagion, sickness, calamity, death, demonstrated perfect safety and immunity; the name of one who assuaged all sorrows, healed all diseases, dispelled all sin, fed multitudes, stilled storms, raised the dying and the dead; the name of one whose one—the enemies—seemingly failure was but the forerunner of the crowning achievement of all efficiency—the achievement of the resurrection and ascension, the demonstration for all time of immortality. Would not all in sacred reverence breathe just this one name, the name Jesus of Nazareth, Jesus the Christ!

What gave Jesus the Christ this supreme preparedness, safety, efficiency? Was it mentality, spirituality, or was it materiality, corporeality? Was it not his Christianity, and was not this Christianity his demonstrable knowledge or Science, that is, Christian Science? Either it was such knowledge or Science or it was its opposite, ignorance, superstition, illusive belief. Let those who will take this view.

The preparedness, safety, efficiency of Jesus were the result of his demonstrable knowledge, the Science of being which constituted his Christianity. This Christianity was no mere ceremonialism or belief. It was the science of living and of living more abundantly; the science of health, of peace, of blessedness; the science that made Jesus the Saviour, deliverer, redeemer; the science which he came to teach mankind. In a word, it was the understanding of God, the supreme power that is all good and always with us.

God

Must not we then in order to be Christians, to benefit by this Christianity, gain this understanding of God? Must not we ask who or what is this God of whom Jesus had such intimate, exact knowledge or science?

Going to this master Jew, this master Christian, what do we learn God is? Something different from what was in the beginning? Not at all.

It should be remembered that Jesus did not write; he spoke. He spoke to his own people, the common people who heard him gladly; and he spoke in their tongue. The only instance preserved to us of what he said in that tongue is in the words which preceded his giving up the "ghost," the mere semblance of life, which he said he could lay down and could take up again, as he later proved. These words, all will remember, were, "Eloi,

THE HEREAFTER

The Last Lecture in the Series Given at the New Church

"The Hereafter: Why and How Think of It Now," was the subject of a very interesting lecture by the Rev. John Goddard at the Church of the New Jerusalem, Newtonville, last Sunday evening. The lecture, which was the last of a course of five by different speakers, attracted a large attendance, nearly every seat in the beautiful church having been occupied. It was followed by a brief but enjoyable recital on the new organ by Mr. Albert L. Walker.

The speaker's treatment of his subject was in outline as follows:

How shall we think of the hereafter? Is there any way in which we can form a definite idea of what the future life is like? The Bible shows that whenever a new revelation was made to man it was accompanied by an opening of the inner vision of the revelator, so that he saw into the spiritual world, which lies about and within the world of sense. This was the case with Abraham, with Jacob, with Moses, with the prophets, with the apostles at the time of the Transfiguration and of the Ascension, with John at Patmos, and in many other cases. Is it not natural to suppose that if the Lord was to give the world a new Christianity, as He had promised, a similar opening of vision would accompany the revelation? The New Church believes that this occurred in the case of Emmanuel Swedenborg, who for nearly thirty years had the unique experience of living consciously in both the natural and the spiritual worlds at the same time.

The supreme purpose of the opening of Swedenborg's vision was that "the Son of Man might come in the clouds," as the Bible promises. This means, that the fact that Jesus Christ is God might be made known upon the basis of the obscure statements in the literal sense of the Bible. The supreme fact about the future life which Swedenborg made known is that "the Lord Jesus Christ is the God of heaven." Everything else centres about this, and we are asked to believe in a real immortality as the only possible adequate expression of the Lord Jesus' love for mankind.

The spiritual world is pictured in much detail in Swedenborg's famous book entitled, "Heaven and Its Wonders, and Hell, from Things Heard and Seen" (more commonly known by the brief title, "Heaven and Hell"). In this book the whole aim is to make us feel the reality of the future world. It is a world of rivers and mountains, of fields and trees and flowers, a world in which men live in houses and have regular occupations (though these

THE BUDGET

Mayor Childs Favors Large Increases in Salaries and Appropriations

Mayor Childs has filed with the City Clerk his budget for the present year and as anticipated last week, there is an increase of substantially two hundred thousand dollars over the figures for 1916, the amount to be raised by taxation in each case being $1,774,921.04 in 1917 and $1,560,009.23 in 1916.

The following table will show the amounts recommended for each department by the Mayor, the department recommendations being the same.

The most substantial increases noted include the School department where the total is $470,441.93, an amount practically the same as the entire budget for the city of Melrose. This amount is about $58,000 larger than last year, and includes something like $32,000 for salary increases for teachers and janitors, $10,000 increase in cost of supplies and $9,000 for new equipment.

The Street department jumps from $355,718 to over $392,000 of which $10,000 increase is for Street Maintenance, $12,000 for new equipment, $4,000 for street lighting and $2400 for New sidewalks.

The Playground department increases from about $23,000 last year to nearly $40,000 for 1917, of which $10,000 is for bathhouses in various parts of the city and an increase on playgrounds.

The increase in the Library account of about $3000 is largely for salaries. The Charity, Health and Water departments are in a class by themselves, the 1917 totals being less than in 1916, the Water and Charity being substantially the same as last year while the Health department saves $3,000 in its Care of Diseases item, with a net decrease of about $1700.

The mayor has been rather generous in salary increases almost every department head and clerk having a substantial increase recommended. The police and firemen are particularly well remembered, the patrolmen and permanent firemen being granted $200 increase to $1300 yearly, the two lieutenants and inspectors a raise of $400 to $1800 and the sergeants jump up $300 to $1600. The police appropriation is increased about $23,000 and the fire department about $13,000.

Increases of departments are given the brief title, "Heaven and Hell"). In this book the whole aim is to make us feel the reality of the future world. It is a world of rivers and mountains, of fields and trees and flowers, a world in which men live in houses and have regular occupations (though these

TWENTY NINE YEARS

Newton Co-operative Bank has had a Most Prosperous Career

After twenty-nine years of constant progress, this Bank has now passed the $1,000,000 mark, with a surplus and guaranty fund of over $23,000. From its beginning, this Bank has had as directors some of Newton's leading business men, to whose faithful efforts is to be attributed its great success.

Newton is essentially a city of homes and the duty of a co-operative Bank is to help every home builder or home buyer. The home owner is the best citizen. If you know of anyone desirous of owning a house and thus becoming a better citizen, be assured that he or she will receive most courteous attention and most liberal assistance of the Bank and its officers. During the past five and one-half years the Bank helped hundreds to save this money and to have something tangible to leave to their families. Why pay rent and in your old age have no home to leave to your family? For the same annual rental that most people pay, they could own their house in about ten years. Begin to save while your earning capacity is at its best.

The Bank needs more shareholders and more borrowers. Every Five Dollars saved monthly means a Thousand Dollars in twelve years. There are few people in these times of high wages who cannot put aside from Five to Twenty-five Dollars each month, and the time to begin is now. The money is all loaned to its shareholders on mortgages or on their shares. A flat rate of five and one-half per cent is charged on all loans, with no commissions to pay. Five per cent is paid on all maturing shares. Interest is compounded semi-annually. During the past five years, with larger resources, the Bank has not declined a Newton mortgage that was a safe risk.

This Bank is no experiment, but with substantially the same officers, it has had twenty-nine years of practical experience. It charges a reasonable rate of interest. It pays a fair rate of interest, one per cent more than the Savings Banks and Trust Companies. It does not compete with them however, as it does not accept fixed amounts on deposit. It encourages thrift by its monthly payment. The bank now has 131 shareholders with 17,830 shares; 542 of whom are borrowers on $315 shares.

If not convenient for you to pay monthly at the Bank, you can send checks by mail, or, if doing business in Boston, can pay at the office of the President, James W. French, 73 Tremont street, Boston, Room 650, on four days in the month. adv.

PARENTS-TEACHERS CONFERENCE

An Interesting Meeting Held on Monday at the Mason School Newton Centre

The heavy downpour on Tuesday evening did not in the least dampen the ardor of the parents and teachers interested in Newton School matters, for they assembled in large numbers in the hall at the Mason School in Newton Centre.

The Conference was under the auspices of the Educational Committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, that busy organization which is accomplishing so much good work on the South Side, and the meeting was a most enthusiastic one.

Dr. George L. West, president, and the speakers included Mr. U. G. Wheeler, superintendent of the Newton Schools, Mr. M. W. Murray, Principal of the Newton Vocational School, and Mr. Samuel B. Paul, principal of the Mason School.

Dr. West opened the meeting at 8 o'clock and extended thanks to the people in behalf of the Committee for coming out on such a night. We are here to discuss the school system," said Dr. West, and came here as good American citizens. "As a man thinks so he is," and he then introduced the superintendent, Mr. Wheeler, whom he said, has the determination to put the schools of this city in the foremost ranks.

Mr. Wheeler said that the Public Schools ought to interest the people in any community, and he was glad to find it so in Newton Centre. "The Mason School has always stood for what is best," said Mr. Wheeler, and Newton Centre people ought to be pleased with the school and its work. What is needed is the co-operation, consideration and sympathy of the parents. He expressed his approval of the plan of holding Conferences, which affords an opportunity to meet occasionally to discuss school matters.

We are confronted with four propositions: First, that the Schools are not perfect; second, that the pupils are not perfect; third, the teachers are not perfect; fourth, the parents are not perfect. It is necessary to keep in mind the fact that faults do exist, and there should be a reasonable amount of consideration shown one for another.

In the School System there are four graded steps from the Kindergarten to the High, and some of the steps are difficult to pass between the grades to the High School, for instance. There is, and has been, a break in the continuity of the work. As a remedy it has been suggested to re-establish the ninth grade.

Three suggestions have been made in regard to this problem: First, re-establishment of the Ninth grade; second, re-organization of the School, and third, the establishment of a Junior High School.

The ninth grade was abolished some years ago; some are not satisfied and would like to have it re-established. There are certain good reasons why it was abolished.

One objection to the present system is that a great many children get into the High School too young. We have eight years of elementary school work. As a matter of fact the average age of children entering the High School last fall, was 14 years, 5 months, and one-third were less than 14. An equal number were over age, 16, 17, and even 18 years of age. Some of the children enter the High School at an early age because they skip grades in the Grammar School, but the superintendent believes that 7 or 8 out of every 10 who skip grades, will meet with difficulties later. The parents are doubly anxious to have them skip grades, and it may be that these same parents have complaints to make later. One chief factor recorded is that the work of the ninth grade would be largely devoted to High School work.

The eighth grade system is a universal practice outside of New England. One thousand cities, in the country have an eighth grade system instead of a ninth grade system. From the eighth grade, it requires 5 years to get thru the High School.

The Classical courses are completed in 4 years. The most important factor would be the re-organization of work. Junior High Schools have been organized in the west and pupils go from the Junior High School into the second year in the High School. Latin and mathematics are introduced so that pupils could cover a full year's work in the Junior High School.

Newton is a difficult city in which to re-organize a school system, and yet it might be advisable to organize a Junior High School right here. If we keep pouring the pupils all in to the High School we will have too large a school.

Mr. Murray, the second speaker, referred to all the inventions of the last ten years and noted that little had been done to adopt these inventions in the schools. He spoke of the work in the Vocational Schools. Household arts work for girls; college along technical lines; college along mechanical lines and of the Independent Industrial School at Nonantum which was organized thru the generosity of the late Frank A. Day.

It became evident that they were duplicating certain work of these two (Continued on Page 8.)

GROWTH OF DEPOSITS

1908 (consolidated Newton National Bank) $1,856,611.81

1915 (consolidated with Newtonville Trust Co.) $2,799,232.20

1917 $4,037,084.50

We believe these figures indicate to some extent at least the measure of our increased usefulness to Newton people. We have always endeavored to have our equipment keep pace with the demands of the community.

Why Go to the Photographer if the Latter Will Go to You

In these days of expert service you do not need to pay for attention you do not receive. You need not take your children a fatiguing journey to the photographer to have their pictures taken in strange surroundings. Miss Folger will go to your home without extra charge, and while the children are being slipped into fresh dresses, or the baby is having his luncheon, the photographer is getting her camera and the toys ready for her frolic with the children. The latter seldom realize, as they play with their new toys, and their playmate (the photographer in disguise) tells them stories, that the pictures are being taken. And mothers express surprise, when the proofs come, that so many pretty positions have been secured.

I shall be happy to talk with anyone who is interested to see my pictures.

CENTRAL CLUB OF NEWTONVILLE

Preparations are now being made by the Central Club of the Central Congregational Church for two evening performances on March 19 and 20. These dates being on Monday and Tuesday should ensure the gathering of a large audience each night to see and hear the combined entertainments which the members are so eager to make successful. Minstrels, a musical program, and a little play will be given. The music for the minstrels is being composed by Mr. Edwin Vose, whose well-known lyrics and instrumental airs were the success of the "Tech" show a few years ago, and that portion of the entertainment will be well handled by Dr. Strong as inter-locutor and Robert W. Doyden, Chauncey Waldron, Maurice Moore, and Augustus Wakefield, as end-men. The title of the little play together with the cast of characters and performers, will be announced in our next issue; and the musical program, which is now being prepared, and which will be rendered by the best amateur talent in the church, will be ready for publication at the same time. The officers of the club this year are, H. Belden Sly, president; Edwin S. Woodbury, vice-president; and Percy S. Williams, secretary-treasurer. The president has the arrangements in hand, and with the co-operation of several active members he expects that the performance will be given capably and with good snap.

N. H. S.

At the B. A. A. Inter-scholastic track meet held at Mechanics building last Saturday, the Newton boys won fourth place with a total of 6 points, winning second place in the 40 yard dash and in the 45 yard hurdles. Duvall who was depended upon to win the mile run, fell down. Hayes won for Newton in the dash and Bowen in the hurdles. One of the greatest races of the day was the Newton-Brookline High relay, which the former won, but was forced to relinquish its claim because of a foul by George Mooney of the Garden City team, who ran first. He attempted to pass J. Ferguson of Brookline High on the final corner of the last lap. The race itself developed into a pretty one and not until George Brickhouse the anchor man went out, was Newton High assured of a win. After accomplishing the feat the officials disqualified Newton and gave Brookline the former's time and the prizes.

BOSTON AUTO SHOW

The Boston Automobile Show will open Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. This great exposition will be on for seven days. The management anticipates that the exhibitors will do a record-breaking business and that there will be greater crowds than ever. The show will be held in Mechanics Building and Horticultural Hall. Another automobile show—the Automobile Salon—will be held in the ballroom of the Copley-Plaza Hotel and will open Monday morning and be on for six days. The Salon will display only the very highest-grade cars manufactured. From an exhibition standpoint, the forthcoming show is the largest that has ever been staged in Boston. There will be over 140 different manufacturers of motor cars and commercial trucks represented. There will be close onto 50 different makes of passenger cars and more than 50 different truck exhibits. The Accessory department will be unusually large. Many makes of trucks and passenger cars will be shown for the first time in Boston.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—If one may judge from the daily attendances at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, which give promise of eclipsing anything in the way of patronage that has been seen in that city in years, the majestically beautiful fantasy, "A Daughter of the Gods," which enters into its eighth week on Monday next (March 5), could continue here for weeks to come, but the end of the phenomenal run is near at hand. It may be seen only a few times more. The story unfolded is one that appeals strongly to children and grown-ups alike and in its enactment fierce battles on a stupendous scale are waged, gnomes are transformed into fighting men and an entire city is destroyed by fire. But best of all are the aquatic stunts of Miss Kellermann, so daring and thrilling that they are simply indescribable. Performances are given every afternoon and evening.

last are of a distinctively spiritual character. It is a world more real to its inhabitants than this world is to us, because the senses of the spiritual body are far keener than those of the natural one.

Again, the spiritual world is one of order and organization. There are three realms within it. There is heaven, where all men go who have lived in the attempt to do what seemed to them to be right. There is the "world of spirits", or intermediate state, where men are given a final opportunity to find themselves and to make their eternal decision. And lastly there is hell, where go the men and women who are incurably and completely selfish. Hell is not a place of Divine punishment, and the Lord sends no one there. It is the voluntary congregating-place of those who have rebelled against the laws of God and of nature.

Each of these realms is in turn subdivided into "societies", or communities, in which live those people who are most congenial with each other. The angels—or inhabitants of heaven, for every angel was once a human being here on earth—devote their energies to serving one another and the people in this world in various spiritual ways. "The kingdom of heaven is a kingdom of uses."

Now, why should we believe in such a future world as this? Why should we bother ourselves with thinking about another world so long as we are in this one? Primarily because there is no other way in which we can get a right perspective on life. The teaching of Swedenborg about the future life is intensely practical, because it makes us realize, as nothing else can, the vital importance of what we do here and now. For upon our actions in this world depend, not only our characters, but our eternal destiny.

It is especially fortunate for children to be brought up with a right idea of the future life. Not only does it make them more conscientious, but it robs them of the fear of death, by which so many of them are made miserable. To a New-Churchman, death is not something to be feared, but something to be looked forward to as the brightest and most splendid thing in life. It is the final culmination of our destiny—the supreme expression of our Heavenly Father's love.

In passing, the speaker took occasion to refer to three mistaken ideas about the "Swedenborgians", which are still occasionally met with. These are that they believe that after death we have the same occupations as in this life; that they set places at table for their deceased friends; and that they seek communication with spirits. All of these statements, Mr. Goddard said, are absolutely untrue.

Readers of the Graphic who would be interested in reading Swedenborg's "Heaven and Hell" may get a copy free, either by asking for it at the other automobile show—the Automobile Salon—or by writing to Mr. Robert E. Capen, Librarian, 22 Walnut place, Newtonville.

SAD ACCIDENT

Mr. Chester A. Parkhurst of Fuller street, West Newton, was struck and almost instantly killed last Friday night by an automobile owned and operated by Mr. Herbert E. Smith of Beaumont avenue, Newtonville. Mr. Smith was driving his car, running his machine on Commonwealth avenue, near its western junction with Fuller street at a moderate rate of speed, the wind shield being more or less misted with rain, when Mr. Parkhurst appeared immediately in front of the car with his head down evidently to avoid the ice on the road bed. Mr. Smith made every effort to avoid striking him but failed to do so, and Mr. Parkhurst received a fracture of the skull, from which he died almost as soon as he reached the Hospital. No blame attaches to Mr. Smith. Mr. Parkhurst was employed by the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Co. as a foreman at its Auburndale station, and he is survived by a widow and nine small children.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Parkhurst's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ward, 35 Emerson street, Newton. Rev. Harrie R. Chamberlin of the Immanuel Baptist Church, Newton and Rev. Dr. Cutler of the Union Church, Waban, officiating. Solos were rendered by Miss Elizabeth Bailey. The interment was at the Newton Cemetery. A large delegation of Mr. Parkhurst's fellow workmen, several officials of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway and members of Garden City Lodge, A. O. U. W., of which the deceased was a member, were present.

Besides his widow and nine children he is survived by an aged father who is seriously ill and from whom the son's death has been withheld.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Ulinia Poluseczuk, who was employed in South Natick as a farm-hand was fatally injured Saturday night and died the next morning at the Newton Hospital. Poluseczuk was committing a nuisance in one of the alleys near the Newton Fire Station, when he was noticed by a police officer who started towards him. Poluseczuk who is a Pole, was evidently frightened and ran in the rear of the blocks on Washington and Centre streets, and vaulted the fence on the railroad boundary. As he was unable to stop himself he fell on the side of the fence he fell 15 feet to the tracks below, breaking several ribs and receiving other internal injuries.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The 27th Annual Old Boy's Conference of the Y. M. C. A. in Massachusetts and Rhode Island was held last week in Lowell, Mass. from February 23rd to 25th. This Conference was similar to the one entertained last year in Newton. The local Boy's Division was represented by the following delegation: Walter MacDonnell, Walter Dodge, Richard Blaisdell, Leslie Newcombe, Erving Buffum, Elmore Pickering, Alvin Crowell, Harry Flinn, Clarence Rummell, and Boys' Secretaries G. A. Grace and W. H. Sears.

The general theme of the Conference was "Service for Others." The opening address, "A Boy's Lifting Power" was given by the Rev. Louis C. Wright of Springfield. The annual banquet was held in the State Armory where the boys were welcomed by the Mayor and the representatives of the other civic institutions of the city. An unusual feature was presented Saturday evening by the Rev. Austen T. Kempton of Cambridge in the form of a Drama Sermon, "Paid in Full." The big Mass Meeting of Sunday afternoon was attended by over 1200 boys. Mr. H. W. Gibson spoke upon the subjects, "X-Rays," Mr. E. C. Vorman of Madras, India, was the speaker at the closing session on Sunday evening.

An "Echo" Meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon at 3.30 P. M. This meeting will be in charge of the Newton delegates and reports will be made of the Lowell Conference. There will be special music and a cordial invitation is extended to the men and other boys of Newton to be present Sunday afternoon.

Turner of Worcester street, and son, Mr. C. H. Clapp of Newton.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at the residence of his son at 24 Richardson street, Newton.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE

The third week of the greatest dramatic successes, "A Fool There Was" will begin at the Castle Square next Monday. In this play, which is based on Rudyard Kipling's story, "The Vampire," the dramatist has a vital theme for three acts of vigorous ideas and sensational scenes. At the head of the company, organized especially for this Boston engagement is William Courtleigh. He is appearing in the role of the husband, and the cast also includes Hallett Thompson, with the leading feminine role acted by Miss Edna Conway.

Extra Vote Certificate and more Special Prizes.
About Four More Weeks

VALUABLE BONUS AN ASSET

The bonus vote which was offered this week to all candidates in the automobile contest for reporting subscriptions to the amount of $15.00 is responsible for general gains in the published standings as well as starting a reserve fund for the final standing. Wise candidates will use good care that each bonus vote offer is taken advantage of, and by a little judicious action many thousand counters will be in evidence at the proper time. The votes which are secured through extra effort, during these special vote periods, do not have to be cast at the time they are issued so candidates can go as far as they choose without showing their hands. It is quite generally known that the winning of any race of importance is done in the home-stretch. It matters little how many votes represent the standing from time to time—it is the number shown at the end that counts.

THE GOLD PIECES

In offering the Gold Pieces to contestants in connection with the procuring of the bonus vote offered, furnished the vehicle for several of the hustling workers to profit during the past two weeks. While the workers were after the votes it was very pleasant to have some immediate reward in the shape of coin of the realm. The votes so procured will prove of inestimable value, whenever used and the reward afforded for extra effort cannot help but prove pleasing.

From this time until the termination of the contest increased voting is certain to be in evidence. The heated state will keep into insignificance when the size of the vote-totals are given in each of the few weeks which remains to show the standings. It makes little difference where any candidate stands in the showing each week if YOU know you have in the making enuf to overcome the apparent lead of your opponent.

Will Soon Be Over

The end of the contest is but a matter of a few weeks now and each candidate should make extra effort to see all prospects and realize on all promises without delay. There are several good reasons why extra speed should be in evidence. The more important ones are: The bonus is much larger at this time and someone else will certainly grab up any you do not get right away. There are always a number of folks who will say, "Wait until the end and if you see you need my subscription I will give you one." These persons should be approached now and shown that their subscription, given at this time, means much more as the extra vote values decrease with each week. Friends of candidates who are trying to secure any of the prizes should make their payments to the candidates who the extra vote inducements are of sufficient size to prove attractive.

Winning vs. Losing

THE NEWTON GRAPHIC has offered to the energetic people of this town an opportunity to profit very substantially thru a little effort. The banner prize is an automobile while the other offerings are of the size and value to entice most any person. The only requisite to acquire any of these awards is work. Friends can do much to aid you, but you must be the magnet and furnish the enthusiasm. There is all the difference in the world between winning and losing. You do not want to lose. Ergo, you must work. Friends and supporters will assist you in proportion to the energy you display. It is not like saving and planning for years in order that you may own one of the prizes which will be given away. It will be only a few weeks before your ambition can be realized if you have shown, by your persistence and energy that you are entitled to same. We cherish most that which we win thru our greatest efforts because we know we are deserving of it.

So it will be in the case of this campaign. If you win by hard work you will enjoy the fruits thereof all the more.

Extended Subscriptions

It is now time for the contestants to call on some of those who said if you need more votes call back and we will give you another payment. Candidates may secure the second payment on subscriptions where the original payment was made to them and the full vote for the total amount of the subscription will be given the contestant so favored. This is what is called "extended subscriptions" and it is a good plan to go over the list of those who have subscribed with you and secure the extra votes.

Inasmuch as there is no possible way of knowing when you have enuf votes, it is advisable to keep everlastingly at it. Much more pleasing to win by extra votes than to fall short a few thousand.

MORE GOLD FOR HUSTLERS

The same special offer which was in force last week will be given the candidates for the present period. For each report of subscriptions to the extent of $30.00, a Gold Piece to the value of $2.50 will be given.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—Guy Bates Post has, through the creation of very distinctive characters, through recent years proved himself one of the most notable of American players. His interpretation of Omar was exotic, colorful and imbued with romance, and he is to return to us in a character, or rather characters, for he plays a dual role, in decided contrast with that poet and philosopher. "The Masquerader," by John Hunter Booth, which Richard Walton Tully is to present at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, next week, commencing Monday, March 5th, Mr. Post will be given an opportunity to show the very best of his great talent as an actor. "The Masquerader" was written by Katherine Cecil Thurston, and found a large public favor in book form. It is a fascinating story and deals with two men alike in personal appearance, but essentially different in their mental attitude, or, to be exact, their moral attitude. From a scenic standpoint no detail has been neglected to make that environment in keeping with the high standards of the playing and the play.

WILBUR THEATRE—The fifth week of the immensely popular Viennese operetta, "The Blue Paradise," which has completed a month of unprecedented success at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, where it has taken the town by storm, will begin next Monday evening, March 5th, at this delightfully intimate theatre. Not in many years has Boston been afforded such a rare treat in the way of musical comedy and that local theatre-goers have responded to its appeal is evidenced by the crowded houses at every performance. The music of "The Blue Paradise" is undoubtedly the most alluring series of melodies ever heard for some time and the great vaulted song, "Auf Wiedersehn," together with the other numbers, have already attained an enviable vogue among music lovers. Cecil Lean, the leading comedian, with his expansive smile and his characteristic crotchety, has ingratiated himself with every audience and has become a favorite with all.

LATEST NEWS ABOUT EQUAL SUFFRAGE

THE SUFFRAGISTS' CREED

We believe That "governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."

We believe That a democracy is "a government of the people, by the people and for the people."

We believe That women are people and are governed.

We believe That no state can be a true democracy in which one-half the people are denied the right to vote.

We believe That women need the vote for the same reason that men need it.

We believe That because laws regulate a woman's life, tax her property and may even sentence her to death, she should have the right to share in the making of the laws.

We believe That democracy bids everyone stand up and be counted, and that on Election Day no one should be counted for more than one.

If you believe this, join the Votes for Women Movement.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

From its inception half a century ago, the suffrage movement has been conducted upon a uniform platform with a single plank, "Votes for Women." All suffrage organizations have operated upon an absolutely non-partisan and non-sectarian basis. They have endorsed no party, no reform, no public policy. No suffrage organization in any state has even endorsed or opposed prohibition.

Non-suffragists, generally, have utterly failed to comprehend the meaning of the suffrage movement, which has been inspired from the beginning by precisely the same motives as have forwarded similar movements among men. A desire for personal liberty in governmental matters, a feeling that an outrageous injustice is done the mothers of the races who are denied a voice in the welfare of their country, a conviction that our claim of a government of the people is a mere travesty when half are denied expression of their political desires; that governments are weak along the lines when women's instincts and inclinations are strongest; that the disenfranchisement of a sex is a discrimination based upon superstition and tradition instead of reason and commonsense—these are the motives that impel women to seek the ballot.

FEDERAL AND STATE AMENDMENT

Now that the principle of woman suffrage has been all but universally conceded, the relative value of the different ways of getting woman suffrage is engaging more and more of the attention of statesmen as well as of all working suffragists.

Among the arguments recently adduced to show that suffrage by federal amendment is the easiest and quickest of all methods, the summary by Representative John M. Nelson, of Wisconsin, stands out with special clarity. Mr. Nelson has presented in the House a minority report from the Judiciary Committee, which for the first time in American history deals with the methods of obtaining equal suffrage. He calls the "national way," direct, well known and effective. He calls the "state way" roundabout, seldom used and interminable.

According to the national way, an amendment must be passed in the United States Senate and House of Representatives by a two-thirds vote of the members voting, a quorum be present, and the amendments must be ratified by a majority in three-fourths of the state legislatures.

According to the state way, a state constitutional amendment must usually be passed by a two-thirds vote of the state legislatures, sometimes twice over; and must then be submitted to a referendum of the male voters of the state. This process must be repeated from state to state until the last one has acted favorably.

PARTIAL SUFFRAGE—WHY

In every State partial suffrage can be granted by a quicker process than a constitutional amendment; and the women do not want to wait any longer than they must.

Moreover, it is often objected to full suffrage that, once granted, it is irrevocable. Partial suffrage can be repealed by the Legislature at any time, if it does not turn out to work well. This can be done without fear of political opposition, since under partial suffrage women cannot vote for members of the Legislature.

Finally, the women believe that after men have seen the practical working of partial suffrage, a full suffrage amendment is much more likely to pass. After 25 years' experience of municipal suffrage for women, Kansas adopted full suffrage by the largest majority ever given to it in any State. The men liked the sample, and wanted more of the goods.

THE HISTORIC STRAW VOTE

Opponents of equal rights have made several references lately to the straw vote taken in Massachusetts in 1855. This is rather an ancient history, and the facts are seldom given correctly by the anti.

The Legislature ordered a straw vote of men and women to be taken on the question. The women's vote stood—Yes, 22,294; no, 861. But the men's vote went more than two to one against the proposition; and the men's vote was the one that carried most weight with the Legislature.

The women who voted yes were only a fraction of all the women in the State, and the men who voted no were only a fraction of all the men in the State. Yet the men's vote was rightly looked upon as expressing the view of those men who had conscientious convictions upon the subject; and the same was true of the women's vote. As Julia Ward Howe said, "It showed with absolute accuracy how many of the women opposed to suffrage really believed that the right to vote implies the duty to vote."

When the anti-suffragists refer to this affair, they never mention that the women's vote was more than 25 to one in favor, and that the number of "conscientious objectors" was just 861 out of all the women of Massachusetts.

"MY COUNTRY 'TIS OF THE"

Following immediately upon President Wilson's action severing diplomatic relations with the German government, the women of the nation have begun to shape definite plans by which they may serve their country in case of need.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, President of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, has issued a call for a meeting of the Executive Council of the Association, representing every State in the Union, to decide upon the most effective service the members can render the nation in this time of stress. The meeting was held in Washington, D. C., on Feb. 23 to 25, inclusive.

"If we are to be dragged into war, this is no time to offer pointless promises of assistance," said Mrs. Catt, when interviewed directly after her call had been issued.

"In the beginning of the European war the women were uncertain what they could do and whether they were wanted, while the government underestimated their capacity and hesitated to call upon them for any service. The result has been serious economic mistakes, for which those countries are paying dearly. To avoid these blunders, we propose to consider the capacity of women to help in our own crisis and to make a definite proposal to the government which we can guarantee to carry out successfully."

The first cry in Great Britain was for munitions. Contracts were scattered everywhere among companies that could and companies that could not fill them. High wages finally attracted enough men to earn more money than ever before. Then the government found it needed these men elsewhere. It pulled them out of the factories and put them in the trenches, where they earned but little. Women were substituted for them in factories at low wages, but not until they had marched the streets of London demanding that they be given an opportunity to work. It was a mistake not to take the women first. It was unnecessary to cause an economic revolution by substituting women for men on a new scale of wages, and introducing in factories under stress of great demand for products a large number of untrained hands which might have been trained earlier under a more intelligent system.

The National Woman Suffrage Association is equipped to render general service. When it has been determined what that service shall be, it has an organization in almost every Congressional district in the country, a State organization in each State, and auxiliary organizations in the large cities. Its membership exceeds two million women. Scores of other organizations in every part of the country are offering aid of every sort.

PROGRESS OF EQUAL SUFFRAGE

The Ohio House has passed the bill giving women the suffrage at presidential elections by a vote of 72 to 59. That was right. The House dispensed credit by giving a good majority to no member who voted for the bill will ever regret it. As the days and years pass, he will find his vote in harmony with the true evolution of government. It is in support of the realization of a truth and a life that must gain the ascendancy in human affairs.

Augusta, Me., Feb. 22—By unanimous vote the Senate today passed a resolution providing for woman suffrage by constitutional amendment. The measure, which the House adopted yesterday, 113 to 35, now goes to Governor Milliken for approval and will be submitted to the voters at the September election. Governor Milliken in his inaugural address, advocated a referendum on the suffrage issue.

Governor Milliken stated that he would sign the resolve tomorrow.

There will be another suffrage referendum in South Dakota at the general election in 1918. For the first time in the State's history this action was taken without debate in either House.

The Democrats of Oklahoma were so impressed with the splendid work of the women in that State for President Wilson during the last campaign that they are to introduce an equal suffrage bill into the next Legislature. This is the first time that a dominant party has ever introduced a suffrage amendment. Another wedge for votes for women.

The bill which the North Carolina women have filed in the Legislature asking for presidential and municipal suffrage passed the House January 19. That equal suffrage is making undoubted headway in this state is interesting as well as significant.

The Equal Suffrage Bill which is now before the Tennessee Legislature is being received with so much favor that many observers are predicting that Tennessee will be the first of the southern states to extend the franchise to women. As the opposition seems to be almost entirely in the House the Tennessee Equal Suffrage Association is giving all its attention to the members of this body. This bill does not grant full suffrage but it extends it to presidential electors and municipal officials.

The Nebraska House of Representatives has passed the bill to give women presidential and municipal suffrage, by the magnificent vote of 73 to 24, with three members absent. The gallery was crowded with women.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 22—Minnesota's House of Representatives late yesterday passed a bill granting full suffrage to women by constitutional amendment. If passed by the Senate the amendment would be submitted in the November election in 1918.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 22.—The woman's suffrage bill passed in the lower branch of the Indiana Legislature late today. It previously had been passed by the Senate and now goes to Gov. Goodrich. The bill gives women the right to vote for presidential electors and virtually all state officers except Governor and secretary of state.

FRANCE'S THREE SUFFRAGE BILLS

Of the three proposals for woman suffrage at various stages of development before the French people, two show an ingenious masculine disposition not to recognize women directly if there is a man to recognize in her stead. One is Maurice Barres's bill to enfranchise the wives and mothers of soldiers who have perished in battle. It is in the nature of a poetic tribute, by proxy, to dead men rather than a direct application to living women of the democratic principle of one person, one vote. It is talked about some, but it is not expected to be much fruit.

The other is the Dugue bill. It would allow the husband and father to vote for the wife and child, but would enfranchise unmarried women. This is in line with the well-defined tendency, so greatly resented by married women, to make matrimony for women a less desirable state than celibacy. It is, of course, an effort to consider the family and not the individual political unit, and like all such efforts it reacts on the family through the depreciation of the individual. To class the wife and mother with irresponsibles and minors while allowing the unmarried woman to take her place in the political world as a fully accredited human being does not fail to belittle marriage and the family in the eyes of women and to accentuate the advantages of celibacy.

It is a third bill, Ferdinand Buisson's bill, that is engaging the more serious efforts and hopes of French suffragists. This bill is based on a far clearer recognition of the democratic principle of self-government and is far more just in its proposed application of that principle to women. M. Buisson has not been elected, but M. Etienne Flaminin has the fortunes of the measure in hand. It is expected to come before the Chamber of Deputies before the year is out.

Canadian soldiers in the trenches in Europe voted two to one in favor of giving their mothers, wives and sisters at home the right to vote, said Mrs. Ida H. Harper recently, in discussing the effect of war on woman suffrage in an informal talk at the headquarters of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, 1626 Rhode Island avenue. Canadian women are credited with playing a part in the war quite as important in some respects as that of the men.

Mrs. Harper spoke of the shadowy border line which exists between western Canada and the western United States, saying that equal suffrage in this country had made the progress of the women in Canada easier, and that the accomplishment of equal suffrage in four western Canadian provinces is now reaching on the people of the Dakotas and Minnesota.

London, England.—The Committee on Electoral Reform in its report has confirmed the main features of the forecasts published regarding votes for women.

By a majority of the committee it was decided that some measure of woman suffrage should be conferred. The majority also were of the opinion that if Parliament passed a measure the franchise should be given to women already entitled to vote at municipal elections, but that such women should not vote in Parliamentary elections until they attained a specified age, which the majority of the committee, it is said, thought should be between thirty and thirty-five years. The object was to keep women in the minority as voters.

On hearing of this reported decision on the part of the Electoral Reform Committee, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt made the following statement:

"Prejudice against women as voters is disappearing in instalments. All over the world men are slowly beginning to understand that women must ultimately be enfranchised. But they are still reluctant to admit that women hold equal interest in the government and should therefore hold equal rights with men. Consequently continual effort is being made to place them, on one pretext or another, in a different classification from men. In the compromise suggested by the London Committee on Electoral Reform, an arbitrary age qualification is the chosen pretext."

GERMANY AND ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Indignation is felt towards Germany because that country's government has been active upon the principle that might makes right. This is the fundamental principle of the anti-suffragists. Over and over again, in their speeches and literature, they have ridiculed the American idea that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, and have declared that all government rests upon force, and that women have no right to a vote as to the laws which they must obey, or the taxes which they are forced to pay, because women are not as well able as men to back up their claims by physical force. It is exactly the principle upon which big and strong countries—Germany and others—override the rights of small nations.

Germany and Austria have been notoriously reactionary in their attitude toward equal rights for women. Up to a few years ago, women in Austria were forbidden by law even to have a suffrage society, or to be members of any other association formed for a political purpose. Anti-suffrage organs in this country have quoted and commended the publications of the German "Men's League to Combat the Emancipation of Women;" and in State after State of our own Union, equal suffrage amendments to the constitution have been defeated largely by the German vote. The Germans have many noble qualities, but among their faults is a rooted aversion to equal rights for women. Our anti-suffragists, who are just now professing, and doubtless feeling, so much horror of German principles and actions, are lined up in closest fellowship with the Germans in their attitude towards equal suffrage.

AN ANOMALY

Attention has lately been called to the curious position of John Armstrong Chaloner, formerly the husband of Amélie Rives. He is legally insane in New York, but legally sane in Virginia and all other parts of the United States. He cannot control his property in New York, and has to be managed for him by guardians, while all the property that he owns elsewhere he can manage for himself. Mr. Chaloner must feel something like Tom Reed's daughter, Mrs. Katherine Reed Ballentine, who reminded the Maine Legislature the other day that in California for the last six years she has been a full-fledged citizen and a voter, but when she returned to her native State of Maine she finds herself relegated to "the humble class of lunatics" and other persons held incompetent to cast a ballot.

In thirteen States a woman has now the legal right to vote for President of the Republic; but by crossing an imaginary line she finds herself unable to vote even for the smallest of the officials who are to control her liberty and spend her tax-money. Such a situation is too ridiculous to last. Lincoln said that the country could not continue half slave and half free. No more can it go on forever with the women half enfranchised and half unfranchised.

THE WOMEN'S VOTE

A more careful analysis of women's work and the women's vote in the recent election, where the returns are available, will strengthen the conclusion that women will become an increasingly important factor in national elections, and with nation-wide education and organization can be entrusted with full responsibilities of both counsel and leadership.

The party that profits by the lesson of this campaign and proceeds intelligently and thoroughly to the organization and education of its women citizens, will be able to participate in its councils, by utilizing their powers in education and organization can be entrusted with full responsibilities of both counsel and leadership. The party that profits by the lesson of this campaign and proceeds intelligently and thoroughly to the organization and education of its women citizens, will be able to participate in its councils, by utilizing their powers in education and organization can be entrusted with full responsibilities of both counsel and leadership.

Hard facts were the arguments used by Senator John L. Shafert of Colorado in an able speech made for equal suffrage a few days ago in the U. S. Senate. In answer to the charge that women do not use the ballot when they have it, he said:

"The population of Colorado in 1910 was 799,024, and that of Maine was 742,371. The vote cast in 1912 for presidential electors was 266,871 in Colorado and only 129,636 in Maine."

The population of Kansas in 1910 was 1,639,949, and that of Oklahoma was 1,457,455. The total vote cast in 1912 for Governor in Kansas was 530,266, while in Oklahoma it was only 253,682.

The population of the State of Washington in 1910 was 1,141,990 and that of Connecticut 1,114,756. The total vote cast in Washington in 1914 was 345,279, while in Connecticut it was 181,108.

OPINIONS OF PROMINENT MEN

"Its growth has gone on not because women are discontented. It is because women have seen the vision of duty. And that is something which we not only can't resist, but if we be true Americans, we do not wish to resist. We have to realize in dealing with a force of this sort, that we are dealing with a question of life itself."—President Wilson.

"I believe that the time has come for a greater and truer nationalism in this country. I believe in the nationalization of the issues which affect not only men but women also. I therefore heartily endorse any federal amendment which shall substantially provide:

"(1) That the right of the citizen of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, on account of sex.

"(2) Congress shall have power, by appropriate legislation, to enforce the provisions of this article."—Theodore Roosevelt.

"I deprecate most deeply sex organization, based upon general obligations of citizenship borne by all. And so I want to say, women, if they are to have the vote, as I believe they are to come in as citizens with men."

"I believe this question should be promptly settled. I see nothing but danger to our security, to our unity, to our proper attitude toward political questions in continued agitation of this subject, and I would take the shortest cut to its solution."

"I further believe that it is a matter affecting the whole country. It is one of those matters where we must have a uniform policy. The country must decide on what that policy should be. I have indicated my belief as to what it should be; but it is a question which affects the whole country, the composition of our electorate; and therefore I believe that the Federal Amendment should be submitted and should be ratified."—Judge Hughes.

Washington, D. C.—When Speaker Champ Clark remarked to the Fifth Annual Convention of the Woman's National Democratic League, "Most of you will vote sometime," he voiced the belief of many present.

"I made up my mind that women should vote the first time I read the Constitution of the United States," he said. The speaker praised women for the part they played on Nov. 7, and asserted that the country needed all the help possible, from men and women.

Columbus, O.—Speaking before a joint session of the Ohio Legislature on the 15th William J. Bryan made a strong plea in favor of the presidential franchise for women.

"I'm in favor of woman suffrage, both State and national, and until it is secured everywhere I'm in favor of every step proposed, whether it be a long or a short one. Every foot of ground gained will be held and will help to gain more."

Mr. Bryan at noon addressed Ohio suffragists at a luncheon given in his honor.

"The mother argument is the big argument for woman suffrage," he declared in his address. "If there is one mother who wants the ballot in order to assist in protecting her child, she should have it."

"Men have an overwhelming majority in any penitentiary, while women are in the majority in the church, and if men are so immoral as to get into prison and women have sense enough to go to church, surely they ought to vote," he asserted.

United States Senator McCumber of North Dakota, who has heretofore been opposed to a Federal suffrage amendment, recently told a deputation of North Dakota suffragists that he would vote for the amendment the next time it came up if he had the opportunity to represent the State at that time.

"I have had woman suffrage in my State for more than twenty years. I entertain no doubt that its tendency is all for the good—for the advantage and benefit of the body politic generally."—Senator William E. Borah.

The presidents of New Hampshire's two colleges are out for equal suffrage. Dr. Ernest Martin Hopkins, who was inaugurated last fall as president of Dartmouth College, says: "I am perfectly willing to be quoted as one who believes in suffrage and as one who expects to see it established within the near future."

President E. T. Fairchild of the New Hampshire State College also says: "I am pleased to advise you that I believe in equal suffrage. In the hope that you may secure the legislation for limited suffrage that you are asking, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

E. T. Fairchild."

The danger from unoccupied rights is far less than the danger from the denial of rights.—William Jewett Tucker.

President Jacob Gould Schurman, of Cornell University, views the struggle for woman suffrage in the Eastern states, as "a battle already won." Dr. Schurman says:

"The women of the East will not be content to remain permanently disfranchised while their sisters in the suffrage states of the West have it in their power to elect the president and members of Congress, and so shape the policies of the Government of the United States. I do not mean that the old arguments in favor of women are being lost any of their force. I recognize their validity today and have accepted them for many years past. But the recent national election has brought out in a more striking way than ever before the practical circumstance that the Nation cannot remain permanently divided, with one-half of its women enfranchised and the other half disfranchised. The recent national election has given this circumstance a unique and impressive setting. And the cause of women suffrage has gained such a tremendous momentum that unless I am entirely incorrect in my forecast the suffrage will be granted to women in all the states of the Union in the course of the next few years."

"Education is the hope of woman suffrage. Millions think they are opposed to suffrage when, by every finer instinct of their natures, they are not. I have no quarrel with the man who says woman's sphere is in the home. Nor have you, I agree. But what of the millions of women in industry that have no homes, and what are the bounds of the modern home? What of these women, driven by necessity under conditions arising in a man-made government, into public life? It is to protect the home by protecting themselves that these workers outside the home, whether yet conscious of the fact or not, need the ballot."—David H. Poling, Superintendent of the United Christian Endeavor.

Premier Lloyd George has expressed himself as unqualifiedly in favor of votes for women, in the following words:

"I have long been a convinced advocate of woman suffrage and am now firmer than ever in supporting it. It seems to me a necessary and desirable consequence of the vast extension of the functions of government which the last century and a half has witnessed. No franchise bill can ever again be brought forward in this country without raising the whole problem of whether you are going to exclude more than half the citizens of the land. Women have entered pretty nearly every sphere of commerce and industry and professional activity and public employment, and there never was a time when the nation stood more in need of the special experience, insight and sympathy of womanhood in the management of its affairs."

BALLOTS FOR BOTH

Out of 11012 men who applied recently at a single station to enlist in the United States Marine Corps only 316 were able to pass the required examination,—only 29 out of every 1000, one out of every 35. The officer in charge tells us that the largest percentage of rejections was because of physical shortcomings. Nevertheless these men incapable of bearing arms are permitted to vote just the same.

Kansas—Election of 1912, 365,444 men voted; election of 1914, 630,206 men and women voted.

Oregon—Election of 1912, 137,040 men voted; election of 1914, 210,566 men and women voted.

California—Election of 1910, 355,713 men voted; election of 1914, 926,889 men and women voted.

Washington—Election of 1908, 176,141 men voted; election of 1914, 345,279 men and women voted.

In the last national election one person of every three of population in the United States voted. States cast a vote; in the solid South 1 in 14, in the non-woman suffrage North 1 in 5.5, in the country as a whole 1 in 5.5, and in the whole number of non-woman suffrage States 1 in 6.3.

It is announced by the National American Woman Suffrage Association that a bill for presidential suffrage will be introduced in practically every State Legislature in session this winter. The Illinois act, which grants the franchise to women in presidential and municipal elections, will be used as the model measure. In some States local conditions or the peculiarities of the State constitution may require that the franchise be slightly amended. In those commonwealths where referenda on suffrage are imminent, the presidential suffrage bill will give way to the more immediate issue.

Aside from the powerful influence exerted by women in the Western States during the November election, the exercise of suffrage by women in Illinois was one of the most conspicuous features of the last election. The hundreds of thousands of votes cast by women in Illinois obliterated suggestions that women are not personally interested in the ballot. The complete exercise of their prerogative in Illinois has, in the opinion of the suffragists, at once proved the vitality of equal suffrage and made apparent the anomaly of permitting suffrage to women in some States and denying it in others.

Speaker Clark of Missouri, a non-suffrage state, announces that when Jeanette Rankin arises in the House to speak on the welfare of the nation, he will vote as she votes. "Let us from Montana," This will quiet a widespread apprehension that Mr. Clark would follow the custom of his own State, where the attempt of a lady to speak in the house is usually recognized with the phrase: "Now what're you buttin' in for?"—Boston Record.

THE WEST AND THE EAST

Another election revelation that the eastern woman is taking in slowly is the fact that the West is the stronghold of the democracy of the East is reflected in the western woman's valuation of her eastern sister as capitalist. Western women, the women who think are democratic, they are interested in industrial and civic and social betterment. They work for it and they vote for it. They need reassurance as to the eastern woman's disposition to socialize legislation. They do not yet know her record. It will bear investigation. It can come up to the mark with women in the front rank of efforts to secure eight-hour days and minimum wage laws. When the West has investigated, there will be another revelation with the eastern woman in the attitude of revelation.

One revelation that may be noted as having already passed on to the western woman from the East is the intensity of interest and purpose that fires and sustains the eastern woman in her struggle for enfranchisement. The West has never known anything like it, and never will except through sympathetic on-lookers. The West is too open-minded, too plastic, and too broad of vision ever to have imposed upon her women the fearful time-consuming, energy-devouring struggle that is today at fever heat in the tradition-encrusted East. Western men gave women the vote; eastern men are making women fight for it.

The election did a great deal in bringing forward eastern women and eastern conditions for western inspection, and vice versa. There is more promise in this than in similar revelations where men only are concerned, because women fix their eyes more steadfastly on human considerations and relation than men do. The need of uniform political recognition for women without regard to sectional boundaries, is too impressively human, whether viewed from the West looking East, or the East looking West, to allow the final revelation to be anything short of men and women standing together. East and West, sex distinctions and sectional distinctions alike obliterated by a new sense of a new nationalism.

AN AMENDMENT

Senator Poindexter, of Washington, has introduced in the Senate an amendment which provides for striking the word "male" from the second section of the Fourteenth Amendment. Its effect would be to base representation in the House of Representatives and in the electoral college on the voting strength of the respective states.

Taking the vote cast in the suffrage states as a proper basis for representation, because only in these states are the American citizens granted full right to representation irrespective of sex, the present House of 435 members would be cut to a membership of 247.

This principle is already recognized not only by the Constitution of the United States in the 14th Amendment but also by the Republican Party in its readjustment of the apportionment of delegates to its national convention.

By this plan New England and the Northern States which deny suffrage to women would be hit as hard as the South. The representation of Massachusetts would be reduced from 16 to 7, and that of New York from 43 to 22, while the equal suffrage states would be the only ones to retain their present strength.

WOMAN AS THE HOME MAKER

Miss Mary E. Woolley, President of Mt. Holyoke College, says concerning the work of the present day woman: "I am inclined to believe that in no place is the thinking woman more needed than in the home. But the thoughtful woman of today and tomorrow must be not only a homemaker for herself; she must be also a leader in home-making for others. And this is not so simple as it sounds. It means helping to think out a way in which our cities shall be cities of homes, for the humble as well as for the prosperous and privileged. Home-making in this sense has many ramifications, movements for good housing, pure foods, inspection of markets and dairies, physically clean streets and morally clean amusements, playgrounds and vacation schools, reasonable hours and a living wage—for the professional man and woman as well as for the day laborer. It is a herculean task, this task of 20th century home-making and in the solution of this intricate problem, trained minds must take the leadership. It has a social and political aspect as well as a domestic. And this great field of woman endeavor is not the exclusive responsibility of either men or women—it belongs to both, one of the unanswerable arguments for equal suffrage."

MUNICIPAL SUFFRAGE

Bills to be introduced this winter in many State Legislatures would grant women the right to vote in municipal as well as presidential elections. While the conspicuous part played by women in the last presidential election has tended to center interest on the effort to extend presidential suffrage to other States, the proposal to grant them municipal suffrage is a matter of first-rate importance, in the estimation of the National American Woman Suffrage Association.

The delay in this country in granting women the right to vote in municipal elections in all States is perhaps a greater reflection upon the real democracy of American institutions than the delay in granting equal suffrage in other elections. Women possess, and have had since the republic was born, the right to vote in municipal elections in Great Britain, in the British colonies, including some of those in Asia and South America, in all the Scandinavian countries and in Honduras. Women were sitting in the city councils of Copenhagen, Christiania, Stockholm and Reykjavik, the capital of Iceland, before American women had achieved this degree of suffrage. Finland gained equal suffrage at one stroke, and when Russia later diminished the power of the Finnish parliament, no greater diminution of powers was imposed upon the women than upon the men. In some of the British colonies where woman suffrage is restricted by a property qualification, the qualification is the same for women as for men. "With women taking part in city government in Asia, Africa, Europe and Australia, it is about time for the United States to catch up with the procession," said Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association. "It is significant of a wrong viewpoint that the women of this republic should be refused the right of suffrage which has been granted women in countries where fewer professions of liberty are made."

Before the tremendous vote cast in the last election in Illinois proved beyond doubt the eagerness of women to exercise this suffrage, there were unquestioned indications of their desire to vote. One of the Chicago newspapers, prior to the first registration day when women registered, offered to inform by telephone each woman who wished to know at what polling place she should register. The inquiries swamped the paper. It was estimated that 150,000 questions were answered in three days. The women's registration approximated 235,000. Not unfamiliar with election machinery proved their ability to inform themselves about it in a very short time.

BIG DRIVE FOR PRESIDENTIAL SUFFRAGE

The North Dakota victory makes women accredited voters in thirteen states in the Union. But let them cross an imaginary line into one of the other thirty-six and lo! some subtle sea-change is wrought whereby they lose their political significance. From being free American citizens, with their own voice in the government of state and nation, they become wards of the commonwealth and the country. Western women are growing yearly more sensitive to this anomalous situation whereby they lose their political identity by stepping across a line that does not exist, and they are noting with keen interest the schedule of bills for presidential suffrage to be presented in non-suffrage states this year, under the direction of the National American Woman Suffrage Assn. It is practically assured that there will be such a bill introduced in every state legislature that convenes in 1917.

The Illinois act, which grants the franchise to women in presidential and municipal elections, will be used as the model measure. In some States local conditions or the peculiarities of the state constitution may require that the model act be slightly amended.

AUCTION BRIDGE

In aid of the West Newton Music School, Mrs. Charles Whittemore of Newton, was the hostess on Monday afternoon at quite the most charming and brilliant Auction party of the season.

A large company of society ladies from the Newtons assembled at half-past two, at her attractive home on Summit street, which is so admirably suited to such entertaining. Quantities of pink and white tulips, jonquils, narcissus and sweet peas, added to the beauty of the rooms which were opened in suite for the occasion.

The reception room was decorated in pink, the color motive being carried out with sweet peas. Mrs. Whittemore was assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. E. B. Whittemore of South Natick and Mrs. Clinton B. Willey of Newtonville.

Eighteen tables for auction were arranged in the drawing-room, dining-room and reception room, and souvenirs were presented to those holding the highest scores.

Pink and white tulips were arranged in effective decoration about the rooms, while potted plants, adding a note of beauty, were also used.

Yellow and white was selected for the decorative motive in the library and living-room where a refreshment course was served. Centering the table was a large basket of jonquils in combination with white narcissus.

At the conclusion of the game a musical program of great merit was presented by some of the members of the Music School. It included a violin selection, "Deep River," which was finely rendered by Miss Irene Forte, who received the Eliza W. Luke scholarship, and is now a member of the teaching corps and the McDowell Club Orchestra; piano solos, "Elfin-tanz" and "Fingerchise," and Weber's Last Waltz, by Gwendolyn O'Neill, now receiving the Mrs. O. C. Hubbard scholarship; beautifully rendered songs by Miss Eva Porter, Alvah Wheeler and Arthur Carter, with piano accompaniments by Mrs. John Glover of Newton Highlands.

The work of the pupils gave evidence of excellent training and the singers were trained under the direction of Miss Edith Blake, who has charge of the vocal department of the Music School.

The delightful affair was under the direction of Mrs. David E. Baker of Newtonville and Mrs. Harry N. Milliken of Newton.

LODGES

Last Monday evening in Dennison Hall, Newtonville, before a well attended meeting of Mt. Ida Council, Royal Arcanum, a paper on Russia—its Past, Present and Future, was read by Dr. Michael Chirug of Newton Centre. The speaker treated his subject in a very interesting and instructive manner, and many points of historical and political interest were brought to the attention of the members.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

With the arrival of March the clubs begin to look forward not only to the close of the season's activities, but also to the planning for those of the coming year. Nominating committees are being appointed and are getting at their work. The appointment of these committees is, perhaps, a much more important matter than many may suppose for upon their results depends the future of the clubs. A hurried or thoughtless performance may bring consequences little foreseen and even the most carefully laid plans "do often gang agley." Every such committee should have among its number at least one person who has served upon the board or, what is even better, been an officer, who knows just what is required for the office to be filled. Sometimes the retaining of a member of the previous year's committee insures continuity of effort and proves helpful by bringing to the committee knowledge of what has been considered in the past or where it has proved useless, to ask advice.

One thing, however, should be borne in mind and that is, that what may obtain at one time to prevent a person from accepting office may not at all under other conditions and so a request once turned down may to the surprise of all be accepted very readily at some other time. This is particularly true in the case of the president, so let no committee be dismayed at what may seem at first a fruitless search, for in some person there often lurks "presidential timber" hitherto unsuspected. Every serious minded club woman should face the fact that at some time or other she may be drafted in that capacity and should be ready to take her turn, if she can see her way clear to do so. At least three questions should she meet in deciding the question. If she can answer them affirmatively, then she may accept the position trusting to the support of her board to assist her in the duties of her office. And what are these questions which she must meet? Has she the physical strength which will allow of severe strain on occasion? Has she sufficient time at her disposal to enable her to meet appointments at any time she may be required? Has she the knowledge of and love for the organization which will make her ready to give up her other interests and devote herself almost exclusively to that one? These are the things which she must meet herself. Let the nominating committee meet the others,—that of ability, of adaptability, of social position, of whether their president shall be the one with means or the one with brains, if the candidate is not so fortunate as to possess both, and many others. Has she the strength, the time and the real love for her organization, then she can learn the rest and she need not hesitate in making her decision.

Local Announcements

Tomorrow afternoon the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will meet with Mrs. E. J. Smith, 19 Hyde street.

Dr. Wentworth will be hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. on Monday afternoon.

On Monday, March 5, the Christian Era Study Club will meet with Mrs. R. O. Walter, 10 Fern street, Auburndale.

The Newton Mothers' Club will hold an open meeting on March 5th at the home of Mrs. Frederick E. Jones, 128 Chestnut street, West Newton. Mrs. Hoyt, and Mrs. Patrick, being hostesses with Mrs. Jones, when Miss Heleise E. Hersey will speak on "The Modern Novel and its Relation to the Modern Woman."

Miss Frances Nevin will give a dramatic reading of "Disraeli" before the Brighthelmstone Club on March 5.

Next Tuesday morning the Auburndale Review Club will meet with Mrs. F. F. Davidson of Woodland road.

On Tuesday afternoon the annual dramatics of the Newtonville Woman's Guild will take place. The program includes a one-act play, music, dancing and charades.

The regular business meeting of the Social Science Club occurs on Wednesday morning. At eleven o'clock Mr. McDonald, supervisor of nature work in the schools, will speak of what he is doing.

Miss Ida M. Cannon is announced to speak before the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday, March 8, at 10 A. M. on "Social Service Work at the Massachusetts General Hospital."

The Education committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club announces a public meeting in the interest of forming in Auburndale a branch of the well-known Parent-Teacher Association. Mrs. Walter Leroy Smith, organizer and organizer of the movement, will speak. Dr. Franklin B. Dyer, superintendent of the Boston schools, heartily endorses this movement, as meeting a new need created by our changing social conditions. The meeting will be held on Monday evening, March 12th, at 8 o'clock, in Burr School Hall. Not only teachers and mothers are invited, but all parents, the attendance of fathers being especially desired. Come and make the acquaintance of your child's teacher, and of your child's school. Save the evening of March 12th for this meeting.

The Classes Committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club announces a second series of lessons in First Aid to begin in the near future. The class will meet once a week on the morning chosen by the members. First Aid knowledge may be especially needed in the near future. There is also a vacancy or two in the swimming classes.

Local Happenings

On Monday of this week Mrs. Darius Cobb was hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. and Miss Cora Stanwood Cobb gave a talk upon the Great Philanthropies of the country. She traced the change from the almsgiving of early times, and the giving of charity for immediate relief to the giving of the immense sums which have created the Carnegie, Rockefeller and Sage Foundations. Miss Cobb dwelt particularly upon the Carnegie Institution in Washington and its branches in various parts of the country. This and the Rockefeller Foundation are chiefly devoted to research work, while the Sage Foundation is classed as pure philanthropy. In that it seeks to remedy causes rather than relieve surface conditions. The work in the Child Hygiene department of the Sage Foundation of Leonard Ayres, a Newton Highlands boy of former times, was referred to. $175,000,000 was the gift of Mr. Carnegie. $145,000,000 that of Rockefeller and $10,000,000 that of Mrs. Sage to create these Foundations.

At the meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Everett Varney spoke of the flowers we welcome into our houses, and the treatment we should accord these beautiful visitors. Studying sympathetically the type of the flower, and arranging it in a suitable vase against a harmonious background, one can paint a picture quite as truly as with oils and canvas. The Japanese are willing to spend several hours making one flower arrangement, and find in the art a mode of true expression. The lecture was illustrated by the flowers themselves, and interpreted by Miss Frances Varney, who presented first as the fairy spirit of the garden, then as a flower unfolding in the garden. The dance of the "Joy of Life" and the "Rose Dance" gave further eloquent expression to the message the flowers bring to one who loves them. Miss Varney was accompanied by Mrs. Sampson at the piano. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

On Tuesday afternoon the Newton Highlands Woman's Club met in Lincoln Hall, with Mrs. Arthur Williams, vice-president, in the chair. The program was in charge of the Home Economics committee, Mrs. H. B. Walker, chairman. Mrs. Treen, supervisor of school luncheons in the City of Boston, spoke upon "Food Values," "Economic Efficiency," explained and discussed a family budget, and Miss Lewis spoke on "Interior Decoration." These talks created considerable discussion, which did not close with the adjournment of the meeting.

The Fortnightly Club of Newton Centre heard a most interesting lecture on India given by Professor Albert E. Bailey, director of Religious Education at Worcester Academy, at the home of Mrs. Cyrus T. Chapin.

A land of wonderful contrasts, from the ancient to very modern type of living, three hundred millions of people, governed practically by twelve hundred Englishmen.

He predicts that England's appreciation for loyalty and service in the present war insures a substantial gain for India. Refreshments were served.

NEWTON FEDERATION

Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, opened the mid-winter meeting which was held in Temple Hall, Newtonville, on Wednesday afternoon, with cordial greeting to all the clubs and a strong call for patriotism.

Mrs. Palmer then introduced Mrs. Alice Higgins Lottrop, who spoke on "The Significance of Social Legislation." She closed her address with remarks about the needs right here in Newton and a call to each and every one to go out into the arena of life and do their part as citizens.

Groups of songs and violin solos by Bessie Talbot Salmon, soprano, and Elizabeth Stanley Hastings, violin, accompanied by J. Angus Winter, were greatly enjoyed.

A one-act comedy, by Mrs. C. Antoinette Wood, entitled "The Women's Village Improvement Club" was given by the following representatives from the various clubs of the Federation, and the parts were most ably acted.

The president of the club was Miss Grace M. Burt and her officers and club members were Mrs. C. D. Pickard, Mrs. J. A. Furber, Mrs. H. S. Wells, Mrs. B. D. Childs, Mrs. W. M. Mick, Mrs. E. C. Sands, Mrs. W. A. Stiles, Mrs. A. L. Wakefield, Mrs. A. W. Fuller, Mrs. S. A. Thompson, Mrs. J. C. Flagg, Mrs. H. V. Jones, Miss Louise Sherman.

The play was produced under the direction of Mrs. M. E. Merron. It is a bright, clever piece and calls for original work from those who take part. The current events by Mrs. H. V. Jones being especially good, and full of local color. The greeting from the Cuyahoga Falls Woman's Club leading up to the song by the "Singer from the city," Mrs. A. L. Wakefield, brought down the house. The costumes were varied and fetching.

The author herself was present and received many congratulations for her work.

MID-WINTER PARTY

A unique social event of the week in Newtonville, was the annual mid-winter party and 47th Reunion of the Every Saturday Club which was held Monday evening at the Newton Club, in the form of a progressive dinner.

Covers were laid at ten small tables for the sixty members and guests who participated in the usual round of with humor and good cheer that has made these parties renowned.

The table decorations were yellow daisies and orange calendulas which gave brilliant bits of color about the rooms and brought out the beauty of the ladies' gowns.

An informal reception before the dinner brought old and new members together. As the strains of the piano played after each course, the gentlemen changed to another table until the 5 courses were served.

After the tables were cleared the entertainment took the form of a Club Convention. Delegates from each street district like "Walnuts," "Newtonvillians," "Craftites" and many others were called in order by the clerk, Mr. Samuel Thurber.

The Club's original "Constitution," "By-Laws" and famous "Iron clad" were burlesqued in such a witty manner as only Every Saturday Club members could do.

Rev. William E. Strong acted as chairman. The Articles of Amendment were hotly debated and voted upon after the opening address by the regular president, Mr. Wallace C. Boyden to members of the Convention and delegates at large.

One delightful feature of the entertainment was the singing by all of the four familiar songs, "Way Down Upon the Swane River," "Auld Lang Syne," "My Old Kentucky Home," and the closing song, "The Star Spangled Banner." It was an interesting coincidence that this 47th reunion was held on the same historic spot (not mansion) as the original charter members came together for their first year's meeting place when the Club met every Saturday night. Hence its name.

TWENTY-SEVENTH ANNIVERSARY

Boylston Lodge of Odd Ladies' celebrated its 27th Anniversary on Tuesday afternoon and evening in Odd Fellows hall, Newtonville.

The regular meeting was held in the evening and during the intermission a very pleasing entertainment was given, a notable feature of which was the fancy dancing by little Margaret Foster of Auburndale. She was both charming and graceful, and looked like a little fairy as she danced the Nacaras and other flower dances, and her dancing was greatly enjoyed. A bountiful supper was served, after which many of those present enjoyed whist. This pleasant occasion closed with an informal dance. It was given by a committee of ladies under the chairmanship of Mrs. Henry Buck and Mrs. Nellie M. Cook and much credit is due these ladies for the success of the affair.

NEWTON SOUTH AMBULANCE

In spite of the rain on Saturday morning, February 24th, several of the boys of Newton Highlands, in charge of Seward Luitwiler, appeared at the Railroad Station and in the square at 7 o'clock; each boy carried a money box and a large placard which announced that he was ready to receive donations for the Newton South Ambulance now on duty in France.

Among the boys were Frederick McGill, Robert Williams, Ralph Brennan, Whitney Osgood, Maurice Williams, Tod Wallace and Allen Brennan. They planned to make every day during the day and a police permit had been obtained, but as it was necessary to have a railroad permit they were obliged to give it up, but in two hours had collected eighteen dollars.

The soliciting, which was postponed in Newton Centre, Chestnut Hill, Waban, Eliot and Upper Falls, will take place on Saturday, March 3rd.

HIGH SCHOOL CONCERT

A concert of much interest to persons hopeful as to the musical progress of our young people will be given in the Assembly Hall of the Technical High School, Friday, March 9th, at 8 o'clock.

The program will consist of a cantata, "Indian Summer," and solo and chorus selections by the Vocational School Glee Clubs, assisted by an orchestra, singers and Miss Irene Forte, violinist, from the West Newton Music School.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

The Newton South Community Forum has arranged for an extra meeting to be held at Bray Hall, Newton Centre, on Sunday, March 4th, at 3.45 P. M. Attention is called to the change from the usual hour.

The subject is particularly timely, being "The Constitutional Convention, Its Purposes and Possibilities." The committee are most fortunate in having secured as speakers, Hon. Robert Luce, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, and Professor William M. Munro, Professor of Government at Harvard.

Vital issues are at stake in this question. There is a vast difference between making experimental legislation and experimenting with the fundamental things in our government that protect the weak from the strong; the right minority from the hasty majority.

A new Constitution is probably desirable, but do you appreciate the dangers of entrusting it to self-chosen delegates?

Come out and hear from two of the ablest speakers in Massachusetts the whole story. Everybody is welcome, and the admission is free.

WEST NEWTON MUSIC SCHOOL

A chain of three bridge parties has been given for the benefit of the West Newton Music School, in Auburndale, on February 5th, in West Newton on February 19th, and a combined party for Newtonville and Newton on February 26th.

The party in Auburndale was held at the home of Mrs. Howard P. Converse, and in spite of the severe snowstorm was a very enjoyable affair. Miss Ruth Crandell, a teacher at the Music School, had charge of the arrangements and the selling of tickets, and very lovely prizes for each table were donated by a kind friend of the School. Fifty dollars was raised for the work of the Music School.

In West Newton Mrs. William E. Barrett of Temple street opened her spacious home in the interest of the School and provided a generous entertainment for the guests, when the game was over. Another kind friend donated very attractive 1830 bouquets for prizes at each table, so that the total expense of the party did not exceed two dollars. There were twenty-four tables playing and the sum of $130 was realized. Miss Pauline Howard, assisted by Miss Florence Barrett and Miss Marion Childsey had charge of the arrangements.

An account of the third whist held at the home of Mrs. Charles Whittemore will be found in another column.

MID-WINTER CONFERENCE

The mid-winter conference of the Lend-a-Hand Clubs of Greater Boston was held Saturday in the First Unitarian Church, West Newton. About 200 were present. The morning was devoted to the reading of club reports followed at noon by a luncheon.

In the afternoon the new medicine case presented by the club to Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, who is engaged in missionary work among the fishermen of Labrador, was on exhibition. This case will take the place of the one given to Dr. Grenfell nine years ago, and contained 60 bottles and was thoroughly equipped. Addresses were delivered by Mrs. Thomas Allen on the work being done at the Miss Lydia Holman's Infirmary at Aitapass, N. C. and Mrs. Frank W. Garvin of New York, chairman of the comfort packet committee, spoke on the work of that body.

The gathering later assembled in Players' Hall, where the dramatic club presented "The Neighbors." The cast included Mrs. S. D. Hall of Brookline, Miss Ethel Howland of West Newton, Miss Priscilla Ordway of Newton Centre, Mrs. Warren Kyle, Miss Eleanor Widger and Miss Margaret Taylor of Newton Centre and Miss Fanny Hayden and Miss Catherine Green, both of Boston. The sketch was presented under the direction of Mrs. Derby Brown of Newtonville.

POLITICAL NOTES

Friends of Mr. Charles A. Andrews of Waban, have persuaded him to allow his name to be used as a candidate for delegate from this city to the Constitutional Convention. Mr. Andrews is one of the best informed men in the state on matters of taxation and would be a most valuable man at the convention.

Friends of Alderman Guy M. Winslow of Auburndale, have been circulating papers this week in his interest as a candidate for delegate from this city to the constitutional convention.

DEATH OF ROBERT MILLER

Mr. Robert Miller, a respected resident of Newtonville, died Monday, Feb. 26th, after a long illness. He is survived by one brother, Mr. John Miller, and a sister Miss Mary Miller.

The funeral took place Thursday morning from his late residence on Linwood avenue. A solemn high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Fr. Kelley at 10 o'clock in the Church of Our Lady.

The burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

APPROVES SERMON

22 Bellevue St., Feb. 26, 1917.
Editor Newton Graphic:—

Sir,
I wish to acknowledge the service you have rendered the public in your issue of Feb. 23. The sermon of Rev. A. J. Muste will make this paper a notable one, and he is quite mistaken in his apprehension that it will call forth protests only. No. An exceedingly great multitude whom no man can number will welcome it as the right word spoken at the right moment. I firmly believe that there is no necessity, even in the present crisis for the United States to declare war or make war. Now is the time for Geo. Washington's policy. Nothing can happen more than in his administration. If one mad dog attacks me, I will hold him if I can and kill him if I must, but that is not declaring war on all the dogs.

My brother Muste has given us an adequate and impressive statement of Christian Pacifism.

Yours,
WOLCOTT CALKINS.

TREMONT THEATRE — "Miss Springtime" continues its wonderful success at the Tremont Theatre. It is years since Boston has had such an unequivocal musical comedy hit, as Klaw & Erlanger's alluring blend of melody and mirth, romanticism and sumptuous adornment. It has outlasted every other attraction musical or dramatic, that the New Year brought to Boston. The enthusiasm that it creates is undiminished. This joyous entertainment is peculiarly appealing to the thousands of out of town visitors to the Auto Show, for it has distinctive class and charm. "Miss Springtime" is a swift little speedster, laden with youth, beauty, grace and talent. Its windshield of whimsical humor wards off the damp chill of morbidity. The spark of its unforgiving vivacity never misses. It runs on high gear from curtain to curtain. The siren of its witching melodies sounds no discordant note. Its high explosive fun making quickens the pulse; its romantic love story exerts a tender heart appeal.

Have been built and actually delivered to retail buyers since August 1, 1916. These figures—320,817—represent the actual number of cars manufactured by us since August 1st, 1916, and delivered by our agents to retail buyers.

This unusual fall and winter demand for Ford cars makes it necessary for us to confine the distribution of cars only to those agents who have orders for immediate delivery to retail customers, rather than to permit any agent to stock cars in anticipation of later spring sales.

We are issuing this notice to intending buyers that they may protect themselves against delay or disappointment in securing Ford cars. If, therefore, you are planning to purchase a Ford car, we advise you to place your order and take delivery now.

PARENT-TEACHER CONFERENCE

schools. At the present time we have two schools in the Technical High School, a Technical and Commercial and a Shop and Household Arts Work. The Vocational School is to fit boys for a vocation. Trades have practically disappeared. War has eliminated the mechanical and slow methods of production. The boys will find themselves in blind alleys and they must be trained so that they can compete with the brains in Europe. Five years ago very little thought was given in the selection of men; now they are employing experts. Five hundred million a year it is costing the United States for training unskilled workers. If we have made any progress in the training of boys and girls we will make more in the next ten years. Mr. Murray referred to the Smith-Hughes many times. He considers the sympathetic encouragement, guidance and suggestion of the parents, as invaluable to the teachers. "You may see many things that we do not see," he said. A kindly suggestion to teachers is always appreciated. When parents and teachers are working together enthusiastically, everything runs along smoothly and successfully. Frequent visits of parents to the school will prevent misunderstandings, and are desired by the teachers. Often misunderstandings arise from a child's wrong interpretation of what he hears in school and this has been demonstrated thru a visit from a parent. Teachers can suggest much that will aid parents, for they see things from a different angle. There is nothing more beneficial for the pupils, than to have their parents frequently visit the schools. Teachers crave co-operation, and "now is the appointed time." Mr. Paul is in favor of the parents visiting the classes and establishing a spirit of co-operation that will make the Newton Centre district ideal. He would like to have cooking and sewing added to the lessons at the school.

Mr. Paul expressed his great obligation to the Educational Committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club for the great help they have rendered the Mason School during the past few years. The co-operation of parents encourages the teachers to do more work and more for the pupils, and he wants them to create in the minds of the pupils, the right attitude toward school, and school work.

In regard to the studies, he spoke of the change in penmanship to slant writing. A spelling investigation of Bill, which means National Aid of $250,000 a year. Every year 10 per cent of the pupils entering are admitted to the Academic work and shop work. We need an intermediate school to take care of these boys. Perhaps they could be taken care of in a Junior High School. Mr. Murray then touched on the High School work and the evening and extensive courses. Cooking, sewing, millinery, nursing, lunch-counter work, designing, etc., for girls and the half day courses in cooking and sewing for married women.

He spoke particularly of the men and boys work in the Trade School, and the various lines which they are perfecting themselves in, as engineers, draftsmen, salesmen, electric power work, printing, etc., and invited the people to serve and visit the school and see the work.

On March 13th in the Technical High School hall there will be a demonstration in marketing by Mr. Day, to which the public is invited.

Dr. West, in introducing the third speaker, said he had great regard for the Master of the Mason School, and was pleased that it was his privilege to present the "Village School Master," Mr. Samuel B. Paul, principal of the Mason School.

Mr. Paul said that he was delighted to have an opportunity to meet the parents and teachers and hoped that this meeting would be the means of making it possible for them to meet more than 15 million words show that 1000 words constitute 90 per cent of all our written words. Pupils in the Mason School learn nearly all of the common words correctly. In arithmetic he has been trying to make the work more practicable and they have every facility for good teaching in Geography, History, Literature, etc. In abolishing the A, B and C classes the result of the change has been marked. He finds that they are ahead by abolishing it. Some tests have shown an improvement of from 10 to 30 per cent. Individuals have failed, but not the class as a whole.

The better co-operation of a larger number of parents, has helped the discipline of the school. Lack of Academic ability does not always mean lack of mentality in a pupil and it should be the aim to find out what the pupil is best fit for. Loss of interest and ambition of a pupil means trouble to teachers and parents and to such pupils, who become "floaters," entering the "blind alleys" of trade or a line of work.

Not until teachers and parents recognize that all boys and girls do not possess the same kind of talents will our country be free from this situation. It has been said that the trouble with our American education is that there are too many women school teachers, and Mr. Paul said he might add "the lack of visiting fathers." He would have them establish a bond of sympathy between parents and teachers, which would be a great aid in the success of school work.

Mr. Paul spoke in regard to fitting up the playground house in such a way that the school children can use it during school hours, and outside of school hours.

At the close, the chairman arose and said "There is no point to a discussion unless somebody talks back," and invited any who wished, to ask questions.

The first question propounded was "Is there any prospect of a Junior High School?" Mr. Wheeler answered, saying that it depended upon the people of Newton, and it could be done. It would afford many opportunities if it was established. It would afford an opportunity for pupils to get more physical training, for they would be able to devote more time to it. We need more physical training and we need it in all of the schools. Only 20 per cent of the young men applying for positions have been accepted on account of physical training. Children in the schools are acquiring bad physical habits. There are 2,000 adjustable seats needed in the Newton Schools. The desks are also bad. We need these improvements but with all the other needs we can not get them this year. We ought to do something more for the teachers, to increase their salaries. We need special appropriation for school furniture. We have a good school system, though it is not perfect, but it costs money to maintain a good school system.

Mr. Wheeler said he would like to be able to answer the question of the proposed Junior High School more definitely but it rests on whether the people of Newton would meet the required conditions.

Another question asked was "What Has Become of the Ninth Grade?" Was it so Absolutely Useless that We Threw it Away? Mr. Wheeler said that the ninth grade was made up of review work and the introduction of Junior High School work, but the studies did not take the place of the year's required work in the High School. Mr. Paul had shown that the Mason School got along just as well without a ninth grade. A discussion of the various questions by citizens and teachers followed which was both interesting and in some cases amusing, and the meeting was one of the most successful of the kind ever held in Newton.

beliefs? Will it not do brave, powerful, steady, skillful, efficient things under the direction of confident, intelligent guidance, and trembling, inefficient, feeble, and unsteady, and impulsion of fear? All have experienced this. Is it not a common saying that one is paralyzed with fear? Do not people die of fear? Does any part of the body not reach by thought to do anything or feel any way? If it does, how do you know it without thought?

The schools are beginning to recognize, and in some degree to acknowledge, that in Christian Science a light has come into the world, but they are not able to see that it is all light, and that in it is no darkness at all. Theology is beginning to teach an incorporeal God, but not one who is the Spirit that is all Love, and Love to behold iniquity, evil of any kind, to cause it or to permit it. The healing arts are beginning to teach that mind is at least in part cause, but without recognizing that Mind is God, good, so never the cause of disease and death, but always the cause of restoration, of health, and of life. They call that mind which is but false education, illusion, suggestion, the ultimate cause of sin, sickness, death. But the human beliefs that still obscure cannot forever hide the true light which shines, and shines upon a perfect day when all shall be illumined by it, and there shall be no darkness, ignorance, illusion, suggestion, disease, fear, and so no sin, no disease, no death.

God's Thoughts

"And the angel of his [God's] presence saved them," we read in Isaiah. We are also told that after Jesus had withstood being tempted by the devil, and all should now be able to see that the devil was just what Jesus called him,—"a murderer," that which is destructive, and "a liar," that in which there is no truth.—"And he came and ministered unto him."—What does this mean? Does it mean that corporeal beings with wings healed the people spoken of in the Bible, and ministered unto Jesus?

In the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mrs. Eddy, on page 581, we read: "Angels, God's angels, passing to man; spiritual intuitions, pure and perfect; the inspiration of goodness, purity, and immortality, counteracting all evil, sensuality, and mortality."

Cannot all see how such angels could and did indeed heal the children? Have they not been helped to do so? Where did they come from? From your brain, or from anyone's brain? They came from Mind, the only true Mind, God, to inspire, to enlighten you, to bear you up, and to set you on high. Have we all been inspired then? Of course we have. Have we always heeded these inspirations? That is the question. It is not uncommon to hear that someone is inspired by malice or hate. Everyone is ready to credit this, but let some one be said to be inspired by God, who is infinite power, intelligence, Life, Truth and Love, and destruction and reviling are sure to be his lot. It is not every one who hears "Love Life." If not, how then does anyone live? Are not all inspired by Mind, Truth, Love? If not, how do you express intelligence, how is it that you are truthful, kind, loving? Does this surprise you? Then let me say that you were inspired before you ever breathed or saw the light of day, and that inspiration is the one essential of existence.

Everyone is most particular as to the air he breathes. No one without absolute necessity would for a moment breathe foul air. Everyone is most particular as to the food he eats, what he wears, and so forth. How much more particular should all be as to what they are inspired by; for whether the thought that comes to us be good or bad, it is one that comes to us, not one that originates with us, and sooner or later we are bound to express it. Is it pure, beautiful, good, true, the thought of health, of life, of immortality, of courage, of love for all? If so, it comes from the one true source. Bid it welcome; let it abide with you, entertain it, make it your honored and your welcome guest. It comes from God, and is the word of God, an angel visitant, sent as of old to heal, to minister, to save. Is that which clamors for admission a base, sinister, degraded thought, a thought of want, discouragement, hate, fear, anger, sickness, death? Then bar it out, for it will express itself, bear fruit after its kind. How bar it, say you? By recalling and recalling the thoughts, the angels of God and of His Christ, the truths taught in the Bible, by the unanalyzed, illumined, and made practical by Christian Science, until these shall be an angel legion round about you to guide you, guard you, and have charge over you.

How often do we hear the question, "How can I help what I think?" and the assertion, "No one can help what I think." We not only can help what we think, but in order to do better, feel better, be better, we must help what we think, for as a man "thinketh in his heart, so is he;" and the way that has been indicated, the way that Christian Science teaches, is the only way in which this help can come; the only way under heaven in which men can be saved here, now, anywhere, everywhere, from ills of any kind and of every kind. It is the only way in which one and all, irrespective of time, place, vocation, circumstances, can be truly armed and prepared, have absolute safety and complete efficiency.

Peace But Not at Any Price

The one thing desired by all is contentment, peace. Does this mean that Christian Scientists are non-resistants, that they must suffer wrong of any and of every kind?

Not at all. Christian Scientists are unequivocal, uncompromising resistants. Christian Science teaches them that wrong of any kind must not be submitted to, but overcome. It does more than this, it teaches how it must be overcome. This teaching is again the teaching of the Master: "Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good," and it should be remembered that he taught there is only one good, God. Are we then to have peace at any price? No. We are to have peace at only one price, the price of righteousness, the price of thinking what is right, saying what is right, doing what is right ourselves. Again there is no other way under heaven in which we can have peace, or have a right to have it. Let individual destroy individual, let nation destroy nation, let destruction and desolation have their uttermost results, until there is but one individual left, and that individual will have, can have no peace in any other way. Peace does not come with or as a result of turmoil, destruction, death; it is an attribute of God, of Life, Truth, and Love, and "Great peace have they which love thy law [the law of Love]; and nothing shall offend them," sang the psalmist. Every wrong, whether in ourselves or others, must be corrected, must be overcome. Love tolerates no wrong. But every wrong in the individual, family, community, industrial, social, national and international economy, life or existence, must be corrected, overcome in the right way. To overcome in the wrong way is to cry "Peace, peace," when there is no peace, where there is no peace, but a new incitement to strife, war, Christian Scientists believe in peace, individual, universal peace. They believe in it at one price only, however, the price of obedience to law, the law of God, the love of every man.

A Word About the Discoverer and Founder

What has been said will but dimly indicate the teachings of the ideal, yet most practical and scientific system of ethics and healing discovered in the words and works of our Master by Mrs. Eddy. Through her faithful loving, Christlike leadership Mrs. Eddy founded this system, Christian Science, and advanced it to its present world-wide acceptance. Brining what she did to the world,—"the pearl of great price," the applicable, demonstrable Christianity of Christ Jesus, which has proved itself such by comforting, reforming, and healing the vast majority of those who have honestly, earnestly studied her books, she has enriched the world beyond all reckoning. Hundreds of thousands of her beneficiaries rejoice in bearing grateful witness to their appreciation of her divine service to them and to all mankind.

As one who had the privilege of visiting her home, let me say that all about Mrs. Eddy was the very simplest. In her the world indeed had a true example of simple living and high thinking. Those who were with her bear loving witness to the fact that she watched, worked, prayed without ceasing, and that she did this for a purpose, that this untiring consecration has borne fruit—more useful and loving lives—is attested on every hand. The modest fortune that came to Mrs. Eddy through the publication and sale of her written works is by her direction, like her life, being devoted to the promulgation of her high teaching; to the establishment of "on earth peace, good will toward men;" to the establishment of the kingdom of God on earth, in which there can be no sorrow, no pain, no death.

Mrs. Eddy was at times reviled, but she reviled not again. So unimpaired of the world was she and so mindful of God that His thoughts, messages that came and do come with healing and with blessings in their wings, were always her thoughts. Her one prayer was to be God's faithful messenger. The answer to this prayer was certainly vouchsafed to her. Mary Baker Eddy founded a world-wide religion, a religion that is Science, a Science that is Christian and that both heals and saves. In doing this she has risen to her rightful place in divine Love—Love that is reflected by the constantly increasing esteem of the world, and the grateful appreciation of hundreds of thousands of her beneficiaries.

SHUBERT THEATRE—"Flora Bella," which comes to the Shubert Theatre, Boston, next week, beginning tomorrow night, March 5, with matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays, is one of those musical offerings that delight the eye with fair women and brave men that sing and dance their way through with fine spirit and grace against the richly colorful settings of the Urban school, that delight the ear with tuneful, hitting melodies and that pays that high compliment to the intelligence of audiences by furnishing an interesting plot—such as "Flora Bella," with Lina Abrahams in the lead role. The piece stands out from the dozens of musical comedies that come and go because it is satisfying from whatever angle you may choose to look at it. There are seventeen numbers, which include the dreamy waltz, the stirring march and concerted numbers of real merit.

This advertisement is one of a series designed to effect closer co-operation between the company and its subscribers. There are three parties to a telephone call—the person calling, the person called, and the operator who connects them. The quality of service rendered is determined by the spirit in which all three work together, rather than by the individual effort of any one or two of these three persons. We shall gladly send COMPLETE SETS OF THE SERIES to those desiring them.

"Don't Answer" Reports

Nobody likes a "Don't Answer" report. To the subscriber it nullifies the value of the service, as far as that particular call is concerned; to the Company it means lost effort and loss of revenue.

Our operating methods provide that before giving a "Don't Answer" report, the operator is required

- (1) To ring the bell of the called station at least three times during a period of 60 seconds;
- (2) To verify the number a second time, if there is doubt regarding its correctness;
- (3) To change the trunk line and ring the station again, in the case of a call made to another central office.

"Don't Answer" reports are given by the operator when the above routine has been completed and

- (1) There is no one near enough to the called station to hear the bell when it is rung, or
- (2) There is an unusual delay in answering at the called station, or
- (3) Through an error by the subscriber in giving, or the operator in repeating, an incorrect number is given, and a wrong station is called, and no one answers, or
- (4) There is mechanical trouble which has not yet come to the attention of the Maintenance Department.

A prompt answer at the called station will reduce the number of "Don't Answer" reports.

In a busy central office the operator handles many calls with precision and dispatch. If a call goes wrong she does her best to right it. Occasionally a tangle comes, however, which deserves the services of a specialist.

Behind the operator stands the supervisor. She is ready to give you her personal attention, check it up from start to finish, and right it, whenever the probabilities, as you know them, warrant you in asking for this special service.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Discussed by Prominent Speakers at South Community Forum

An extra meeting of the Newton South Community Forum was held Sunday afternoon at Bray Hall, Newton Centre, Prof. William Z. Ripley presiding, and the speakers were Hon. Robert Luce, and Prof. William B. Munroe of Harvard. The coming Constitutional Convention was the subject of the discussion.

Mr. Luce said in part:—

The idea of a constitution is so familiar to us that we find it very hard to realize that it is a new thing in the history of the world. After the battle of Lexington a Congress was in session in Philadelphia and they were uncertain as to what to do. There happened to be one man in Congress who had prepared himself for this crisis and his writings show that few men of any age have mastered the difficulties of political science as he did. This man was John Adams of Massachusetts. Men from all parts of the country came to him to ask his advice. Massachusetts as a State although not yet a State but midway, sent a message to Congress asking advice. The associates of Adams turned to him in their trouble and he told them the thing to do was for the people of each State to gather together and make a Government. That seemed incredible and it was with great difficulty that Adams got the people to proceed. With very great difficulty did he bring his associates to recommend that step to New Hampshire under which New Hampshire framed the first written constitution on this side of the water. Still the other States were in doubt. After six months of pleading and begging, trying to get these other States to frame a constitution, at last in May 1776 they took the step that led to the Declaration of Independence. Massachusetts although the first to ask how to do it was the last to do it. They proceeded to draft a document which was rejected five to one, partly because it was imperfect and partly because it was not formed by a convention. In 1779 a convention was called, and four hundred men met in Boston, the best men in the State. The work was handed from the large committee to a small committee, the small committee consisting of John Adams, Samuel Adams and two others. This committee turned it over to John Adams and so he wrote the constitution which was adopted. It was so good a constitution that we still live under it and we are the only State in the Union living under a constitution drawn in the eighteenth century and one that has never been revised. In 1812 without any written authority a convention was called and a little more than a dozen years later the Supreme Court was asked if a convention was possible in view of the fact that amendments were made in the convention of 1812. The court said they were not answering questions of what might have happened. In 1853 another convention was called. The convention of 1853 made a thorough revision of the constitution and submitted it and they also submitted some of the changes separately. The convention of 1853 gathered some of the ablest men the State has ever known. It is alleged by those hostile that the work may be as useless as that of 1853 because nothing was adopted. But all the changes that were of any value were put into the constitution later on so if this coming convention should have its work rejected at the poles it will have brought to the people questions for serious deliberation. This convention is to be held in June, there will be 320 delegates. No party designates are to appear on the ballot.

When our constitution was written this was generally speaking an agricultural State where fortunes were few and poverty was great. In the last seventy-five years this has changed, wholly new aspects have come into social relations and with all these changes has come the change

FREE FROM DEBT

Over $10,000 Raised by Members of Newton M. E. Church

Members of the Newton Methodist Church and their friends, under the energetic leadership of the pastor, Rev. G. Charles Gray, concluded an aggressive campaign last Sunday for the purpose of raising sufficient funds to pay off the debt which has been a burden for the past twenty years. The glad announcement was made on Sunday that pledges to the amount of $9,000 had already been received and it is hoped to bring the amount up to $10,000 within the next few days. This sum will cancel the debt, and allow many needed improvements to be made in the church building.

Sunday also marked the beginning of a Forward Movement Campaign intended to give everyone in the church something to do to further the work of the church in the community.

NEWTON METHODIST CHURCH

MANY CANDIDATES

Office of Delegate to the Constitutional Convention is Attractive to Many

With thirteen candidates for delegates to the constitutional convention in the 13th Congressional district and with ten candidates in the 4th Middlesex district, it is very evident that a primary will be held early in April to eliminate five in the Congressional district and four in the city district, as the law will allow only twice the number to be elected to appear on the ballot at the election in May.

It is also possible that a state wide primary will be necessary if more than 48 candidates remain in the field for the 16 positions as delegates at large.

The following candidates are in the field in the Congressional and city districts,

WHIST PARTY

Mrs. Edwin C. Wilcox opened her residence on Otis street, Newtonville, last week on Wednesday for a whist party for the benefit of the Ladies Aid Society of the First Universalist Church.

The rooms were opened in suite and decorated attractively with cut-flowers and potted plants. Ten tables were arranged, and the game was Auction bridge, and straight whist. Souvenirs were presented to those holding the highest scores. The winners of the Auction prizes were Mrs. Tracy of Newton, Mrs. York, and Mrs. Judkins of Newtonville. Those who won at straight whist included, Mrs. James P. Smith, Miss Smith, Mrs. Allen of Newtonville.

At the conclusion of the game refreshments were served in the dining-room. The table was decorated in yellow and white, and centered with jonquills. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. M. E. Merritt, and the affair was a great success, socially and financially.

Congressional District

Ex-congressman Samuel L. Powers and Prof. Frederick L. Anderson of Newton, Mr. Frederick P. Fish, Nathaniel A. Francis and Daniel J. Daly of Brookline, Ralph W. Gloat, George E. Brook and Walter Hartshorne of Boston, Hon. Robert Luce of Waltham, Walton A. Green of Weston, Courtney Crocker of Sudbury, Henry S. Dennison of Framingham and Charles S. Bird, Jr. of Walpole.

City District

Messrs. James A. Lowell, William G. Thompson and Thomas W. Proctor of Chestnut Hill, Hon. George S. Smith, Prof. John M. Barker and Charles W. Bond of Newton Centre, Charles A. Andrews of Waban, Charles S. Ensign of Newton, James P. Richardson of Newtonville and Guy M. Winslow of Auburndale.

A BOAR HUNT

Considerable Excitement in Newton on Tuesday Afternoon

The wild (?) boar hunt in this city last Tuesday afternoon and all the elements of a successful comic opera and the Boston papers certainly gave a most lurid tinge to a rather humorous incident. A post office employee, coming into Nonantum square reported to Officer Purcell that he had seen a wild boar wandering around the houses on Tremont street, and had noticed him over-turn a baby carriage which stood in someone's front yard. Officer Purcell immediately reported the matter to headquarters and with Sergeant Clay, who was in the neighborhood, and Officer Davis, started after the animal. From telephone calls from excited females it was evident that the boar had continued up Tremont street, through Vernon street, scaring women and children, thence up Richardson street and across private estates to Church street. In the meanwhile, the policemen had commandeered James P. Airth's pug and caught up with the boar on Church street. One brave man climbed to the top of the Y. M. C. A. fence with a club in his hand with the intention of hitting the boar as it passed by, but the animal unexpectedly reared on its hind legs, and his would-be assailant, fell off the fence in his endeavors to escape. The police tried several shots while the pug was moving, and managed to stop the boar with one bullet and it was an easy matter, then, to kill it. Men of the Street department took the carcass to the Crafts street stable, and later it was buried.

Sunday noon, there was another scare in the Newton section of the city, when a big steer, which had evidently escaped from Brighton stock yard was noticed in the vicinity of Charlesbank road. It wandered across St. James street bridge as far as Washington street and returned to Charlesbank road and was later shot on the boulevard between Newton and Fenwick.

Incidentally it was reported last week that a monkey had scratched the face of a baby residing on Tremont street.

Verily, verily, this has been some week for quiet, peaceful Newton.

LODGES

Under the auspices of Newton Lodge, No. 92, I. O. O. F., a smoke talk will be held in Odd Fellows' Hall, West Newton, Friday evening. DEBATE LIBRARY VACATION

Aldermen Fail to Reach Final Action on Allowing Three Weeks Vacation

What promised to be a short and listless meeting of the aldermen Monday night developed into a debating society on the merits of two new ordinances which were unexpectedly reported by the Rules Committee.

President Early was in the chair and all the members were present. Unopposed hearings were held on petitions for poles in Marshall street, and Commonwealth avenue, on the widening of Crafts and Watertown streets, and the widening of Auburn and Woodbine streets, and on petition to establish a jitney line through Boylston street.

Under venue from the Superior court at Lowell, James H. Johnson and Arthur E. Sibley were drawn as jurors.

Mayor Childs sent in the budget for 1917, which has already been mentioned in the Graphic, and recommended acceptance of the act authorizing payment of $714 to the widow of William E. Young, $5,853 for replacing water main in Hammond street with larger pipe, the taking of two lots of land on Walker street under eminent domain for school purposes, and sent in the appointment of Mr. William J. Doherty as a registrar of voters vice Stevens deceased.

The American Voting Machine Company of Waltham was given an opportunity to demonstrate its voting machine on Thursday evening.

Petitions of M. C. Laffie for an auctioneer license, and for attachments of wires on West street, Cook street, and Homer street, and for various private garages were granted.

A petition for sewer in Silver Lake avenue was also received.

On recommendations of committees, L. J. Gibson was granted a pool room license on Centre street, Thomas F. Eddy a common victualer license at Newtonville, the Telephone Company a pole location on Fisher avenue, Fred T. Wiley leave to withdraw on a public garage on Walnut street, Gaetano Santillo was given $30 additional under Workmen's Compensation, William H. Allen allowed $18 a month as Soldiers' relief, $5,853 appropriated for water main in Hammond street, and leave to withdraw granted on land damage claim of H. A. Wheeler on Waban Hill road, north.

The inexpedient report on an order for $900 for purchase of land adjoining the Horace Mann school was debated by Aldermen Harriman, Price and Carter and was finally accepted. It was brought out that $3,600 was appropriated last year for the purchase of four lots of land, three on Walker street and one on Brookside avenue, under an agreement that one of the Walker street lots should be exchanged for a lot the same size on Brookside avenue. After the order had been passed, Mayor Childs found that he could not carry out this agreement and as the owner of the land on Walker street, refused to sell less than three lots, he recommended $900 for its purchase. The committee reported it was inexpedient to buy the third lot, requested the Mayor to take no further action under the $3,600 order and urged that the city acquire one lot on Walker street and one lot on Brookside avenue under eminent domain. Mayor Childs' recommendation earlier in the evening included taking two lots on Walker street under eminent domain and the purchase of two lots on Brookside avenue.

In presenting an amendment to the Library ordinance, authorizing the trustees to allow more than the usual vacations for its employees, Alderman Murphy called attention to the fact that the library assistants worked morning, afternoon and evening, and while their actual hours were reasonable, they were so spread over the day as to make their conditions radically different from continuous employment. The vacation period had been purposely left at the discretion of the trustees, as there were certain employees of the department who ought not to have more than the usual two weeks. The trustees had assured the committee that the additional vacations would not add to the expense, as they came in the light part of the year and the regular assistants would substitute for each other. Alderman Price favored immediate action. Alderman Winslow said that the ordinance established a precedent and he could not distinguish between the library and the other departments of the city. He believed that if passed, the difficulties would constantly increase. Alderman Kendrick said it was not a new precedent as the library had had three weeks' vacations for years before the present ordinance was passed two years ago. It was but a return to former conditions. Alderman Whidden favored its passage. Alderman Angier questioned the matter of expense, saying he knew of one case where an outsider had been employed to fill in on vacation time. He thought the ordinance might lead to a four weeks' vacation and that even a year's vacation with pay might be granted by the trustees. He did not think the assistants were under a very serious strain in their relations to the public and did not think the ordinance fair to the other departments. Alder-

MRS. EMILY WARD HYDE

Jan. 13th, 1832—Mar. 3rd, 1917

In the death of Mrs. Hyde this community sustains the loss of one who by her bravery and cheerfulness in meeting the experiences of life and particularly the limitations of increasing years and infirmity, was an inspiration to all who knew her.

She was born and passed her early years in the section of Newton now known as Chestnut Hill, and was a graduate of the Massachusetts Normal School, then located at West Newton. After several years of teaching school she was married to James P. C. Hyde, later the first Mayor of the City of Newton.

Her energy and efficiency, and her devotion to what she understood to be right, was manifested in all the relations of her life. She was devoted to the interests of the Church, the Community, and to her friends. To the very last she kept up her interest in reading, in Club life, and missionary work. She invariably cultivated the forward look, not dwelling on the past, but alive to the interests of those about her, and of the world.

She leaves a son and daughter, two grandsons and an only brother, Mr. Samuel Ward of Newton Centre. The funeral service was held at the Congregational Church in Newton Highlands on Monday afternoon, Rev. Geo. G. Phipps officiating, the Lotus Club assisting with appropriate selections.

The interment was in the family lot at the Newton Cemetery.

DEATH OF MR. NUTTER

Mr. George H. Nutter, who died Sunday night at his home on Pearl street was 60 years of age and has been an invalid from paralytic strokes for the past three years. Previous to his illness he was the assistant wire chief at the Newton North telephone exchange. He is survived by one sister, Miss Margaret Nutter. Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon, in charge of Rev. D. H. Gerrish of Lawrence and there were many floral tributes of love and respect. The interment was at Lynn.

LARGE SALE IN NEWTON

Through the office of Alvord Bros., B. S. Noyce has bought of John W. Paul and Mary R. Paul, administrators of the Henry Paul Estate, the entire property known as the Paul Farm in Newton Centre, bounded on Centre, Clark and Parker streets, consisting of a dwelling house, various barns and outbuildings and about 35 1-2 acres of land with about half a mile frontage on said streets. The property is assessed for $40,300 of which $35,500 is on the land and $4,800 on the buildings. The new owner expects to occupy and develop the land.

This estate is the largest area of undeveloped land on the south side of Newton, and has been in the Paul family for over 200 years.

Alvord Bros. have also sold for Mrs. P. D. Edmonds to Thomas B. Ticknor, Florence E. Ticknor and George H. Milfin, trustees, the estate No. 187 Gibbs street, Newton Centre, consisting of single dwelling house and 11,800 square feet of land, the whole assessed for $6,600 of which $4,800 is on the building and $1,800 on the land.

CONTEST

The Boston Journal Puzzle Contest, which is creating so much comment, and in which so many men, women and children are competing, shows one how to make use of fleeting moments, and to turn them to some advantage.

The simplicity of the puzzle is such that anyone can go ahead in counting the periods with as fair a change of coming out a winner as anyone else. The advertisement which appears on another page in this paper explains in detail the conditions of the Contest. Additional efforts will be mailed, free of charge, upon application to the Puzzle Manager, Boston Journal, Boston, Mass.

PARK THEATRE

Did you ever envy another woman's position in life, or the worldly goods possessed by her? Then you have committed one of the seven deadly sins unless you have since renounced your covetousness and have come to the realization that you, and not the other woman, is the one who should be envied.

It is the first of the photoplay series, "The Seven Deadly Sins," and Shirley Mason plays the part of Eve, the little girl. Ann Murdock, the well known actress, impersonates the other woman. The play is called "Envy" which is thus classified as a deadly sin.

It will be shown at the Park Theatre, Waltham, for the last time tomorrow. It will be followed next week, Thursday with "Pride," the second sin, with one each week for seven weeks. In addition, a carefully selected vaudeville program will also be presented.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, the feature photoplay at the Park will be "The Witching Hour."

A vaudeville program will also be included.

BOYS' DAY AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Saturday, March 17th, will be observed as State Boys' Day by the Boys' Division of the Newton Association.

Boy leisure has become a greater peril than boy labor, for it is during this leisure time that the boy receives most of his instruction in sex matters and morals. The fence is his blackboard and the pervert his instructor. Ten minutes in this school of morals will blot out ten years of Sunday School teaching. To capture the boy during his leisure time is what the Newton Young Men's Christian Association is trying to do. They believe it is fierer to train a boy to do right than to restrain him from doing wrong. It is easier to cultivate good habits than to remove bad ones—cheaper to prevent crime than to cure the criminal—businesslike to form character instead of trying to reform it, and better to win a boy to the Christian life when he is in the formative period than to wait until he is hardened.

Therefore, one day is set aside every year, for the citizen of this great state, to help in this wonderful work which this organization has set out to do.

BOYS' DAY

The aim of State Boys' Day is to enlist the sympathy and support of the community in the work among boys and to give the boys a definite piece of work to do and a share in the financial needs of the Association. There will be 10 teams, 10 boys on a team, totalling one hundred boys. Their goal is $300. That means that each boy will have to secure at least $3 for his team. The money will be divided as follows: 50 per cent for the work among boys of Newton, 25 per cent for the work among boys of Massachusetts, 15 per cent for work among boys of North America and 10 per cent for work among boys of Nanking, China.

This is a world wide vision and worthy of the support of every citizen of Newton, and the boys should have every encouragement in their effort to raise $300 in one day. Contributions ranging in amount from 10 cents to $1.00 will be solicited. Any person will be out of town that day they are invited to send their contributions to the Association office, stating which boy's credit it is to be placed.

D. R. MEETS

At the annual meeting of the Sarah Hull Chapter D. R. held on Friday A. M. at the Newton Club-house the following officers were elected for the coming year:

Regent, Mrs. Charles L. Pearson; Vice Regents, Mrs. Arthur C. Hill, Mrs. Ralph C. Emery, Mrs. Francis Murdoch; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Elmer L. Gibbs; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Howard R. Mason; Assistant Corresponding Secretary, Miss Helen E. Partridge; Treasurer, Mrs. Willard L. Sampson; Historian, Mrs. Stephen A. Wiswell; Auditor, Mrs. Oliver M. Fisher; Counsellors, Mrs. Frank B. Fletcher, Mrs. Wm. T. Logan, Mrs. J. Henry Bacon, Mrs. Samuel P. May; Director of Caleb Stark Chapter, Mrs. Samuel P. Eaton. After the election officers luncheon was served in the dining room.

MOTHERS REST

LODGES

Betsey Ross Lodge, No. 556, N. E. O. P. is planning another of their enjoyable whist and dancing parties for Saturday evening, March 17th, in Nonantum Hall, Newton. A large and energetic entertainment committee under the direction of Ward E. James Aucouin and chairlady Katherine Owens is in charge and this party will no doubt lead all of the previous events as a large attendance is looked for. Other members of the Committee are Mr. and Mrs. William MacDonald, Mrs. James Aucouin, Mrs. John McNeill, Mrs. Benyon, Past Ward Peter Duffy, and Albert Hasty.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD

Mr. Manley Seaverns, one of the oldest and most prominent residents of Weston, died on Saturday at his home on Park road, after a prolonged illness. The funeral took place Wednesday at 2:30 P. M. The service was largely attended by relatives, friends and neighbors. Mr. Seaverns was survived by three daughters, the Misses Edna and Fannie who resided with him and Mrs. Rankins of California.

SHUBERT THEATRE—Next Monday, March 12th, will begin the second week of John Cori's original production of the Casino Theatre, New York musical triumph, "Flora Bella," at the Shubert Theatre, Boston. The book is by Felix Doermann, revised and adapted by Cosmo Hamilton and Dorothy Donnelly, the lyrics by Percy Waxman and score by Charles Cuvillier and Milton Schwarzwald. Lina Abarbanell, who gained her greatest prominence in this country in "The Merry Widow" and "Madame Sherry," both of which immense successes were produced at the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York, is equally as fortunate in having an exceptionally fitting role in this delightful production. There are some twenty numbers in the fascinating score, while the production is unquestionably pleasing to the eye. The original cast will be seen here, including Charles Purcell, Irving Brooks, Adolph Link, Robert O'Connor, Roydon Keith, Gilbert Clayton, Hazel Kirke, Dorothy Rogers, Kate Stout and others.

 WHAT YOU PLEASE

COUNT THE PERIODS

The problem is to count the periods in the chart. Every period has a circle around it, every circle has a period within it. There are no tricks of any kind about the puzzle. Those who exercise the greatest patience and diligence in making accurate counts will win.

Copyrighted by the Colburn Co.

THE CONDITIONS

This contest is open to all, excepting employees of The Journal Newspaper Company or members of their families. A payment for subscription to the daily Journal of from $1.20 to $7.00 entitles a contestant to submit a solution of the problem. The amount of money paid will cover the subscription price for the paper according to the regular price, whether the rate be for city delivery or by mail. As many different solutions may be submitted to the Period Puzzle as the contestant desires upon making an additional payment of not less than $1.20 nor more than $7.00 with each solution. It is not necessary to pay the same amount with each solution, if more than one is submitted. As the prizes have an added value according to what is paid in on subscriptions with the winning solutions, contestants should familiarize themselves with the dividend schedule before sending their subscription and solution. After once being submitted a solution cannot be changed. Remit by check, money order or cash in registered letter. Solutions unaccompanied by cash subscriptions will not be registered. The contest is open to both old and new subscribers. There is no entrance fee; whatever is paid, whether on one or a number of solutions, would apply on a continuous subscription to The Boston Journal.

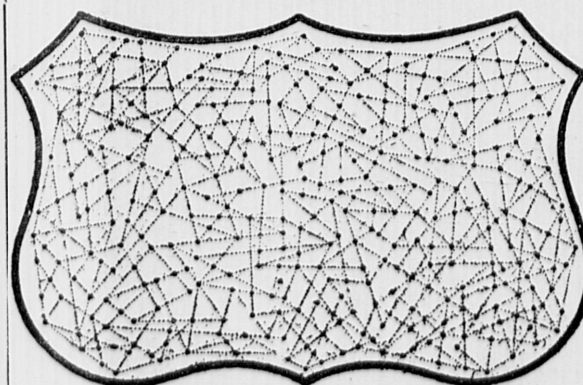

SPECIAL CONDITIONS

As many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied before any prizes are awarded to those sending in less correct solutions. While the winning of a prize does not depend upon the time a solution is registered, it is best to begin counting at once and send in your solution as soon as you have finished, and if later you have found that you have made a mistake you can send in another solution, if accompanied by an additional payment. The prizes are offered for individual effort and The Boston Journal reserves the right to reject any solution and to return whatever amount is paid in connection with it, if it appears that the answers submitted were the result of the efforts of some one other than the person who submitted the solution. If more than one member in a family submits the same answers, only one prize will be awarded jointly. All those entering the contest will, as a condition and consideration, be required to abide by the rulings of the Puzzle Manager. In the event of any questions arising under the direction of Ward E. James Aucouin and chairlady Katherine Owens is in charge and this party will no doubt lead all of the previous events as a large attendance is looked for. Other members of the Committee are Mr. and Mrs. William MacDonald, Mrs. James Aucouin, Mrs. John McNeill, Mrs. Benyon, Past Ward Peter Duffy, and Albert Hasty.

DECIDING TIES

Those using in their solutions of the Period Puzzle will be required to solve a second puzzle, like the small illustration, only considerably larger. Only those tied on the Period Puzzle will be eligible to solve the second, or tie-breaking puzzle. The second problem will be presented immediately following the registration of all answers to the first puzzle, and a week will be given in which to solve it. Should further ties ensue, the same chart will be rearranged, and those tying will be required to solve it again. In the almost impossible event of further ties, a third and fourth rearrangement will be made, but after that, should any ties ensue, the contestants so tying shall each receive the full amount of the prize tied for.

THIS IS WHAT THE SECOND PROBLEM WILL BE LIKE

Rules for solving the second problem, together with extra charts, will be mailed to each tying contestant just as soon as possible after all answers to the first puzzle have been received and registered. The small illustration simply gives an idea of the nature of the second puzzle, and nothing can be done toward solving it until the number of ties are determined, which will be after March 19.

THE PRIZE LIST

AUBURNDALE VILLAGE IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY

The Auburndale Village Improvement Society held an interesting meeting Wednesday evening in the Burr School Hall at Auburndale.
Mr. George M. Fiske spoke on Flags for the Schools. He said that he understood quite a few of the schools had no flag and his idea was to have a flag in every school room and have the pupils salute the flag each morning. A number of members of the Society volunteered to furnish money to purchase flags for the Williams and Burr schools at Auburndale and the Hamilton School at Lower Falls. The G. A. R. will furnish the flags for the N. H. S. and the Newton Technical High School.

Mr. Fiske suggested that the Improvement Societies of the other wards take up the matter and furnish flags for their respective wards.
Mr. Ovington spoke on the Boy Scout question. He said that the Boy Scout movement is looked after in the churches and he thinks it ought to be non-sectarian. The Village Improvement Society voted to stand back of any reforms that might be made.

Mr. Spaulding spoke on the question of the Swimming pool. Alderman Winslow does not think that the city would be able to expend money this year toward the improvements.
Mr. Frank Cunningham said that he thought the least they might do was to furnish some conveniences for the boys at Wares Cove and the ball ground.

Mr. Frank L. Richardson spoke on the Bank Building and it is decided to build on the land adjoining Taylor's Block.

Alderman Hollis spoke on the need of a new fire station. It will be necessary to expend $200 for repairs on the Hose house and he thinks it would be cheaper to build a new one. Mr. Plummer's and Mr. McVicar's land were suggested as a location.
There was a large attendance of prominent Auburndale citizens.
Mr. C. B. Floyd of the Bird Committee spoke on the question of organizing a Bird Club.

LECTURE FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Second in its course of Lectures for High School pupils the Society of Arts, M. I. T., will present on Tuesday afternoon at four a lecture by Professor James F. Norris of the Chemistry faculty and department of Chemistry, whose subject will be "Chemistry of Fire." The lecture will be given in the large auditorium, 10-250, the entrance to which is through the great court and in at the pillared portico. This lecture like that of Professor Talbot a month ago will be illustrated at every point by experiments. Admission free, by ticket only secured in the usual manner through the principals of the schools about Boston.
The third lecture is set for Tuesday afternoon, April 10, when Professor Louis Derr will give an address on "Magnets and Magnetism," illustrated as are the others with experiments.

THE HUNNEWELL CLUB

A concert will be given at the Club House on Thursday evening, March 15th, for the purpose of raising money to be used for an improved system of ventilation in the Hall, and to redecorate the stage. The Entertainment Committee has secured for this concert the finest Trio organization of Boston, composed of Mr. George Cope land, the greatest Modern School pianist of the country, Mr. Albert Stoessel, violinist, for several years a member of the Willey Hess Quartet of Berlin, who was heard with great pleasure at one of the Club Musicales last year, and Mr. Arthur Hadley, cellist, formerly with the Boston Symphony, and recently of the Symphony Orchestra of San Francisco.

TEA

Mrs. Harry A. Cooke entertained at a tea and informal reception on Tuesday afternoon at her residence on Parker street, Newton Centre, in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Sargent F. Eaton of Portland, Maine, who is her guest this week.
Mrs. Cooke and Mrs. Eaton received their guests from 3.30 until 5 o'clock. The dining-room, with a refreshment course was served was decorated in pink. Pink shad candles were arranged on the table, which had had a pink sweet pea decoration a basket of pink sweet peas.
The pouters were Miss Harriet Sweeney and Mrs. Fred Eaton.
There were about thirty guests present.

COMMUNITY MEETING

On Tuesday evening, March 20, at the Classical High School Assembly Hall, there will be a public meeting of a social nature to which all citizens of the Newton Communities are cordially invited to be present. Mr. Geo. W. Coleman, ex-President of the Boston City Council, will speak on "The New Civic Spirit" and Mrs. Wm. H. Lohrop of Newtonville, will tell how Newton is expressing this spirit through the active work of the Welfare Bureau.
There will be an opportunity for those attending to meet the speakers and chat with friends.

ELECTS OFFICERS

The annual election of officers and Executive Committee of the Men's Club of Grace Church took place at the regular monthly meeting of the club, in the Parish House last Monday evening. The new Board for the years 1917-1918 will be made up as follows: President, Dr. Charles F. Simpson; Treasurer, Stafford F. Johnson. Executive Committee: Leverett D. G. Bentley, Fred H. Loveland, Isaac S. Dillingham, Jr., and William H. Pearson. The secretary will be appointed by the Board of Officers.
At this meeting, which was well attended, Rev. W. Bradley Whitney, Protestant Chaplain of the Charlestown State Prison, gave an intensely interesting talk on "Prison Conditions and Prison Reform," illustrated by lantern slides showing every phase of prison life in the Charlestown Prison.

The Men's Club of Grace Church is one of our progressive Church organizations. It has a membership of 236. The annual dinner of the club is fixed for Monday evening, April 16, in the Parish House.

TWENTY NINE YEARS

Newton Co-operative Bank has had a Most Prosperous Career

After twenty-nine years of constant progress, this Bank has now passed the $1,000,000 mark, with a surplus and guaranty fund of over $23,000. From its beginning, this Bank has had as directors some of Newton's leading business men, to whose faithful efforts is to be attributed its great success.

Newton is essentially a city of homes and the duty of a co-operative Bank is to help every home builder or home buyer. The home owner is the best citizen. If you know of anyone desirous of owning a house and thus becoming a better citizen, be assured that he or she will receive most courteous attention and most liberal assistance of the Bank and its officers. During twenty-nine successful years the Bank helped hundreds to save this money and to have something tangible to leave to their families. Why pay rent and in your old age have no home to leave to your family? For the same annual rental that most people pay, they could own their house in about ten years. Begin to save while your earning capacity is at its best.

The Bank needs more shareholders and more borrowers. Every Five Dollars saved monthly means a Thousand Dollars in twelve years. There are few people in these times of high wages who cannot put aside from Five to Twenty-five Dollars each month, and the time to begin is now. The money is all loaned to its shareholders on mortgages or on their shares. A flat rate of five and one-half per cent is charged on all loans, with no commissions to pay. Five per cent is paid on all maturing shares. Interest is compounded semi-annually. During the past five years, with larger resources, the Bank has not declined a Newton mortgage that was a safe risk.

This Bank is no experiment, but with substantially the same officers, it has had twenty-nine years of practical experience. It charges a reasonable rate of interest. It pays a fair rate of interest, one per cent more than the Savings Banks and Trust Companies. It does not compete with them however, as it does not accept fixed amounts on deposit. It encourages thrift by its monthly payment. The bank now has 1910 share holders with 17,830 shares; 542 of whom are borrowers on $315 shares. It is not convenient for you to pay monthly at the Bank, you can send checks by mail, or if doing business in Boston, can pay at the office of the President, James W. French, 73 Tremont street, Boston, Room 650, on four days in the month. advt.

NEWTON TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

A number of the teachers and boys visited the Peabody tanneries of the Benjamin N. Moore Sons Co. last Saturday. This firm is offering a two-year course in the manufacture of leather to a limited number of high school and college graduates. Students spend from two to eight weeks in each department of the factory and learn by actual experience each operation in the tanning and finishing processes. They are paid from $8 to $12 a week during the period of learning and complete their training by a course in salesmanship in the Boston salesrooms of the company.
It is probable that two or three of this year's class at the high school will apply for admission to the course.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

And when a woman has accepted the nomination to the presidency what can she do to prepare herself for the office? It is to be hoped that she has had some previous experience upon the executive board and already has a working knowledge of her club; but if she has not had that good fortune, it need not be fatal to the success of her administration, provided she is willing to seek information and to take advice from those who are familiar with the traditions, for every club has them. First, let her familiarize herself with the constitution and by-laws, that she may know exactly what are her own duties and what are those of the other officers and of the various committees. To accomplish this requires more than a superficial reading, it means real study. The next requisite is a knowledge of parliamentary procedure, such as is obtained from practical work in some class under the direction of an expert teacher. This study needs to be continued during a large part of her administration, for perplexing questions are sure to arise when one least expects them and to be able to meet them without apparent embarrassment engenders the confidence of one's club. Another thing which makes for good feeling is personal contact with the members. One president known to the Club Editor communicated during the summer either by telephone or by personal note with every member of her club. It being an organization with a widely scattered membership, rather than a club made up of members of a single community, this counted for more, perhaps, than it might have done where the membership is more concentrated. But the personal touch means vastly more than one may at first suppose and everything which one can do in this direction without seeming to overdo it, makes for the success of one's administration. People like to be recognized as individuals, not merely as the members of a club, and any way in which a president can show she is interested as such makes for good feeling and for her own ultimate success.

Dr. Wentworth will be hostess for the meeting of the Newton C. L. S. C. on Monday afternoon.

At the meeting of the Waban Woman's Club on March 12 the subject for the afternoon will be "Food." There will be pathetic pictures of tea and coffee and a chafing dish demonstration of a Sunday night supper.

Mrs. Harriet L. B. Darling will give the last of her course of lectures before the Brightelmstone Club on March 12 at 2:30.

The Newton Parliamentary Law Club will meet in the Newton Library on Tuesday morning at 10:15.

Attention is called to the public meeting under the auspices of the Abundant Woman's Club to be held in Burr School hall on Monday evening, March 12, at 8 o'clock for forming in Abundant a branch of the Parent Teacher Association. Mrs. Walter LeRoy Smith will speak. Not only teachers and mothers, but fathers are especially urged to be present. No one can afford to miss it.

The Home Economics department of the Newtonville Woman's Guild has arranged a valuable meeting for Tuesday afternoon at 2:45, when Mrs. Lotta B. Miller will speak on "Clothes."

The meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning will be open to guests. "America in the Philippines" is the subject, which will be presented by Miss Emma Cummings of Brookline.

Much interest centers in the annual dramatic performance to be given by the Abundant Woman's Club on March 13th in the Methodist Parish House. "The Twig of Thorn," a charming Irish fairy play, by Marie J. Warren, will be presented by the Dramatics committee. Mrs. Mary E. Herron, chairman. The cast is made up of the following club members: Mrs. Bucknam, Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. Fisher, Miss Miriam Herron, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Longfellow, Miss Muriel Conn, Mrs. Goldberger, Mrs. Peters, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Waters, Mrs. Ufford, Mrs. Messenger.

Music will be furnished by Mrs. Lamb, violin, and Mrs. Noyes, piano. The play will be given twice, at three in the afternoon, and at eight in the evening. Gentlemen will be admitted to both performances. Tickets are not restricted to club members and they may be obtained from Mrs. W. A. Stiles, 11 Brae Burn road or at Miss Donovan's store.

On Tuesday afternoon, March 13, at the music to be given before the Newton Highlands Woman's Club the artists will be Alice Eldredge, pianist, who has played with the Boston Symphony and is well known in New York, and Bernard Ferguson, a leading baritone of Boston. This meeting will be held in Bray Hall, Newton Centre, in order to have sufficient seating capacity. The doors will not be opened during the numbers. Refreshments will be served.

The Pierian Club will meet with Mrs. H. E. Child of Chestnut street, on March 14.

The regular meeting of the Newton Ladies Home Circle will be held in G. A. R. hall, Newtonville, on Thursday, March 15th, at 2 P. M.

Local Happenings

The Progress Club held its regular meeting Friday afternoon, March 2. "Naples and Her Environs" was the topic of a very interesting paper by Mrs. H. L. Goodman. An illuminating sketch of "How the World is Fed" was given by Mrs. Harry S. Wells, and proved of deepest interest to her hearers. The social hour with the hostess, Mrs. J. F. Whitney of Wellesley Farms, was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Owing to the funeral of Mrs. J. F. C. Hyde, who was one of the charter members of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C., the weekly meeting of the club was omitted on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. F. E. Jones of Chestnut street, West Newton, opened her home for the meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club on Monday afternoon. In addition to the members the waiting list was invited and each member was allowed the privilege of bringing a guest, so that a goodly number assembled to hear the lecture by Mrs. Heloise E. Hersey on "The Modern Novel and Its Relation to the Modern Woman." Without dwelling upon any particular novels Miss Hersey pointed out that the novelist portrays life as he sees it today and has developed much that is best in present day life. The social hour during which refreshments were served was particularly enjoyed.

The Abundant Review Club met on Tuesday, March 6th, at the home of Mrs. Frank F. Davidson. The club was favored in hearing Mr. Wickliffe J. Spaulding sing two songs, the words of one written by Tolstoi. He was accompanied by Mrs. W. J. Spaulding.

Mrs. Charles A. J. Smith read a paper written by Mrs. Christopher Gore on the "Form of Government and Political Parties in Russia." Mrs. Spaulding read a paper on "Industry" and Mrs. George P. Knapp's subject was "Education." After reading, Mrs. Knapp told of an interview she had with a young Russian woman whose husband finished the course at Technology in three years instead of four; but at the cost of a breakdown. Mrs. Knapp also told of things she herself had seen in Russia on her way home from Turkey.

On Tuesday afternoon came the annual dramatics of the Newtonville Woman's Guild and they were not behind performances of other days. Instead of a single play of several acts, this year a one-act farce, "Seeking a Servant," translated from the French by Marguerite Mirabeau, was presented, followed by a solo dance by Miss Katrina Van Wyck, with Miss Edna Stoessel at the piano, and the program closed with four clever charades. Incidental music of the program was given by Mr. Herbert Ripley. Miss Rosamond Kempton was in charge of the play and also of the charades and much credit should be accorded her for the success of the afternoon. The cast of characters for the farce are as follows:

Madame Grosbiset, Mrs. Wallace Boyden; Anastasia (her daughter) Mrs. William M. Burr, Marie (the servant), Miss Elizabeth Carter; Mary Ann Eliza Smith (English), Miss Virginia Gardner; Cleopatra, Victoria Johnson (English); Mrs. H. M. Brown; Bridget Flannigan (Irish), Miss Marion D. Bassett; Amanda Widgery Fishwick (Maine), Miss Agnes Curtis; Rat-in-the-hole (Indian Squaw), Miss Metelena Maxim; Carmencita (Spanish Dancer), Miss Carrie Giles; Hop Sing (from China), Miss Katharine McLaughlin; Yo San (from Japan), Mrs. Harley Locke, and Encores.

Among the matters presented to the Social Science Club at the monthly business on Wednesday morning was an account of the work and plans of the Society for Special Aid for American Preparedness given by Mrs. H. H. Powers and a committee from the club will be appointed to act as a medium through which the women of Newton may render assistance. The sum of $25 from the Philanthropic fund of the club was voted to be divided between the two organizations working in Newton for war relief, the Surgical Dressings committee and that for French Relief. Mr. McDonald, director of nature work in the schools, was presented by the Conservation committee of the club, who described the work being done for the children to awaken in them a love for and intelligent interest in trees. Mr. McDonald stated that the trees of our vicinity are in a deplorable condition from forest fires, from insect pests and from numerous diseases and to better these conditions permanently we must begin with the children as the conservators of the future. He was listened to with close attention throughout his whole talk.

A course of lectures on First Aid has been instituted by the Home Economics committee of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands with Mrs. John A. Schroeder as instructor. The first was held on Wednesday afternoon and they will be continued on the four succeeding Wednesdays.

At the Newton Centre Woman's Club yesterday, Miss Ida M. Cannon gave an address on "Social Service Work at Massachusetts General Hospital." Miss Cannon explained the importance of social work in connection with general hospital work, told about its meager beginnings, only a few years ago, and of its tremendous growth. Every department in the hospital now has its trained social worker, who, by her sympathy, her work in the patients' homes and her knowledge of available social aid is able to double the benefit of the medical or surgical work done by the hospital.

On Thursday evening, March 1st, the Pierian Club observed gentlemen's night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Willis. Miss Miriam L. Woodberry, Field Secretary of the New York Congregational Home Missionary Society, held the closest attention of all present as she talked fluently on the subject of "Immigration." She gave most graphic pictures of the arrival of the immigrants at Ellis Island, told of the interesting development of many who had come under her observation, and showed clearly the problems which we as a country are facing.

Mrs. Mildred H. Chase of Newtonville sang a group of songs with Mrs. H. Lacey as accompanist.

Miss Ethel Sabin appeared before the Club and proposed a plan that the village through its combined organizations observe a patriotic week in April, in the interests of the Red Cross.

Refreshments were served, the dining-room being decorated in yellow, with daffodils and pussy willows as a center piece. The evening was greatly enjoyed by all, and pronounced one of the pleasant social events of the season.

Mrs. J. W. C. Easterbrook of Rockland Place was the hostess for the Pierian Club on Wednesday afternoon, March 7th. Mrs. Earl W. Smith, one of the members of the Club and Vice President of the National Congress of Mothers, gave a history of that organization and the Parent-Teachers' Association, and spoke of the conference held last week in Stoneham.

Mrs. Joseph Temperley had charge of the program for the afternoon and read an interesting paper on the life of Thomas Edison and his inventions. Mrs. Easterbrook read an article on Wireless Telegraphy and exhibited a wireless apparatus made by Mrs. Temperley's son Harold.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social half hour followed.

The Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands met with Mrs. Edgar J. Smith of Hyde street on the afternoon of March 3. The quiz was in charge of Miss Mary A. Newhall who brought out the rollicking humor of the third act of Twelfth Night. The next meeting held March 17 will be with Mrs. Alfred L. Pratt, 67 Fisher avenue.

Miss Millicent Todd gave a delightful talk before the Waban Woman's Club, at the home of Mrs. Herbert R. Lane on February 26. Her subject "Russia, It's People and It's Art," included many exciting and interesting experiences which she had during the Summer in 1914. She with her mother and father, an astronomer, had started with a small conservative party, for the purpose of making observations of the eclipse of the sun. Astronomers always study very carefully the weather conditions, and Armenia was predicted to hold the best chances for observations. Their plans were most carefully made and all sorts of help promised, even an airship to go above the clouds, should it be stormy; but an unkind fate and the fortunes of war, obliged them to remain in Russia, and those who were to help them, were ordered to join their regiments, which were mobilizing. Their instruments were waylaid and it was necessary for Professor Todd to procure a lens and make his own instrument, which he used and with which he was able to take a picture of great value, although not of the eclipse. She spoke at length of the Lavra Monastery at Kelf; of the lonely desolate landscape and of the white Russian being the most wretched of all human beings to behold. The Russian Church is Greek Orthodox, and all art and worship center around it. The peasants walk for days and days to reach the monastery for mass. They sleep out and think it sacrilege to ride. When they finally do arrive, they are fed

These figures—320,817—represent the actual number of cars manufactured by us since August 1st, 1916, and delivered by our agents to retail buyers. This unusual fall and winter demand for Ford cars makes it necessary for us to confine the distribution of cars only to those agents who have orders for immediate delivery to retail customers, rather than to permit any agent to stock cars in anticipation of later spring sales. We are issuing this notice to intending buyers that they may protect themselves against delay or disappointment in securing Ford cars. If, therefore, you are planning to purchase a Ford car, we advise you to place your order and take delivery now. Immediate orders will have prompt attention. The Effect of Military Training in the High School

From the Indianapolis News.

HELP THE NAVY

The Massachusetts Department of the Navy League of the United States Inc., has begun an active campaign to carry out the following specific programme, delegated to it by the United States Navy Department:

 1.—To aid in recruiting for the United States navy.
2.—To assist in procuring enrolments in the naval reserve, recently provided for by Congress.

3.—To furnish needed articles of clothing, equipment and comfort, such as woolen helmets, mufflers, and socks, and hospital supplies required by the exigencies of the naval service, and not now furnished in sufficient quantities by the government.

To conduct this campaign effectively and fulfil its requirements, an increased membership in the Massachusetts department, to which both men and women are eligible, and funds for the purchase of supplies for the work, are essential.

The Massachusetts department has already been offered, and has accepted, the co-operation of the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness and of other women's organizations, the members of which will make the needed articles of clothing and equipment, which will be forwarded directly to the Charlestown navy yard, by arrangement with navy officers, and will be used for the United States battleship Massachusetts, the United States scout cruiser Salem and the United States gunboats Boston and Concord. The Navy League will supply the yarn and other materials to be used.

The Navy League is an independent non partisan organization, whose national officers include former cabinet members, former ambassadors, and other men of national prominence. It has a total membership of about 350,000 in the United States. It is trying to arouse the country to a realizing sense of its helplessness in the event of war, and to do its share in preparation for the possible struggle. The membership in Massachusetts has been increased recently from 700 to about 1100. There should be not less than 5000 in this State enrolled in the league.

Mrs. Gardiner Hall is chairman of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Massachusetts Department, through which the co-operation of the other women's organizations was secured.

Subscriptions to the fund for conducting the work are already being received. The advisory committee asks every person interested in the proper preparation of the navy of the nation to send his contribution promptly to the First National Bank, Boston, for credit of the Massachusetts Department of the Navy League of the United States, Inc., or to the State chairman, Harry K. White, 53 State street, Boston.

MR. RICHARDSON HONORED

Mr. James P. Richardson of Walnut street, Newtonville, was the guest of honor last Saturday evening at the annual dinner of the class of 1899 Dartmouth College. The reception and dinner were held at the Copley Square hotel and Mr. Richardson, who has just accepted the position of Parker professor of law and political science at Dartmouth College received the hearty congratulations of his classmates.

—Miss Mary Adams died last Saturday at the Newton Home for Aged People in her 87th year. Funeral services were held on Monday, in charge of Rev. J. Edgar Park of the Second Church of West Newton and the interment was at the Newton Cemetery.

—Mr. Richard Walsh of Mechanic street, who has been employed as a moulder in the Saco-Lowell shops, died last Monday at the Newton Hospital from pneumonia. He was 43 years of age. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning with a requiem high mass at the Church of Mary Immaculate, celebrated by Rev. Fr. Donovan and the interment was at Needham.

A WORD OF PRAISE

It has afforded me much pleasure to note the faithful and efficient work of the men in charge of Bulloughs Pond during the past skating season, and feel that they deserve public commendation, through the GRAPHIC for their unflinching efforts in "storm and sunshine" to keep the surface in first class condition, and a safe playground for our children.

It was no uncommon sight to see several hundred of our future "rulers" enjoying the fruits of their labors. I have always favored public playgrounds, properly safeguarded and believe that the money thus far appropriated, has been wisely expended, while I am speaking only for myself, and my family, who have been directly benefited, I am confident there are many fathers and mothers who will gladly endorse these few words of appreciation.

EDWARD P. HATCH.

RED CROSS REGISTRATION

The Metropolitan Chapter of the Red Cross solicits the co-operation of the Community in getting the names of volunteers who stand ready to help in case of urgent need, due to fire, flood, war or famine. Those who wish to serve will find registration cards at the churches and clubs in the different villages. There will also be an opportunity to register at the rooms of the Welfare Bureau, Central Block, Newtonville.

SPRING

Spring is a bright and merry soul. Yet she is very, very old. Many long years she has toiled. Many pretty dresses she has soiled. Though each new year she may be seen In her bright and cheery suit of green.

She has many children fair With pretty dresses, and all-colored hair. All her children are her servants, Faithful little maidens, fervent. Dandelions adorn her neck, Buttercups her graceful arms bedeck.

Lady's slipper she wears on her feet. Rose is her perfume with its fragrance sweet. The very stately garden flowers Are employed for rainbow bowers. Robin and bluebird are messengers. While most of the others are fine songsters.

Spring has many relatives and friends. Children and grandchildren humanity sends. She has cousin Autumn and Summer, Brother Winter and dear little Mama. Though stately Winter and reverend Fall, Spring is the very best of them all. —Dorothy Covel.

—Mr. Henry W. Bates is having alterations made at his provision store in Walnut street and will open a fish department. This will be greatly appreciated by his many customers who have found it difficult to obtain fresh sea food, and the same high standard of quality will be maintained as in the meat department.

—Funeral services for Miss Josephine M. Flint, who died last week Thursday at the residence of Mrs. George Keyes on Walnut place, were held on Saturday, Rev. Edward T. Sullivan of Trinity Church, Newton Centre officiating. Miss Flint was 82 years of age. The interment was at North Reading.

—Funeral services for Mrs. Abigail Fish Duncan, widow of the late William P. Duncan, a long resident of Cambridge, died last Thursday at the home of her son, Payson W. Duncan, 229 Bellevue street, following a short illness. She was in her 81st year. Funeral services were held Saturday morning from her late home, Rev. Prescott Everts of Cambridge officiating. The interment was at Middleboro, Mass.

soup in the court yards and allowed to lie down. The soup is made of fish as no animal meat is allowed to be used, and they drink the Holy Water. The interior of the Lavra is gorgeous with color; precious jewels are everywhere; crosses of huge amethysts, pillars of lapis lazuli and icons all about. Sculpture is not allowed inside the churches, because they fear the people will make idols of them. Organs are not used in the church, because to them an organ is a soulless thing unfit for so sacred a place. The mass is sung by hundreds of people and it is called the Opera of the People. Their music is of the tenth and eleventh century. Of the Russian artists, she mentioned in particular, Veraschagen, Isanoff, Vasnetzoff, Replin, and Frubel who went insane from painting only in light blue. She spoke of the mad house being a very important part of all Russian cities.

During the business meeting which preceded the lecture, the Club voted fifteen dollars each for the benefit of the Red Cross and Allies Relief.

On February 26, the Monday Club of Newton Highlands met with Mrs. John Gardner for an afternoon with Richard Wagner, two papers were given on the "Ring of the Nibelings." One on the "Rheingold and Die Walkure," written by Mrs. E. C. Winslow, was read by Mrs. Frederick Fairchild. The other on "Siegfried and Gotterdammerung" was given by Mrs. F. A. O'Connor. Selections from the operas were given on the Victrola. Miss Miriam Bates, soprano added much pleasure to the program with her solos Spinning Song from Flying Dutchman, Elizabeth's Prayer from Tannhauser and Elsa's dream, Lohengrin. Miss Ethel Wentworth was at the piano.

man Forknall said that 16 libraries in this vicinity were under the exclusive control of trustees with the right to grant vacations and that many granted three and even four weeks, where other employees in the same municipalities were granted only two weeks. Alderman Allen thought the matter involved some expense and ought to go to the Finance committee. Alderman Hollis saw no reason for reference. Alderman Clark did not think the trustees would object if the board took all the time it wished to consider the matter. Alderman Murphy said the present vacation ordinance was drawn without knowledge that it would make a change in the library conditions. He invited Mr. Angier to visit the Nonantum branch about five o'clock in the afternoon and said he would get nervous prostration if he did. Alderman Harriman favored the ordinance but saw no objection to reference to the committee. Alderman Hapgood said the board had control of the matter of expense through its action on the budget and favored giving the trustees a free hand with great care, fidelity and economy. Alderman Winslow said that the trustees only wanted three items in their budget, but that the mayor had insisted on the usual segregation. Other departments he insisted were managed with equal care and are entitled to the confidence of the board. He thought it a pernicious theory to say that brain workers needed more vacation than other classes and favored reference to the committee. The motion to refer was then carried. President Early breaking a tie vote of 10 to 10.

The ordinance relative to collection of fines and was then presented. Alderman Blake saying that it was part of a program started last fall to make a cleaner city. Alderman Harriman thought adding lawn clippings would increase the expense and Alderman Blake said it was estimated to add 7 per cent when green and but 1 per cent if dry. Alderman McCarthy thought the elimination of "wooden barrels" ought to be considered. Several changes in language and punctuation were suggested by different members and by a vote of 12 to 8 the ordinance was recommitted to the Rules committee.

President Early referred portions of the 1917 budget to various committees and at 10:17 the board adjourned.

FLYING SQUADRON SPEAKER

The people of Newton, Mass. are fortunate in having the privilege of listening to an address by Hon. Oliver W. Stewart of Chicago. Mr. Stewart is to speak on Monday, March 12th, at 7:45 P. M., at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium under the auspices of the Flying Squadron Foundation.

Mr. Stewart was the only prohibition member of the Forty-third General Assembly of the State of Illinois. He was elected on the prohibition ticket from the Chicago District. Those who are responsible for his coming here have arranged for the lecture to be free and every one is invited to attend.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—Beginning Monday night (Monday, March 12th), Richard Walton Tully will offer at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, Guy Bates Post in "The Quaker", a play by John Hunter Booth, founded on the novel of like title by Katherine Cecil Thurston, for the second week of its Boston engagement. Remembering the unusual picturesque and beautiful scenes which Richard Walton Tully brought to our stage in "The Bird of Paradise" and "Omoo," the responsible for his coming here have arranged for the lecture to be free and every one is invited to attend.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—The "sensations" heralded in the last few years by aspiring motion-picture producers, who employed all the mighty superlatives in the dictionary, faded into lake ripples when compared with William Fox's exquisite picture beautiful, "A Daughter of the Gods," which begins the ninth week of its unparalleled success at the Majestic Theatre next Monday night, March 12th. No story ever visualized contained the possibilities developed from the script of this bewildering and fascinating fairy tale. No other artist before the public today has the facial and bodily charm, the mental courage, the physical versatility of adorable Annette Kellerman, who literally and gracefully achieves the impossible in the stellar role of "A Daughter of the Gods."

WILBUR THEATRE—"The Blue Paradise," the delightfully charming Vaudeville operetta at the Wilbur Theatre, is continuing to attract large audiences at every performance and on Monday evening next will enter on its 6th week of the notable engagement there. All the elements that make for certain success are embodied in this musical gem—catchy and melodious musical numbers, bright lines and crisp dialogue, an unsurpassed company of well-known artists, smart dances and a production that is a masterpiece of scenic artistry. Most prominent among the many tuneful musical numbers is the waltz song, "Auf Wiedersehn," which has fairly taken Boston by storm, proving to be the most popular song hit of the season.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—At last these mischievous youngsters of cartoon fame, Hans and Fritz, are coming to the Castle Square. All the familiar characters are introduced, including Mama Katzenjammer, Captain Haffnagle, Schwanzeiser, Louis the ape and Violet the goat. The company is a large one, containing thirty-five members, and including Louis Thiel as Captain Haffnagle, and Bertine Robinson as Mrs. Katzenjammer. The stay of "Hans and Fritz," beginning next Monday at the Castle Square, will be limited to two weeks, and seats should be procured at once.

in the function and scope of Government. The men who wrote the constitution had the welfare of the people in view but during the last three-quarters of a century the Government has entered a new field, the field of business. We have the public schools, public libraries, public water supply, sewer and drink system all problems of the last two centuries. Protection against crime, and fire have also grown up during the last century. The work of the commonwealth has put an enormous strain on the legislature. They are fit to handle the problems of Government but wholly unfit to handle the business of the Government. They know how to make laws but they do not know how to make business laws. We have not yet had common sense enough to strip the Legislature of its power to make rules and regulations. It has not been an honor to be a member of the legislature during the last century as it used to be. In their revolt against this state of affairs the people have been helplessly groping about for some solution. In the South they think if they only let them sit fifty days instead of one hundred it will be a better plan. Would you handle business operations in that way? The South and the West think another way to remedy this state of affairs, because the legislature is overburdened, is to restrict its session from one to two years and another way would be to get rid of the legislature. I recall where President Wilson once said the best form of Government is that of England. Another remedy to relieve the legislature would be to take away some of its power and give it to the Governor. So the convention will have to decide whether the people of the State desire that the power shall be put into the hands of one man or not. Fundamentally we must decide whether we shall cure our legislature by giving it less work to do by turning some of its work over to the Governor or whether we will destroy the power of the legislature. These are great problems. Problems that concern us all and which make this the most renowned crisis of our life, it is probable that there will not be another convention in the next century. It will be our only chance.

There has always been dissatisfaction with the constitution. I am not one of those who believe there is no opportunity for improvement and I know this convention is what we need. We should all face the new relations of society, we should all face the new State, we should all face the new manufacturing State. We ought to recognize that it is years since the constitution was written and since the last convention was held. These are new times, new measures and new men, the world develops and in time it requires laws that our fathers did not need.

Professor Munroe said in part: "The more one studies the framing of the constitution and studies the relatively small number of amendments that have been made in it the greater will be one's admiration of that document. Massachusetts ought to feel a great deal of pride in John Adams. The Convention in 1820 had fourteen amendments and only nine adopted the ninth being the present arrangement for amending the constitution. Another convention was held in 1853. All the good things in the convention of 1853 were adopted little by little and one by one. Now we have had all together 45 individual amendments in the constitution in 137 years. Since 1789 there has been a change in the system of representation of Senators, and members of the House of Representatives. They were chosen from every town and now a representative district may include one small town and one large town, or three or four small towns. But apart from one or two changes the constitution stands very much as it did in 1789. I think it is remarkable when you bear in mind that the whole Commonwealth was about the size of Boston with only two places with populations exceeding eight thousand, Boston and Salem. The wonder is that the constitution has remained all these years with so little revision. I often think of what Napoleon Bonaparte said when some of his followers proposed that France should have a constitution. He said, 'Yes, France should have a constitution, short and obscure.' In other words there is a great deal to be said in having a constitution made in such general terms that it will last. Had it not been for the elasticity of the constitution of the United States we should have had a new constitution long ago.

Look at the developments during the last century, steam railroads, telephone and telegraph, all these inventions have occurred in our time, and yet we have had no amendments to regulate these new things. When a Convention comes together it is because we have had a revision in our methods, in our point of view and in our attitude toward public affairs. If you go back to the days of history you will find how many world shaking inventions can you name? You can count them on the fingers of one hand. Printing, Gun powder and you can single out the utilization of steam and you might count two or three more much less important. Then take the last fifty years. Electricity, the airplane, the submarine and many other inventions. We have had a greater development in the last fifty years than we had in the preceding five hundred. These all mean a wider train of thought. As population changes the conditions of life and the Government should be adapted to the growth of population.

In the coming convention it is suggested that the most important phase will deal with political re-organization. If you were to examine the last two or three conventions, that were held in Michigan or Ohio or the one held in New York you will find that it is not the political changes which have received the greatest prominence or discussion. It is also said there will be a new amendment shortening the ballot. I do not think the trouble is with the long ballot but from the fact that we have too many candidates on the ballot. I think another question that will be taken up at the Convention will be the State Budget. I tried to find out what it cost to run the State Government and no one knows. Why? Because the Commonwealth has more than one hundred different funds and money comes in and out of these funds without any appropriations. The Highway commissioner gets all the fines received from violation of the Automobile laws and he has the right to spend that money to build new State roads or repairing them without reporting it to the legislature. There are more than one hundred different and similar funds.

The Government of the whole people is the best Government. The best way to keep a Government alive is to keep the people informed. Question. Mr. Munroe. Is there an established legislature reference bureau for the members of the legislature? Answer. We have no regular reference bureau but the State Library is always ready for those who want help. It would be a great advantage to have one.

Question. What is the best method of submitting the amendments to the public? Answer. In my judgment a good way is to submit separate amendments.

Question. What, Mr. Luce, do you consider the five most important things to be taken up at the convention? Answer. I can answer that in four words, I give it up.

Question. Mr. Luce. How about the regulations and hours and conditions of labor? Answer. That is the type of question I think is going to take the attention of the convention.

Question. Mr. Munroe. What do you think about initiative and referendum? Answer. I am in favor of certain types of referendum.

MASS MEETING

There will be a Patriotic Mass Meeting for all the Newtons in Bray Hall, Newton Centre, Wednesday evening, March 14th. Doors open at 7:00; Band Concert 7:30 to 8:00.

The speakers will be Dr. Morton Prince of Boston who has lately returned from France and England where he was tendered unusual honors by both the French and the British Governments, when he went to bring home the body of his nephew, Norman Prince, the aviator, who gave his life for the allies and for civilization. Dr. Prince will speak on organization and getting together as he saw it in France and England. Mr. Godfrey Cabot of the Naval Reserve Aviation Corps will also address the meeting and will speak on his favorite subject "Aviation," our preparation and our needs in this branch of the service. The Harvard Regiment Band of 50 pieces has tendered its services. His Honor Mayor Childs has been invited to preside but is unable to on account of a previous engagement out of town. He is in hearty accord with the timeliness of this meeting and regrets very much his inability to be present. Other speakers will be announced later.

All patriotic bodies in Newton, all Plattsburg men and Naval Reserve men, and men who went to the border, have been invited to attend this meeting in uniform, and are hereby invited, from G. A. R. men to Boy Scouts. This meeting is being held under the auspices of the Newton Branch of the National Security League.

SHOWER PARTY

The Editors of the Senior Year Book and the officers of the Senior Class at Miss Wheelock's Kindergarten Training School, were entertained at a Knitting Tea on Saturday afternoon by Miss Rachel Felton, who has been elected Art Editor of the Year Book.

Guests numbering twenty assembled Saturday afternoon at her home on Highland avenue, West Newton, and worked at knitting from 3 until 4 o'clock. A crowning feature of the pleasant afternoon was a surprise shower. In compliment to Miss Felton whose engagement to Mr. Lyman Warren of Chicago was announced recently, the young ladies gave a miscellaneous shower to their classmate.

A huge knitting bag was brought in which contained an assortment of beautiful and useful gifts. Tea was served in the dining-room and the table was decorated in pink and white the color motif being carried out in the refreshments.

The pourers were Miss Helen Hanscom, president of the Senior class at Miss Wheelock's School, and Miss Beryl O'Hara, the vice-president of the class.

PATRIOTIC MASS MEETING

Attracts a Large and Enthusiastic Audience at Bray Hall Newton Centre

The patriotic spirited citizens of Newton turned out in force Wednesday evening at the Mass meeting which was held under the auspices of the Newton Branch of the National Security League in Bray Hall, Newton Centre.

A large U. S. Flag formed the background for the stage and the National banners were also hung at the entrance of the hall. Before 8 o'clock every seat was filled. The Boy Scouts made a most creditable showing as ushers.

The Harvard Regiment Band gave a lively program of popular music including the National airs, and the music was greatly enjoyed by the large audience.

The meeting was in charge of Mr. George F. Spalding, treasurer of the National Security League which is working for Preparedness and for Universal Service, and which has a membership of 100,000 in the United States. Mr. Spalding introduced Mr. Frank H. Stewart of Newton Centre, who presided over the meeting and when it opened, the audience arose and sang two verses of "America."

The first speaker was Professor William Roscoe Thayer, who gave a clear and concise outline of the present situation. He said he was greatly impressed with the fact that patriotism is aroused in all parts of the country and men and women are getting in readiness to act. We are aroused because we are most intensely Pro-American. We have been badly treated. Our National rights have been trampled upon and our rights upon the seas have been denied. We have been patient, but when our life and liberty are put in jeopardy patience ceases to be a virtue. In this crisis, he who is not with us is against us. There is room for but one sentiment among loyal Americans. Our rights must be protected at whatever risk and at whatever cost.

It is not inopportune to speak on the final issues in which the United States is involved, Democracy and Despotism. We have been born in Democracy. Our ancestors gave us this great privilege and we have come to regard Democracy as something so good that might can destroy it. This Democracy is something that conflicts with the ideals of the past, the ideals that we sum up with the word Despotism. Every individual has his own personal rights. There has always been a privileged class, and this class in every country, we know, has had its day.

When we began our Revolution in 1775, we forever set up an actual protest against Despotism. This war the rising tide of Democracy.

We see now that this question must be viewed from the other standpoint. This nation is among the foremost in material, in industrial and scientific pursuits. The great war in Europe, today, is to see whether Democracy shall go down or whether it shall prevail. For this war, Germany was prepared; we Americans have hardly been aware of what was going on. We did not realize that it was the destruction of Democracy. We were deceived. Democracy came to us as a great trust, the Democracy which we inherited, and what have we done?

It is for us to preserve and strengthen this Democracy. It sounds exaggerated, but it is true that unless we bestir ourselves our Democracy will be in danger.

We had an idea that the British Fleet stood between us and the German navy. One of the greatest surprises to most of us has been the Propaganda the Germans have carried on here for the past two and a half years. This great Nation of one hundred millions springs from many nations and comes from many foreign lands.

How could any Propaganda go about the country, filling the newspapers with damnable negations that all civilized races have been against? Civilization means a community in which every member is sensitive to honor; a community which feels and practices mercy. Humanity is a larger form of mercy and the rights of civilization. That is Democracy. This idea of justice it has taken 100 years to impress on the hearts of men, and martyrs have died to make that impression, and this has been given in trust to us, the descendants of the men who fought in the Revolution and in the Civil War.

The German propaganda understood the value of this adoration and has had baneful influence on us for the past two and one-half years. Socrates in 400 B. C. said, "It is not life, but a noble life we are after."

Professor Thayer said he investigated at whatever risk and at whatever cost.

ORGAN RECITAL

Mr. Clarence Eddy Plays on the New Church Organ at Newtonville

A capacity house at the Church of the New Jerusalem greeted Mr. Clarence Eddy, the celebrated organist on Tuesday evening. Before eight o'clock every seat in the spacious church was occupied and chairs filled all available space.

A rare musical treat was accorded those who attended the recital and Mr. Eddy, who is one of the most accomplished and noted organists in the world artistically brought out all the beauties of tone in the new organ recently installed and demonstrated his complete mastery of his profession by the enthusiastic appreciation of his large audience. The soul-stirring compositions of the great masters were rendered with ease and proper understanding, and the intense and wonderful "Spirit of Music," permeated, possessed, and inspired the artist, which chiefly characterizes his playing and differentiates it from the purely mechanical. His great executive ability brought out in a marked degree the capabilities of the fine organ.

Mr. Eddy's repertoire is practically inexhaustible and of great range, and few if any, can equal him in quality and variety for in his performance nothing is lacking to fully meet the expectations of the most discriminating.

After a concert given by Mr. Eddy at the Paris Exposition of 1889 Alexandre Guilmant, the most famous French organist paid him the following tribute: Mr. Eddy's great virtuosity and his masterly interpretations elicited the warmest applause. We were astonished at the ease with which he was able to control the magnificent instrument of Cavaille-Coll, knowing that he had barely a few hours in which to familiarize himself with all its resources. Mr. Eddy is a great artist and he has won the esteem of French organists. For ourselves, we are happy to extend him our sincerest congratulations.

Following a recital at the famous Saint Cecilia Academy in Rome, Mr. Eddy was made an honorary member, and among the encomiums he received was the following expression from the great composer Sgambati: "He is one of the greatest organists of the present epoch."

Following is a list of the diversified selections with which he delighted his audience Tuesday evening.

1. Bach's Prelude and Fugue on B. A. C. H.
 2. Francois Conperin's "Soeur Monique."
 3. Martini's "Gavotte," arranged by Alex. Guilmant.
 4. Borowski's Sonata in A minor

27th ANNIVERSARY

Mt. Ida Council R. A. Celebrates its Birthday

Mt. Ida Council, 1247, Royal Arcanum celebrated its twenty-seventh anniversary on Monday evening at Newtonville, and entertained a large audience in Dennison hall, which was made very attractive for the occasion with decorations of red, white and blue, festooned about the chandeliers, and shading the lights. Mayor Edwin O. Childs was the guest of honor.

A well arranged program was presented under the direction of Dr. Chirurg, which included instrumental and vocal music and readings by members of the Emerson College of Oratory.

At the opening of the meeting, Dr. Chirurg welcomed the members and their guests, who had turned out in large numbers for this "family reunion," and introduced the Chief Executive of the City of Newton, who was received with the usual enthusiasm.

Mayor Childs addressed the company in his genial manner and expressed his great pleasure at being present on this notable occasion, and extending thanks to the Council for inviting him to their birthday celebration.

He congratulated the Council for its 27 years' standing for high ideals. No war, misery, or sin could exist if people lived up to its standards. Those outside of an organization, have to judge that organization by the men in it, whom they have met, and the members of the Royal Arcanum, whom the mayor has known, have always measured up to the standard as good husbands, kind brothers and loyal sons.

He believes that an organization like the R. A. is a real benefit to any community for it encourages thrift, and makes for happiness and good citizenship. Mayor Childs said that he would not be cruel enough to mar such an excellent program by a long speech, so would have to be brief, and with an amusing anecdote, closed his address much to the regret of his hearers.

The entertainment opened with an interesting monologue "Within the Law, Act 1" by Samuel S. Kern, student at Emerson College.

Miss Maude Bates Litchfield, soloist of Hotel Avery, sang with very pleasing effect, Schubert's "Linden Tree," and "Temple Bells," and responded to enthusiastic encore. She was accompanied on the piano by Mr. Louis Bloomberg. "Mice and Men," an amusing monologue by Miss Bertha D. Kaufmann of the Emerson College, was greatly enjoyed. Miss Mildred Colby of West Newton, contributed some pianoforte solos which were finely rendered, and she was liberally applauded.

ANNUAL MEETING

Newton Highlands Improvement Association Has had a Satisfactory Year

The 31st annual meeting of the Newton Highlands Improvement Association was held last Monday evening. The treasurer's report showed that the finances of the organization are in good condition and that the Community Fund has been increased by $100 through receipts from a Minstrel Show and Village Night.

Reports of committees indicated that the various needs of the village, such as street improvements, better lighting and sanitary conditions, had been taken care of and that the community spirit has been developed by Community Day and Community Christmas Celebrations.

Of the educational meetings from time to time the most important were the Forum meetings, an innovation conducted by the Association, together with the Newton Centre Improvement Association.

The work of the Improvement Association is appreciated by the community is evidenced by the cordial support given.

The following officers were chosen: President, Howard Whitmore; vice-president, Edwin C. Johnson; secretary, S. Arthur Thompson; treasurer, Donald D. McKay.

Chairmen of Committees: Bird, Mrs. Geo. H. Mellen; Community Affairs, Ray Huntsman; Forum, William D. Simpson; Membership, Henry W. Ball; Publicity, Irving M. Atwood; Public Parks, Edward R. Cogswell; Public Service, Edwin T. Cady; Social Welfare, Mrs. Emory W. Clark; Streets and Roads, Frank L. Richardson; Village Night, J. Butler Studley.

On Tuesday evening, March 20th, at 8 o'clock, in Lincoln Hall, there will be a talk on "Practical Hints on Gardening" by Mr. William N. Craig, superintendent of Faulkner Farm, Brookline.

Mr. Craig's interesting talk last year on this general subject is a guarantee that what he has to say on Tuesday evening will be interesting and instructive for all who are interested in flower and vegetable gardens.

All the people of the village are cordially invited.

HIGH SCHOOL CONCERT

Enjoyable Program Presented at Newton Technical High School

The Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs of the Newton Vocational High School and an orchestra and singers from the West Newton Music School, assisted by Miss Irene Forte, violinist, demonstrated their ability as singers and musicians on Friday evening to a large and appreciative audience in the Technical High School hall.

A remarkably fine program in two parts was presented which included compositions by the noted writers Gurliitt, Elchberg, Wieniawski, Cowan, Mendelssohn, Lee Montons, Grieg, Flemming, Emerson, Kreisler, Cui, and Hubay.

The program opened with an overture "The Marionettes" by the West Newton Music School Orchestra, each member of which is an artist of no small ability. The orchestra also played three selections, "I Would that My Love," "Gavotte," and "Sailor Song" and the audience was enthusiastic in expressing its approval.

The Boys' Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Horace M. Walton, instructor of Music in the Newton Schools, made an excellent showing and sang with wondrously pleasing effect, "To Thee O Country," "Integee Vitae" and "Over the Bright Blue Sea."

"Swallows," a duet was beautifully sung by Alvah Wheeler and Robert Carver.

The violin solos, "Legend," "Lieberlied," "Oriental," and "Hejre Kati" by Miss Irene Forte, contributed in no small measure to the general excellence of the program, the audience cellence of the program, the audience liberally applauded each number. Miss Forte is a member of the MacDowell Club Orchestra and a teacher of Violin at the West Newton Music School, and her technical proficiency is beyond all praise.

A cantata, "Indian Summer," included a soprano solo by Miss Viola Burns; Chorus of Reapers; Solo by Miss Alice Foley; Solo by Miss Dorothy Greeley; Chorus of Birds; Trio, "Breezes At Dawn"; Alto Solo; duet by Miss Alice Foley and Miss Dorothy Greeley; Chorus of Nut Gatherers, and Finale Aesthete "Thy Praise We Sing." The part chorus included the Misses Katherine Grassie, Pauline Kimball, Marion Parker, Ethel Spencer, Griffith Houston, Harriet Edmonds, Alice Foley and Ruth Paul, sopranos; the Misses Agnes Curtis, Marie Flemming, Viola Burns, Dorothy Greeley, second sopranos; the Misses Lovella Dodge, Jeannette Haldy and Elizabeth Head, altos.

The Girls' Glee Club was under the direction of Miss Edith M. Blake and the singers showed marked ability and the results of careful training. Miss Blake conducts the Girls' Glee Club at the Vocational High School and has private work at all three High Schools.

Choruses of Miss Blake's provided music for several large entertainments during past seasons, for some of which they were paid.

Mrs. Frederick H. Lesh was the accompanist.

accidents to the public as well as themselves. There were forty men present in the morning and sixty-eight in the afternoon. After each lecture, the employees were called upon to show their knowledge of applying first aid to the injured. After this, Dr. E. W. Bullock gave a very interesting talk explaining the reasons why the various methods were employed and cautioning the men to take every possible precaution.

HIS THIRD PROMOTION

Ellery Channing Wood of West Newton, who has been with the American Ambulance Hospital in France for four months, has recently received his third promotion for meritorious services, and has been commanded to proceed to Harve and take charge of the unloading and putting into commission of a new consignment of thirty motor ambulances. Mr. Wood has been put in charge of this new division and instructed to select his own drivers.

Wendell, of the Willey Hess Quartet in Berlin, and Mr. Arthur Hadley, cellist, formerly with the Boston Symphony Orchestra and recently of the Symphony Orchestra of San Francisco.
—The opening trio, a Spanish composition, arranged by Mr. Stoessel, and The Blue Danube Waltz, arranged by Mr. Copeland were among the many pleasing features of the program.
—All three of the artists played solos, and Mr. Stoessel's rendition of one of his own original compositions was greatly enjoyed.
—The program of modern music was one of the finest ever presented at the Club and among the French and Spanish Compositions, and the Artists received enthusiastic encore.

—At the monthly meeting of Changing Alliance on Tuesday afternoon Rev. Charles W. Wendell, D. D., gave an uplifting address upon "International Fellowship," in which he told of the origin of the National Federation of Religious Liberals and of the various congresses which have been held, the seventh and last one last week. In attempting to define the word liberal he said we must seek a more just, a more acceptable interpretation of the word, and described his conception by saying, "If a man is reverent toward others' reverences, that man is a liberal, no matter what his creed. The one who places the supremacy of the spirit over the letter. Liberals of this type are found in all religions of the earth. The Alliance Choir rendered several selections and at the close tea was served by Mrs. Harry Lutz and Mrs. Charles W. Wendell, when there was opportunity for a friendly chat over the tea-cups.

A regular meeting of General Hull Lodge, Ancient Order of United Workmen of Massachusetts, was held at Denison Hall, Newtonville, on Friday evening, March 9th, with a large attendance. Including District Deputy G. M. W. Andrew T. Carlin, and a number of visitors from Mizpah Lodge of Malden. Announcement was made of the sudden death by accident, of Brother Chester A. Parkhurst of Auburndale, who was struck by an automobile on Commonwealth avenue, on Friday evening, February 23rd, and by a singular coincidence, during the last meeting of the Lodge.

He left a wife and nine children. Prompt action by the officers of the Lodge resulted in the payment, within two weeks, of the amount covered by his certificate, to his widow.

Appropriate action was taken by the Lodge in memory of this deceased brother.

Brother Carlin and Brother Ransom of Mizpah Lodge, are both candidates for Grand Lodge officers at the coming session in April. As both are extremely popular in their districts, they will undoubtedly receive liberal support at the polls.

Boxing is enjoyed by the members of General Hull at the close of each meeting and some remarkably good scores are being made. Brother Kelly is Chairman of this committee, and plans are being made for a trial of skill between the General Hull team and those of neighboring lodges.

FOUR NEWTON CENTRE SALES

Henry W. Savage, Inc., report the sale of the large estate situated at 38 Lake avenue, consisting of a Colonial mansion house, conservatory, large stable summer house and boat house, together with about 70,000 square feet of land. This estate has a large frontage upon beautiful Crystal Lake. The total assessment is $30,500 of which $13,000 is on the land. Clara G. Andrews conveys to Ruth G. Cordingley who buys for a home.

Another exceptionally fine residence situated at 191 Lake avenue, consisting of a large single house with all modern appointments together with garage and 27,000 square feet of land has been sold by John A. and Belle Gardner to Annie E. Slapp, who after extensive improvements will occupy for a residence. This estate is assessed for $19,000 of which $6,000 is on the land.

The same brokers report the sale of the estate situated at 550 Commonwealth avenue consisting of a large single dwelling house and 35,380 square feet of land, for Boston University, who conveyed to George C. Dana. The entire estate is assessed for $11,000 of which $7,000 is on the land.

Also the sale of 19 Alden street, consisting of a single frame dwelling house and garage together with 11,339 square feet of land. Samuel Barkin et al conveys to Clara G. Andrews who, after enlarging this estate will occupy. The total assessment is $25,500 of which $2,200 is on the land.

Henry W. Savage, Inc., also report the sale of estate situated at 85 Newtonville avenue, Newton. Robert L. Young conveys to James E. Adams, the 2 1-2 story single frame dwelling house together with 6975 square feet of land. This property is assessed for $5009. Mr. Adams intends to remodel and occupy as a home.

GRIR'S TRIANGULAR DEBATE WON BY BROOKLINE

The annual Girls' Triangular Debate, which was held on Friday evening, March 9, between the girls' debating teams of the Newton, Brookline and Somerville High Schools, was won by the teams which represented the Brookline High School. The Brookline affirmative team defeated the Newton negative team at Newton, while the negative team from the same school won a victory over the Somerville affirmative team at Brookline. The Somerville negative team captured second place for that school by defeating the Newton affirmative team at Somerville.

The Newton teams made a rather poor showing, being defeated both at Newton and at Somerville.

The question which was debated at all three schools was the following: "Resolved: That California was justified in passing the Japanese Exclusion Acts."

The debate between Newton and Brookline was held in the hall of the Newton Classical High School. The Brookline affirmative team won a victory over the Newton negative team in a close and interesting contest, the result being in doubt until after the rebuttal of Miss Miriam Doan of Brookline. The Brookline team was composed of Miss Margaret Spaulding '19, Miss Dorothy Pollard '17, and Miss Miriam Doan '18, while the defenders of the Orange and Black were Misses Rimbach '17, Miss Dorothy Hall '17, and Miss Leslie Perkins '17. Miss Spaulding proved Brookline's best speaker, although Miss Doan presented the strongest arguments on the rebuttal. The best speaker for the defeated Newton team was Miss Rimbach. Miss Hallet also presented her arguments well. The visiting team won by virtue of more effective delivery rather than on superior arguments.

The chairman of this debate was Mr. Percy M. Blake. The judges were Mr. Guy Healey, Mr. Walter A. Ladd, and Mr. Francis K. Smith. The timekeepers were Miss Williams of Brookline and Miss Carter of Newton. There was dancing in the gymnasium after the debate.

On the same evening, the Newton affirmative team was very decisively beaten by the Somerville negative team at the Somerville High School. The Somerville team outclassed Newton, speaker for speaker, and displayed a knowledge of the subject which, in the opinion of many, was far above that of the average high school student. The winners were Miss Hadley, Miss Fulton, and Miss Hallowood. The last named speaker proved by the excellence of her argument and delivery that she is undoubtedly one of the best girl debaters who have ever represented a school team. Miss Fulton and Miss Hadley also spoke in a most creditable manner. The Newton representatives were Miss Jean Olmstead '17, Miss Wynna Wright '17, and Miss Mary Switzer '17. This debate developed into a contest between three speakers and one, since Miss Olmstead of Newton received very little support from the other members of the team. Newton was clearly outclassed, both in arguments and in presentation.

The chairman of the Somerville debate was Mr. Charles S. Clark. The judges were Mr. James J. Heelan, Mr. Charles Taylor, and Miss Hallowood. The timekeepers were Miss West of Newton and Miss Boothby of Somerville. A very enjoyable musical program was rendered by the Newton High School Orchestra.

Unusual skill in debating, as well as in preparation and knowledge of the subject, was shown at all of the three contests. This is the first year that the Somerville girls have not won the annual debate.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

A special meeting of the Senior Class was held in the Assembly Hall on Wednesday morning, March 14. After several matters of business had been discussed, Mr. Charles S. Thomas, head of the English Department, urged the students to support the Senior Play, which is the largest social event of the school year.

The Senior Play will be presented in the Classical High School Hall in the evening of Saturday, March 24. "Number 313" is the title. The play this year, written by two members of the Senior Class, is of the detective variety, being a mystery in four acts. It is to be presented under the auspices of the English Club, and is being coached by Miss Alice Carr of the English Department. Dancing in the gymnasium will follow the play. Tickets may be obtained at this school for seventy-five or fifty cents.

At a recent meeting of the Old Students Association, in the annual competition in literary essays, the first prize of forty dollars in cash was offered open to graduates outside of the school was awarded to Emily L. Thompson, Newton Classical High School, Class of 1915.

Baseball practice for battery candidates has been held in the gymnasium on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons for the past week. A fairly large number of candidates have reported. Owing to the graduation of Dick Comick, the team is likely to be rather weak in pitching this season. The most dependable box candidates this year seem to be Murphy, Sawyer, and Veo. Murphy was the second string pitcher last season and pitched an excellent game at Waltham at the close of the year. Manager Robert Irwin has completed his schedule for the coming season. Three games have been arranged with each member of the Quadrangular League. The schedule is as follows:

April 6, Watertown; 11, Natick; 14, Huntington; 17, Cambridge; 19, Boston Latin; 24, Wellesley; 27, Brookline at Brookline.

May 1, Melrose; 3, Cambridge at Cambridge; 5, Revere; 8, Brookline; 11, Somerville; 14, Rindge Technical; 16, Everett at Everett; 19, Waltham; 21, Wellesley at Wellesley; 25, Cambridge; 30, Brookline at Brookline.

June 2, Medford; 5, Wellesley; 7, Lynn Classical; 9, Beverly at Beverly.

All games are to be played at Claffin Field, Newtonville, unless otherwise stated. All games with Brookline, Wellesley, and Cambridge are Quadrangular League games.

The school hockey team will end its season in the most important contest of the year tonight, when the Newton team will play off its recent tie game with Brookline. The game will be played at the Boston Arena, and will start at eight o'clock. Newton has been greatly weakened by loss of players and lack of practice, but the team is confident of winning. A victory over Brookline would give the Newton team the championship of the Interscholastic League, while a defeat would create a top tie between Newton, Brookline, and Arlington. A large crowd is expected to accompany the team.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

Miss Mary Hopkins, Educational Director of Jordan Marsh Company, gave a most interesting and helpful talk to the girls of the Newton Technical High School on Wednesday morning, March 14. She made clear the qualifications required of the successful business girl of today.

Attractive posters of most original design adorn the corridors of this school, announcing the event of the season, the Senior Play, which will be presented on the evenings of April 13 and 14. "The Elopement of Ellen" is the title of the play. Rehearsals have now been going on for several weeks.

Mr. Arthur B. Stanley of the First Corps Cadets, and a member of the faculty of the Technical High School, entertained the Seniors at the Friday Assembly last week. He gave an interesting account of his experiences in the United States Army, and Mr. Stanley also showed lantern slides of the city and of many places of interest, giving all the students a very clear idea of the capital as it is today.

Mr. Roy Haggard, a former teacher of science in the Technical High School, has returned from Siberia, where he has been for more than a year engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in the Russian military prisons. He reports that there are more than a million and a half of German and Austrian prisoners in the prison camps along the line of the Siberian railway. They are well fed and housed and with the exception of the Prussian officers, are apparently content to be interned at a safe distance from the seat of war. Mr. Haggard was stationed at Chita, nearly four thousand miles eastward from Petrograd. In his talk to the boys of the senior and junior classes he described a trip which he made during the past summer through the Amur province and Manchuria to the Pacific port of Vladivostok. The country along the line of the railroad is being rapidly developed and is highly productive. The road is equipped with American rolling stock, while American farm machinery and details of the general machinery used in the U. S. Army are used throughout Siberia. Mr. Haggard plans to return to Russia, after the war closes, to engage in business as agent for American manufacturers of hardware and wood-working tools.

A series of debates is being held by the boys of the senior English classes on such timely subjects as government control of railroads, U-boat warfare, universal military service and other topics of the day. Much hitherto unsuspected forensic ability is being revealed.

The Junior and Senior boys have formed dancing classes which meet in the library on Wednesday afternoons. Mrs. Kunz is the teacher, while volunteers for service as partners are recruited from the girls' divisions of the upper classes.

Mr. Taylor of Brookline, a former science teacher in the school, will give an illustrated lecture on the economic value of birds at the Senior class assembly on Friday of this week.

20 years without repairs

Which is the more expensive roof?

The one that costs least at the start or the one that lasts longest?

RU-BER-OID costs a trifle more than other prepared roofings. But RU-BER-OID lasts for years and years without repairs.

It outlives others because it contains nothing that can crack, warp, run, rot, rust or leak. We know it to be the best and most economical roofing you can buy. Made in Slate Gray, Tile Red and Copper Green. The genuine has the "Ru-ber-oid Man" on each roll.

ARNOLD C. HEATH

Arnold C. Heath, second son of the late D. C. Heath and Nelly Lloyd Heath, died very suddenly of pneumonia, at his home, 1681 Commonwealth avenue, Thursday, March 8, aged thirty-three years.
Born September 10, 1883, at 147 Highland avenue, Newtonville, he passed his happy boyhood in Newton, fitted for College in the Newton High School and at Hopkins in Boston and entered Harvard with the Class of 1905. After his father's death in 1908 he went to the Bridgewater Normal School to study Education and Methods of Teaching, graduating in 1910. It was while teaching English there that he wrote the beautiful poems later published from time to time in the Transcript.
He loved the sea, had crossed many times to Europe and until the war had a home in Paris.
He was a member of the Quill Club in London and of the Tuna Club at Avalon, California. He was married February 12, 1914, by Rev. O. B. Clifford to Mildred Mae Symmes, granddaughter of Mrs. Henry Coolidge of Brookline.

Many beautiful flowers were sent by loving friends to the funeral services held at the home of his mother, 147 Highland avenue, Newtonville, Sunday afternoon, Rev. Richard Loring of St. John's Church officiated assisted by a quartette who, by request, included among their selections Tennyson's hymn "And may there be no moaning of the bar when I pass out to sea."

The quartet that furnished the music for Mr. Arnold Heath's funeral, Sunday, March 11, at 3 P. M., was made up of Miss Leslie Kyle, soprano; Miss Sallie Casey, alto; Paul Warren, tenor; and Alfred M. Russel, bass. They sang without accompaniment and very tenderly Abide With Me, Crossing the Bar, and Lead Kindly Light.

A FRIENDLY CRITICISM

The Organ Recital by Mr. Clarence Eddy at the Church of the New Jerusalem on last Tuesday evening was enjoyed by a large audience and no one could criticize the masterly performance of Mr. Eddy or the superb new instrument of the organ builder's genius.
However, and this is written in all friendliness, it is hard to understand by one who has taken a special delight in organ music for the last twenty-five years why Mr. Eddy, acknowledged by all to have one of the greatest repertoires, should find it necessary to include in his program so many compositions whose only claim for prominence is because of their bombastic sounds rather than the much to be preferred distinctive theme or melody.

To bring out all of the beautiful tonal effects of this wonderful instrument it should not be necessary to choose the work of any composer with such glaring and displeasing defects for there has been written an abundance of music free from them that are equally responsive to all the harmonic colorings this grand instrument is capable of expressing and certainly much more enjoyable to discriminating and appreciative music lovers and especially to A Lover of Melody.

AUBURNDALE SCHOOL AND HOME ASSOCIATION

At a Public meeting held at the Burr School Monday evening, March twelfth, Mrs. R. P. Gilman, Chairman of the Educational Committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club, presided—outlining the purpose of the meeting and introducing the speaker Mrs. Walter Leroy Smith, Organizer for Parent-Teacher Associations, who gave a very interesting talk on the many advantages to the children by close affiliation of parents with teachers.

The enthusiasm shown resulted in the organizing of an association to be known as the "Auburndale School and Home Association." Mr. George W. McNear acting chairman.

The following officers were elected: President, Mr. O. F. Herrick; Vice President, Mr. Arthur W. Hollis; Secretary, Mrs. Royal Heuter; Treasurer, Mrs. C. B. Bostwick; Auditor, Dr. Henry T. Keever; Director and Chairman of Hospitality Committee, Mrs. R. P. Gilman; Director, Chairman Program Committee, Mrs. Alfred Hansen; Director, Chairman Publicity Committee, Mr. R. B. Pierpont; Director, Mr. William Leighton, Principal of Auburndale Public Schools; Director, Mr. Charles E. Valentine, Ward member School Committee of the City of Newton.

All parents are cordially invited to join the association.

MRS. WM. H. LATHROP

Mrs. William H. Lathrop who is to speak at the Community Meeting next Tuesday evening, in the Classical High School hall, is a very busy woman. For several years before her marriage she was General Secretary of the Boston Associated Charities, and now, while not engaged professionally, she is devoting herself in a broader way to the furtherance of many of the most progressive movements in Civic and Welfare Work. Besides being an instructor in Simmons College she is a member of the Committee on Social Service at the Massachusetts General Hospital, on the Executive Committee of the Massachusetts Civic League, chairman of the Executive Committee of the American Association for Organizing Charity, and is Secretary of the Plan and Scope Committee Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross. This latter Committee is organized for immediate activity in directing Red Cross work. At the Community Meeting she will follow Mr. Coleman's address with remarks apropos of Newton's opportunities for civic advancement.

CHILD WELFARE CIRCLE

The regular monthly meeting of the Child Welfare Circle of Newton and Brighton was held Wednesday, March fourteenth at the Newton Public Library, Mrs. Simpson, the president, presiding. These meetings which are held every second Wednesday of the month at the Newton Public Library, are proving most interesting and pleasant and the ladies of Newton are urged to join and take advantage of its many benefits and pleasures. A paper on The Ideal Home was read by Mrs. W. E. Hodgson and the report of the Stoneham conference was read by Mrs. Chas. Fawcett. A letter from Mrs. Milton Higgins, The State President written while en route for Oklahoma, was read and enjoyed by all.

STATE BOYS' DAY

Plans are being worked out in careful detail for the State Boys' Day Campaign to be conducted by the Boys' Division of the local Y. M. C. A. next Saturday. On this same day Associations in most of the towns and cities will be observing the day with a similar effort. The money is divided alike in all cases, 50 per cent going to the local work, 25 per cent going for the work among boys of Massachusetts, 15 per cent for work among boys of North America and 10 per cent for work among boys in foreign lands.

Five teams of workers are being organized in Newton under the Captaincy of the following men: Mr. C. L. Ellison, Mr. S. A. Carling, Mr. F. E. Doubleday, Mr. G. A. Grace and Mr. W. H. Sears. A rally for all the workers on the teams will be held on Friday evening where the plan for the day will be explained in detail to the boys who are to do the hustling on Saturday.

All regular gymnasium classes and the Woodcraft League will be omitted on Saturday morning. The schedule for the morning is as follows:

8:30 Assembly of Workers
8:45 Final Instructions
9:00 Starting Gun Fired
12:30 Reports from Workers
Swimming Period
1:00 Free Lunch for Workers Celebration

The campaign is in charge of Mr. C. L. Ellison, Chairman of the Boys' Work Committee. The Campaign Office will be in charge of Mr. Warren K. Brimblecom. Mr. Arnold Macintosh of the Newton Trust Company will act as special treasurer for the day. The lunch will be served under the direction of Miss Emma Page.

A folder with the following information has been issued.

"The City of Newton spends 25 cents of every dollar raised by taxation for the education of its boys and girls. It is money well expended. It makes for good citizenship. Fifty cents of every dollar raised on March 17th will be used to make better citizens of the boys of the Newton Association. To what wiser use could your money be put?"

Our greatest need today is leaders—men of character and vision; men of moral force and brotherly spirit; men who estimate greatness by service. Just as the leaders in the civic life of Newton of today are the product of yesterday, so are tomorrow's leaders in the process of making. Upon this truth is based the work of the Boys' Division.

The Boys' Division of the Newton Association serves a wide field. Its membership is recruited from a dozen different centers in this community. An all around program of activities is carried on under the direction of two secretaries, W. H. Sears and G. A. Grace. It is making a definite contribution to the development of the boys' life in Newton. We ask you to have share in this work through your gifts.

Friends who find it more convenient may send their money or checks to the Boys' Division prior to March 17th.

The last of a series of athletic meets of the Suburban A. A. which includes seven Y. M. C. A.'s of Greater Boston, was held at Cambridge last Saturday night, the team from that place winning with 26 points. Newton, with 21, was second; Somerville, third, with 6, and Malden fourth, with 1. The summary:

20-Yard Dash—Won by Gray, Newton; Washington, Cambridge, second; Robecheau, Cambridge, third. Time 3 4-5s.

Three Standing Broad Jumps—Won by Peterson, Cambridge; Cousins, Newton, second; Hubbard, Malden, third. Distance, 29ft. 10in.

Running High Jump—Won by Cousins, Newton; Larsen, Cambridge, second; Eaughen, Somerville, third. Height, 5ft. 7in.

300-Yard Dash—Tie for first between Peterson and Washington of Cambridge; Miles, Somerville, third. Time, 35 4-5s.

12-Pound Shotput—Won by Welch, Newton; Vaughn, Somerville, second; Robecheau, Cambridge, third. Winning distance, 42ft. 7in.

Relay—Won by Cambridge (Peterson, Washington, Larsen and Robecheau), 1m. 23 1-5s; Newton, second, 1m. 25 4-5s; Somerville, third, 1m. 28 2-5s.

Newton, however, has scored the greater number of points in the meetings and therefore gets the cup.

LETTER CARRIERS REUNION

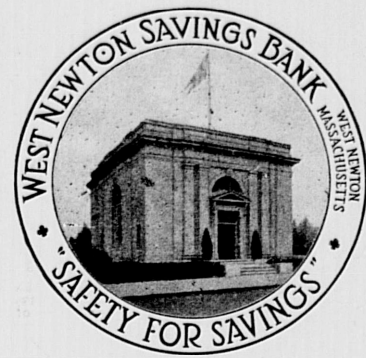

The Letter Carriers of the Newton office are affiliated with their brothers in the various cities and towns that make up the Greater Boston District.

At the present time they are very hopeful that their Annual Reunion, which has been arranged for the evening of May 16th, in Mechanics Building, is going to be a greater success than it has ever been before.

While the Reunion is in the nature of a pleasant event for them, its first purpose is to secure funds, at the present time very much needed, to assist them in caring for their sick and disabled.

Special Letter Carriers are being sent out to dispose of tickets in our section for this event, and it is hoped that there will be a generous response. Carriers F. C. Morgan and Dana Parks are acting on the committee from the local office.

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

The presence of a flag and the singing of America are gradually becoming regular features of club meetings and other gatherings both of men and of women. At the Presidents' Conference held at Quincy last week the salute to the flag was also called for. Anything which serves to stimulate patriotism in these critical days certainly should be encouraged. Let it be remembered, however, that the flag should come down at sunset, that its display upon buildings after the sun has gone down is considered a discourtesy. It has been a matter of surprise to many who have noticed flags still flying into the evening. Here is work for the club women.

This month's Bulletin of the State Federation contains the Annual Questions from the departments of work. Prompt replies from the clubs will greatly facilitate the work of the chairmen, for from these are compiled the reports submitted to the annual meeting. The Questions also are intended as hints of work which clubs might do at some future time, if they have not already been undertaken.

On March 20 the Abundant Review Club meets with Mrs. Arthur C. Farley, 251 Central street.

William W. Craig of Faulkner Farm will speak before the Newtonville Woman's Guild on March 20 on "Gardening." There will be music and a tea.

Mrs. Barret Wendell, president of the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness, will address the Social Science Club and the general public next Wednesday morning at ten o'clock in the Hunnewell Club hall. The meeting is open to all who may care to attend, no tickets being necessary.

LUNCHEON BRIDGE

Mrs. Walter Hart was the hostess at a very delightful luncheon and bridge party on Thursday afternoon at her residence on Oakleigh road, Newton.

St. Patrick emblems were used with pleasing effect in the decorations, the predominant colors being green and white. Luncheon was served at half past one, and covers were laid for twelve.

The table decorations were most artistic and effective, the central decoration being a large basket filled with white tulips, surrounded with small American and Irish flags, and green ribbons were arranged on the snowy paper and crossed with Shamrock. Three tables of auction were arranged in the living room, and attractive souvenirs were awarded those holding the highest scores. The winners were Mrs. J. J. Loizeaux, Mrs. Gould and Mrs. W. H. Cross.

Among the guests from out of town were Mrs. Frank Goddard of Lynn, Mrs. Carrie Gould of Newburyport, Mrs. William Martineau of Dorchester, and Miss Goddard of Lynn.

LADIES' NIGHT

The fourth annual banquet and Ladies' Night of the Newton Board of Trade was held last evening at Temple Hall, Newtonville, with an attendance of about 400.

The guest of honor and chief speaker of the evening was Senator John W. Weeks of Newton. Other speakers were George S. Smith of Newton, ex-president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and Rev. A. J. Muste, pastor of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. Mayor Edwin O. Childs was toastmaster.

Entertainment was furnished the diners by Miss Ethel Hinton and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Revere Knight. Singing and dancing followed the formal affair.

A more extended account of the meeting will appear next week.

NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB

A very successful bridge party for the benefit of the West Newton Day Nursery was held Monday afternoon at the Club. The members of the Auxiliary Committee and their friends were hostesses and about 60 guests took part in the game. At the close of the game refreshments were served. About one hundred dollars was realized.

The members of the Club enjoyed an informal knockout bowling tournament of the Boston Knobs on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Merrick G. Estabrook, Jr., of Hampshire street, were the winners.

MORE DIRECTORS

At the meeting of the newly-chartered Nonantum Cooperative Bank last evening six additional directors were elected. The president, Mayor Edwin O. Childs, presided, and the new directors are Malcolm F. McKinnon, Edward P. Leavitt, George R. Stratton, Thomas Driscoll, Joseph W. Downey and Edward J. Powers. The new bank will be started next month.

social hour which followed. Mrs. W. M. Leonard, chairman of the social committee was in charge of the program and Mrs. J. H. Turnbull of the refreshments. The president, the first vice-president and the two secretaries received informally. The membership of the club has now reached four hundred.

Both Tuesday afternoon and Tuesday evening found the Methodist Parish House at Auburndale filled to the limit of its capacity with members and guests of the Auburndale Woman's Club to witness the annual dramatics. The Irish play, "The Twigs of Thorns" was presented in a very creditable manner under direction of Mrs. M. E. Herron. The leading lady, Mrs. Austin W. Fisher, as Oonah, was particularly charming and held the audience with her throughout the evening. She was ably sustained by the other members of the cast. Those who took part were: Mrs. J. W. Bucknam, Mrs. Melvin Holmes, Mrs. Austin W. Fisher, Miss Miriam Herron, Mrs. Arthur W. Lane, Mrs. H. H. Longfellow, Muriel Conn, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. R. W. Peters, Mrs. H. Goldberger, Mrs. P. Waters, Mrs. E. U. Ufford, Mrs. J. W. Messenger. The fairy dance by Muriel Conn, the daughter of one of the members was graceful and effective with singing behind the scenes as accompaniment. The music by Mrs. John G. Lamb violin, with Mrs. Herman Noyes at the piano was also much enjoyed. On the committee with Mrs. Herron were Mrs. Chauncey Conn, Mrs. J. D. Lamond, and Mrs. Albert Palmateer.

At the meeting of the Home Economics department of the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Lotta B. Miller gave an interesting and helpful talk upon "Clothes," in which many good points were brought out. A model exhibited a number of gowns.

"America in the Philippines" was the subject of the paper given before the Social Science Club on Wednesday by Miss Cummings of Brookline, who had had an intimate acquaintance with the islands through her sister's long stay there and her own visit a year or two ago. Her description of the islands themselves, their wonderful resources, the great changes which have been brought about since Dewey's occupation in the year 1898, was interesting in the extreme. Great strides were made in the early years towards the wiping out of smallpox and other diseases, both among men and beasts. The placing of medical and surgical service of high order within the reach of the large number was characterized as the best thing which the United States has done there. The hospitals would do credit to any country. The policies of the present administration of putting more work into the hands of the natives has resulted in a letting down of quarantine and sanitary laws with a consequent increase of disease. The speaker considers that it will take years for the Filipinos to learn to govern themselves and deprecated the present tendency of the administration to rid themselves of the islands as soon as possible. The improved harbor and docking facilities, the fine public buildings, the good roads and other changes since the islands were taken over by this country were described. The American soldiers were spoken of as picked men of whom any one would be proud. Miss Cummings urged that the best men be sent out to take charge of things and that it is our obligation to do the best we can for the people.

On Wednesday afternoon the Pierian Club met with Mrs. H. E. Child of Chestnut street. Mrs. C. A. Chadwick under the title, "Noted Women of the State has given," gave a brief sketch of the lives of Clara Barton, Helen Day Nursery, Maria Mitchell, Louisa May Alcott, Mary Mapes Dodge, Charlotte Cushman, Harriet Hosmer, Lucrertia Mott, and Mary A. Livermore. Refreshment were served during the social hour.

The club is co-operating in a Red Cross Week, which promises to be a notable event in Upper Falls during the week of April 15. It will open with a mass meeting in Emerson school hall on Sunday evening, when there will be a speaker on Red Cross. On Monday the celebration will be continued with the flying of flags during the day and the burning of red fire at night. The united choirs of the village will sing patriotic songs around the school house flag. Tuesday will be campaign day, participated in by the Pierian Club and the Athletic Association. On Wednesday there will be a patriotic concert by the school children. Thursday, Patriots' Day, the program is in charge of the Athletic Association, a ball game being one feature, an exhibition by the Boy Scouts being another, while in the evening patriotic reels will be shown at the Auditorium theatre. The general chairman of the celebration is Miss E. W. Sabin to whom credit is due for the inception of the idea.

At the meeting of the Newton South Allies Relief in the Union Church, Waban, on Tuesday, March 20, Mrs. Barta will read letters from the front written by Mr. Birdseye to his mother. The letters themselves are of thrilling interest and Mrs. Barta's reading of them is well worth hearing.

Presidents' Conference

Junior membership was a point brought out at the Presidents' Conference at Quincy on March 8, which has not been emphasized before. In some clubs girls from 15 to 25 years of age are in this class, in some from 8 to 20, and upon attaining a majority or 25 years as the case may be, they join the club itself. Associate members were also discussed. Whether State officers should be invited to guest parties or regular meetings was answered by several members of the board, all agreeing that while they enjoyed parties, they could come in closer touch with the real club work, if they could be present at a regular meeting. Other points discussed were helpful to individual workers, but not of very general interest.

The conference men in the First Unitarian Church of Quincy, resting place of the two Massachusetts Presidents of the United States, John Ad-

WALTHAM CO-OPERATIVE BANK

Of the value of property may be loaned to those who wish to build or buy through the Waltham Co-operative Bank. Many prospective purchasers and builders are inquiring at the Bank about the Co-operative System, as only a small investment is necessary outside of the amount that the Bank will loan for those who wish to become realty holders. It is very probable that many transfers of property will be made during the coming months. If you are not acquainted with the advantages derived from the Co-operative Bank, call, write or telephone, Waltham 106 at once, that arrangements may be made for an interview.

DEATH OF MR. HILTON

Mr. Arthur St. Clair Hilton, a resident of Newton Highlands for the past twenty years, died last Saturday at his home on Lake avenue after an illness of about a year. He was a native of Lynn and had just passed his 72nd birthday. During his residence here Mr. Hilton has been active in the affairs of St. Paul's Church of which he was a member. He is survived by a widow and one daughter, Miss Marie Hilton. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at St. Paul's Church which was completely filled with his many friends and acquaintances. Rev. Louis A. Parsons, rector of the church, officiated. The interment was at Pine Grove Cemetery, Lynn.

CASE OF SUICIDE

Daniel F. Barrett of Worcester, who was arrested in that city on Saturday afternoon for drunkenness and released on probation Sunday morning, came to Newton Highlands on a Boston & Worcester car and called about noon at the home of James A. Scully on Wade street, near the Playground. He asked Mrs. Scully for a razor and shaving materials and was told to ask the man at the barn. His dead body was found a little later in the barn, with the head battered and bruised and the throat cut. The body was found by Mrs. Scully's young son and another lad. The case is believed by Medical Examiner West as one of suicide and the body was removed to Worcester on Monday.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Have been built and actually delivered to retail buyers since August 1, 1916. These figures—320,817—represent the actual number of cars manufactured by us since August 1st, 1916, and delivered by our agents to retail buyers. This unusual fall and winter demand for Ford cars makes it necessary for us to confine the distribution of cars only to those agents who have orders for immediate delivery to retail customers, rather than to permit any agent to stock cars in anticipation of later spring sales.

We are issuing this notice to intending buyers that they may protect themselves against delay or disappointment in securing Ford cars. If, therefore, you are planning to purchase a Ford car, we advise you to place your order and take delivery now.

Immediate orders will have prompt attention. Delay in buying at this time may cause you to wait several months. Enter your order today for immediate delivery with our authorized Ford agent listed below and don't be disappointed later on.

Felix Borowski is musical critic of the Chicago Record-Herald and president of the Chicago Musical College. The above composition is the first of two sonatas for the organ and dedicated to the famous French organist Alexandre Guilmant.

4. "Russian Boatman's Song" arranged by Mr. Eddy.
5. Bonnet's "Variation de Concert Opus 1 dedicated to Clarence Eddy.

6. Carbone's "Rhapsodie Triste," composed for violin and orchestra and arranged for the manuscript by Charles D. Irwin, organist of the Leyden Church, Brookline, Mass.

7. "Evening Chimes" (new) by H. A. Wheelton, a well known English composer and for several years organist of the Metropolitan Church at Toronto, Canada, in which there is a superb large four manual organ.

8. "Fountain Reverie" a delightful rippling composition by the talented young English organist, Percy E. Fletcher, and "Caprice," by William Wolsstenholme, the noted blind organist of London. "Evening," a charming expressive melody by the well-known English organist, Easthope Martin.

The closing selection was "Allegro con Fuoco," an exceedingly brilliant concert piece for the organ by a comparatively unknown Belgian composer, who studied with the famous organist Alphonse Maillay.

On this notable occasion, the church committee took the opportunity to express to the Hutchings Organ Company, their appreciation of the very generous fulfillment of their contract with the Church of the New Jerusalem.

MAKE 1917 A GARDEN YEAR

The seed-catalogues are beginning to arrive, and plans for the garden are being formulated. This season, when all are being affected by the H. C. of L., the garden should receive unusual attention. It is said that, exclusive of potatoes, a plot of land 100 by 150 feet is adequate for a family of six. Many books on vegetable gardening give suggestive arrangements for the planting of vegetables.

Prof. Liberty H. Bailey in his "Manual of gardening" says: "It is by no means necessary that the vegetable garden contain only kitchen-garden products. Flowers may be dropped in here and there wherever a vacant corner occurs or a plant dies. Such informal and mixed gardens usually have a personal character that adds greatly to their interest, and, therefore, to their value. It was the writer's pleasure to look over the fence of a Bavarian peasant's garden and to see a delightful medley of onions, pole beans, peonies, celery, balsams, gooseberries, cabbages, sunflowers, beets, poppies, cucumbers, morning-glories, kohlrabi, verbenas, bush beans, pinks, stocks, carrots, wormwood, parsley, carrots, kale, perennial phlox, nasturtiums, feverfew, lettuce, lilies."

Newton plays Brookline today at the Boston Arena. This game will be one of the best in the Intercollegiate Hockey League series, and will settle the championship of the Triangular League.

Newton will have the services of Austin Eaton, right wing, and should win. The teams are very even, however, and the game promises to be close and exciting.

AMERICAN PREPAREDNESS

The postponed meeting of the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness will be held on Monday, March 19, at 3.30 P. M., in the Newton Classical High School. Mayor Childs will preside. Mrs. Barrett Wendell, president of this Society will speak of its Construction and Educational Work. It is hoped a representative of the Red Cross will also be present and speak.

"Miss Purvis' Romance," by Miss Jessie Scott Hermistone, the Scottish reader, were among the pleasing numbers, and the audience showed its appreciation by frequent encore.

Two vocal solos, "The Old Country," and "Just Awearin' for You," by Miss Jessie M. Reid, with piano accompaniment by Miss Wheloe Mae Simonson, who was the pianist for the evening, and a well rendered cornet solo by Samuel S. Kern, completed the interesting program.

The fishers were Miss Bertha V. Robson, Miss Gertrude Spear and Miss Maude Rockefeller.

Following the entertainment a refreshment course was served.

It was one of the most successful social affairs ever given by the Council, and members and their guests were present from all parts of Newton.

PIANOFORTE RECITAL

The Pianoforte and Theory Students Association, pupils of Miss Helen Douglas, gave a recital on Friday evening at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Percy G. Stiles on Proctor street, Newtonville. A program of rare excellence was presented, and the pupils showed a marked improvement since the Fall recital. The program included thirteen numbers by such celebrated composers, as Moszkowski, Rheinberger, Devoll, Schubert, Opell, Grieg, and Kolling. The opening number was a "Duo; Immortelle" by Paul James and Miss Cunningham; "Hunting Song" by Miss Katherine Sheldon; "Boy Scout March," by Chester Hill; "Fox Hunt" by Winslow C. Auryansen; Duo: "Thru Field and Forest," by Thelma and Hazel Cunningham; "Valse Nobles," by Harriette Patey; "Shepherd's Song," by Dorothy Filene; "Jolly Darksies," by Edward Page; "Dancing Sunbeams" by Esther Stiles; Song, "A Falling Star" by Eleanor Martin with piano accompaniment by Jeannette Martin; "Heather Rose" by Gertrude Davis; "The Bell in the Valley," by Marion Sumner; Reading, "My Papa" by Kathleen Best; "Chase of the Butterflies" by Marion Burgess; "Wayside Rose," by Eleanor Tracy; "To the Rising Sun" by Louise Black; "Plundering Leaves" by Eleanor Richmond; "Grand Valse de Concert" by Elsa F. Haase; Serenata by Eleanor Martin; Reading, "My Sister's Beau," by Kathleen Best; "Rendezvous" by Herbert Stevens; "Papillon" by Jeannette Martin; "Violette des Bois" by Marion Maxam; Improvise Op. 5-No. 1, by Miss Katherine Auryansen; "En Antoine," by Miss Hazel Cunningham; "Alla Marcia in E" by Mr. Wallace E. Richmond, Jr.; "Impromptu in C sharp minor," by Miss Gertrude Barry; Composers notes, by Miss Gertrude Barry.

Herbert Stevens, Jeannette Martin, Miss Hazel Cunningham, and Miss Gertrude Barry and Eleanor Martin deserve special mention for the excellence of their work which was noted by the audience.

The audience was very large and showed its appreciation of each number by frequent applause.

LIFE-LONG RESIDENT DEAD

Francis E. Jennison, a life-long resident of Newton, died at his home, 15 Jefferson street, early Saturday morning. He had been in failing health for several years.

Mr. Jennison was born in Newton, 75 years ago. He saw three years of the Civil War, and served in the 12th Massachusetts Volunteers, during the Civil War, also in the commissary department of the Army of the Potomac. He was at Gettysburg, Cold Harbor and other important battles. He was a member of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R.

He is survived by a widow, two sons, Mr. Francis A. Jennison of Wellesley, Mr. William S. Jennison of Winthrop, and three daughters, Miss Ella E. Jennison and Miss Lucy A. Jennison of Newton, and Mrs. George O. Almy of Atlantic.

Funeral services were held on Monday at the Newton Cemetery Chapel charge of Rev. H. Grant Person of Eliot Church and were followed by the impressive burial ritual of the Grand Army and by the officers of Charles Ward Post.

POLICE NEWS

James Brown of 23 Douglas street, West Newton was before Judge J. C. Kennedy Tuesday morning on the charge of carrying a loaded revolver and a fine of $50 was imposed, which he paid. Brown was brought into court on the complaint of Edward Houston, another colored resident of West Newton, who told the court that Brown threatened him with a revolver last Saturday night.

It appears from the evidence that Brown was courting Houston's daughter and the men had had some disagreement. John Redmond, arrested Monday afternoon in Boston by patrolman Richard J. Goode on a charge of breaking and entering and larceny of silverware valued at about $1200 from the home of Robert W. Deane at 293 Prince street, West Newton, was also arraigned Tuesday morning on a similar break in the home of William B. H. Dowse at 218 Temple street, West Newton. The break into the Deane house was made February 12, and last night the inspectors were able to get an admission from Redmond that he also broke into the Dowse house last Sunday and stole silverware valued at $100. Entrance in both cases was made by breaking a rear pane of glass, and the goods were disposed of in second-hand goods stores, several pieces of which the police have been unable to recover. Judge Kennedy held Redmond in $5000 on each count until March 21, and in the meantime the police will endeavor to locate the other articles.

REAL ESTATE

Edwards & Byfield, John Hancock Building, report the sale of a lot of land on Union street, Newton Centre, directly opposite the railroad station, to Charles E. Trenholm of Belmont. The grantor was the Newton Building Trust. Lot contains 10,000 square feet and is valued at $1.25 per foot. The new owner will erect stores upon the land.

D. A. R. MEETS

The March meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., of Newton was held on Monday afternoon, March 12th, at the Newton Club house. Receiving with the regent, Mrs. Fessenden, were the hostesses, Mrs. W. S. Slocum, Mrs. J. A. Sprenger, Mrs. S. H. Woodbridge, Mrs. F. B. Bancroft.

The meeting was called to order at three o'clock, the regent presiding. The report of the secretary was read and accepted. It was voted to send $5.00 to the Philippine Endowment Fund.

A silver offering was taken amounting to $14.50 for the Heath School, this money to be used to purchase articles of clothing for children at this school.

The regent called attention to the conference to be held at Tremont Temple on Friday, March 23rd, to which all daughters of the D. A. R. are invited.

It will be of interest to learn that the Lucy Jackson Chapter has recently purchased the old Baury House at Newton Lower Falls as a permanent home. This house is something over one hundred years old and very well preserved. The committee in charge of the purchase feels that the Chapter is very fortunate in securing this property.

The afternoon was in charge of the Permanent Home and Finance Committees.

It was voted to increase the membership of the Chapter from 110 to 150. At the conclusion of the meeting two piano selections were rendered by Miss Elsie Sternberger, after which the usual social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostesses.

CHURCH NOTICE

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton, Player's Hall, Washington street, West Newton. Sunday service 10.45 A. M. Subject of lesson-sermon: "Substance." Sunday School 10.45 A. M. Testimonial meeting Wednesday 8 P. M. The public is cordially invited to attend the services and to use the Reading Room at 297 Walnut street, Newtonville, which is open daily from 2 to 6 in the afternoon, and on Tuesday and Saturday evenings from 7.30 until 9.

COLONIAL THEATRE—"Joan the Woman," based on the tragic life and career of Joan of Arc, which will be shown at the Colonial Theatre, with Geraldine Farrar as Joan, for a limited period beginning Tuesday next, is no mere fantasy of the motion picture director's fertile imagination. It is an accurately historical production in eleven parts, an entire evening's entertainment. It is the result of months of ceaseless intelligent study and preparation on the part of all who had a part in it, from Jesse L. Lasky, who presents it, from Cecil B. DeMille, the director, Miss Farrar, the gifted heroine, down through Wilfred Buckland, who is sponsor for the historical accuracy of such effects as costumes, armor, heraldry and buildings; William Furst, who wrote the incidental music with rare sympathy for the subject in hand; Alvin Wyckoff, who has introduced color effects of startling beauty and realism; and the supporting players, nearly all of whom are known and esteemed by lovers of both the screen and the stage.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—At the Plymouth Theatre on Monday evening next, March 19, Richard Walton Tully's thrilling production of "The Masquerader," with Guy Bates Post in the stellar part, will start upon its third big week. No play of the season has won such instantaneous success as has befallen this latest Tully production the past two weeks, and the large advance sale predicated capacity audiences again during the coming week. Mr. Post's performance in his difficult dual role has won him much praise, and the work of the splendid supporting cast has been much admired. The play, based upon the popular novel, has been staged with customary Tully skill and lavishness, particularly novel being the scene showing a London fog, while the beautiful garden scene is as alluring as any setting seen in Boston this season.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—A notable feature of the remarkably successful engagement of William Fox's million dollar picture beautiful, "A Daughter of the Gods" featuring the amphibian star, Annette Kellerman, at the Majestic Theatre which will enter on its third week, beginning next Monday, March 19th, is that there is no apparent diminution in interest or attendance. The story of the play is one of entrancing interest and displays Miss Kellerman's individual skill and wonderful figure to undreamed-of advantage. The engagement will positively end Saturday night, March 31st, last Saturday night a remarkable engagement of eleven weeks. In the meantime the 100th performance in Boston will be celebrated Wednesday afternoon, March 14th, by the distribution of beautifully mounted autographed photographs of Miss Kellerman.

WILBUR THEATRE—Irresistible cheerfulness, sustained by captivating melodies and smart dances, seems to pervade Ye Wilbur Theatre where the most delectable of all musical comedies, "The Blue Paradise," begins the seventh week of its highly entertaining engagement next Monday night, March 19th. Breaking down all the barriers of the show me" attitude adopted by many theatre-goers this merry musical lunge sweeps all before it with a tuneful gale of gaiety and bright humor. Especially alluring are the score or more of musical numbers, particularly the waltz song, "Auf Wiedersehn," with which this piece is endowed, and which have set a high standard among musical entertainments of this nature.

CASLE SQUARE THEATRE—The second and last week of "Hans und Fritz" begins at the Castle Square Monday evening. It is proving a delightful entertainment, especially for the children, who laugh uproariously at the antics of the Katzenjammer Kids, and at the clever animal impersonations by the Melino brothers. The chorus is a large one, the music is catchy, and the comedians are just as funny as comedians ought to be. "Hans und Fritz" is certain to have crowded houses during the remainder of its engagement at the Castle Square.

AUCTION BRIDGE

Brilliant Society Event at Newton Highlands for Allies Relief

Mrs. Henry E. Williams opened her residence on Norman road, Newton Highlands Tuesday afternoon for an Auction Bridge and Musicals, for the benefit of the Newton South Allies Relief Association.

The rooms were opened en suite and elaborately decorated for the occasion with U. S. Flags and flowers, the general color motif being carried out in each room. Mrs. Williams received her guests in one of the upper halls, and was assisted by Mrs. Seward W. Jones of Newton Highlands, and Mrs. Frank L. Richardson of Eliot.

The receiving line stood beneath an artistic arrangement of the U. S. Flag and a beautiful hand-painted silk State Flag five feet long, which had been presented to Hon. Seward W. Jones, when he served on the Governor's Council, and which he had kindly loaned for this occasion.

Thirty-two tables were arranged in the reception room and library on the first floor, two sitting-rooms, and in the billiard hall on the second floor, which was decorated with old battle flags, that had figured in the wars. A number of rubbers of auction were played, at the conclusion of which those holding top scores were presented with handsome little souvenir enameled American flags.

Following the awarding of the prizes the guests assembled in the dining-room which was made very attractive with the flags of the Allies adorning the panellings, and the dining table was decorated in yellow with jonquils, and centered with a large cut glass bowl in which these golden Spring blossoms were arranged, intermingled with ferns.

A refreshment course of cake and frappe was served under the direction of Mrs. Gerald H. Noonan assisted by Mrs. William A. Orr, Mrs. Elbert H. Allen, Mrs. George H. Mellen, Mrs. Charles W. Dillaway, Mrs. J. Douglas Thompson, and Mrs. Charles F. Johnson, Jr.

An enjoyable feature was the musical program which included soprano selections rendered very beautifully by Miss Lou Wallin, with piano accompaniments by Miss Hagerman. Miss Walling is a remarkably fine singer and in response to encore delighted the audience with some National airs ending with the Star Spangled Banner, in which the guests joined in the chorus.

During the afternoon there was a sale of candy under the direction of Mrs. Robert S. Ingram, and Mrs. Frank L. Richardson assisted by Miss Elizabeth Osgood, Miss Katherine Kingman, Miss Helen Allen, Miss Phyllis Coombs, and other young society girls of Newton Highlands.

This was distinctly a Newton Highlands affair given by Newton Highlands members of the Association and owing to the great demand for tickets, to accommodate the over-flow, Mrs. Arthur S. Williams of Hyde street entertained twelve tables; Mrs. J. S. C. Taber of Norman road, six tables; and Mrs. Charles F. Johnson, Jr. of Norman road, nine tables. All of these houses had large U. S. flags flying, and each house had a Special Aid Society poster to signify that they were in readiness to take an active part in this threatening crisis. The cardplayers at these houses joined the company at Mrs. Henry E. Williams' house at 430, for the musical and refreshments, where the most charming hospitality was extended to them by the hostess, who is Secretary of the As-

GOOD SPEAKING

At the Annual Banquet of the Newton Board of Trade

At the annual banquet last week Thursday evening of the Newton Board of Trade, the principal addresses were made by Senator John W. Weeks, Hon. George S. Smith of Newton Centre, and Rev. A. A. Muste of the Central Congregational Church.

Rev. Mr. Muste said in part: "I said fellow business-men a moment ago because I think perhaps there is a more real unit between your work in this community, and that of the ministers and churches in the community, than we sometimes realize. On the other hand I am in business, I am nominally at the head of a business that represents an investment in buildings, in a business that represents thousands of dollars, in a business that spends thousands of dollars. On my own books I am a business man, I have something to dispose of, a message. It is not always the message that the people like, as your goods are not always the goods that the people like.

"The message of all religion is just simply this. The thing we are here for in the world is not simply to take and to get all we can, but that we are here not only to think of number one and Mrs. Arthur S. Williams, but we are also here to think and look out for number two and three.

"Are not we getting a good deal of a habit of always asking a thing of the government? We go to the government with all our troubles for them to solve, but it is a sad day for a city or a nation when the citizens get the notion in their heads that the city or nation works for them and not they for the city or the nation. I do know that I owe America a debt that I can never pay. I am second, the nation, the community is first, and the nation isn't a trough around which we, the pigs, gather to get out of it all we possibly can, it is a flag after which we all follow.

Mr. Smith said in part: "My pleasure is particularly keen tonight at being here, for but two reasons. The first is this. In many years of public speaking, particularly along the lines of propaganda that urge the formation of Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce throughout the United States, this is the first opportunity that I have ever had to speak in my own city.

"The second reason is the opportunity to join with you in doing honor to the Senator from Massachusetts, who with his colleague, stands among the first ten statesmen by common consent in the government, and to say to you that in that exalted position, he could not be great if he were not what his closest friends know him to be, a high

PUBLIC SAFETY

Committee Organized Here to Aid in This Movement

The citizens of Newton have vigorously taken up the work of public safety and preparedness and have organized the Newton Committee on Public Safety with the purpose to do definite and practical work along the lines approved by the State Committee on Public Safety.

The primary object is to support Company C of the Fifth Regiment which has its headquarters at the West Newton Armory. The Company has now 105 members. It is proposed to recruit the Company to the full strength allowed by law and to establish a reserve company from which enlistments may follow later. General James G. White is chairman of the Committee in charge of this division of the work and will probably organize a reserve force for service in the guarding of public buildings and works and industrial plants. Headquarters will be at the Armory on Washington street. Captain Corneris of Company C has volunteered to provide drill masters. Building Commissioner Furbush has prepared for the committee a complete list of the places which ought to be guarded.

George F. Spalding will take charge of the public patriotic meetings to be held in various parts of the city. Mr. Spalding arranged the meeting of the National Security League at Newton Centre last week.

A census of active national guardsmen in the city, reserve officers in training, retired national guardsmen and eligible men between eighteen and thirty years of age is being planned. Available auto trucks will be listed. Special policemen may be named for emergency service. It is hoped to operate with and organize for conference all the women's societies now engaged in relief and preparedness work in Newton.

The Committee will have its headquarters at the Armory and hopes to enlist in its membership all the men, women and children of Newton and, with that end in view, has fixed its membership fee at one dollar. The officers earnestly hope to have twenty thousand members. Senator Weeks has given his hearty approval of this plan to co-ordinate and correlate the many active forces in the Newtons. The Mayor has taken part in the organizing of the Auxiliary.

Many men have already been active among them being: George Walker, John A. Penno, A. W. Blakemore, P. W. Stearns, George S. Smith, C. E. Rees, H. M. Bunker, Major F. P. Barnes, and others. It is hoped to ally the Boy Scouts for this movement.

MR. MASON DEAD

Splendid Record Made by Member of an Old Newton Family

Edward Haven Mason, president of the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital, a lawyer of sterling character, and high professional standing at the Suffolk Bar, died suddenly on Wednesday afternoon, in his apartment at Hotel Tulleries, Boston, after an illness of several months.

Mr. Mason was born on June 8, 1849, in Newton Centre, Mass. He was the son of David Haven Mason, the eminent lawyer, formerly United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts, and of Sarah Wilson (White) Mason, descendant of John White, an early settler of Haverhill, Mass. He was a direct descendant of Capt. Hugh Mason, one of the first settlers of Watertown, Mass.

Mr. Mason was educated in the public schools of Newton, and was only eleven years of age when he entered the High School. He graduated from Harvard College with the Class of 1869, and three years later received the degree of Master of Arts. After graduation he studied law in his father's office in the old Tudor Building, Boston, and in 1872 was admitted to the Suffolk bar. He practised law continuously from that time until shortly before his death, devoting himself chiefly to office consultations, trust responsibilities and corporation law, acting at various times as counsel for over thirty railroad corporations.

During his practice of nearly forty-five years, his scrupulous fairness, legal acumen and the careful preparation of his opinion made him widely and honorably known among the members of his profession, while his sterling integrity and fidelity to his clients gained him the confidence and respect of all with whom he came in contact. He became a member of the Bar Association in 1893, and in 1895, was admitted to practice in the United States courts. From 1876 to 1902 he was an associate justice of the Newton Court. He took an active part in the affairs of his native city, having been a member of the Newton Common Council from 1882 to 1886, an alderman in 1885 and 1886, and a member of the school committee for several years.

Although vice-president of the Newton Trust Company, and a director of several business corporations, in addition to his legal work, Mr. Mason became a trustee of the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital in 1899, vice-president in 1908, member of the Hospital Committee in 1909, and President in 1912, remaining in that office

CHARTER OBJECTION MADE

To Acceptance of Acts to Retire Members of Police and Fire Departments

Alderman Goodwin was the only member absent from the meeting of the aldermen on Monday night, President Early presiding.

Considerable opposition developed to the matter of a sewer in Adella avenue, West Newton, a representative of Cecil Ogden speaking in favor and remonstrances filed by Fred C. Garmond, D. W. Robinson, F. D. Wellington, Thomas Kellar and F. R. Furbush. The sewer was subsequently ordered laid.

No one appeared at hearings on petition of J. W. Crowell for a 1000 gasoline tank on Commonwealth avenue and of the Edison Co. for pole on Jewett street.

Mayor Childs sent in a report of the City Engineer relative to boundaries of land sold by city near Lowell avenue ledge, recommending $518 for better lighting of Watertown street, Nonantum, submitting appointment of Dr. C. A. Bouteille as Inspector of Animals, for $300 for plans for proposed addition to City Treasurer's office, and recommending that acceptance of acts relative to retirement of firemen and policemen be postponed until after adoption of the budget. His appointment of O. T. Bourdon as a private detective was confirmed.

The American Machine Vending Co. offered to furnish 4 to 6 machines for use at the Constitutional Convention primary and election for $25 each. Invitations to attend the Gymnastic Exhibition of the Y. M. C. A. on March 23-30 and the Prize Drill of Co. C on March 23 were accepted.

Petitions were received from I. Frankel, for license as second hand dealer, J. T. Halfrey for auto express, Hurley Bros. and T. M. Stuart Co. for permits to keep explosives, for the laying out of Cross street, ward 2, for sidewalks on Maple street, to enlarge Telephone conduits on Elmwood street and for laying out on Bonad road and for raising sidewalk on Pleasant street. Permits for various private garages were granted.

On recommendation of committees, leave to withdraw was granted H. G. Marion for permit for jitney service on Boylston street, to Barkin & Gofinkle for private garage on Commonwealth avenue, to F. R. Parks and C.

N. Sabin on claims for damages by automobiles. The Edison Co. was granted a relocation on Ward street, $250 was authorized for better lighting on Watertown street, certain sewer assessments and charges were levied, hearings assigned on laying out of Bonad Colbert and Howland roads. Workmen's compensation granted to William Cronin, orders passed for Constitutional primary and election, the water ordinance was amended to allow for more frequent billing for water used, and the legislative act to pay money to widow of W. E. Young was accepted.

The Mayor's Address Committee reported that school house inspection for fire hazard conditions should be under control of Fire Department and should cover other public buildings as well.

An important report was submitted by the select committee on Garbage, the gist of which is as follows:—

REPORT ON GARBAGE

The committee reports that while no actual record is kept of the amount of garbage collected in the city, it has made careful estimates and believes it will average not less than 15 tons per day, with a selling price of $40 at the Lexington street yard or $12.450 per year of 312 days. The garbage is fed to swine and allowing that one half the amount collected when converted into salable swine was worth double the above sale price, the committee estimates that its value to the contractor was about $18,000, plus the contract price of $13,000 gives a total revenue for the contractor of about $31,000. The committee gives figures of expenses incurred by the contractor in collecting and disposing of the garbage, with an equipment cost of $13,050, depreciation of 15 per cent, or $1958, a 3 per cent interest allowance or $552.50, liability insurance of $150, taxes $150, and operating expense of $17,855 making a total expense of $20,766 and a net profit to the contractor of $10,234.

The committee notes that the cost of this work in 1911 was $6000 or 14.8 cents per capita while in 1916 the cost was $13,000 or 29.7 cents per capita. Quincy, with about the same population and area, spends $3205 or 19.8 cents per capita for this work. Brookline has a net cost of $6,850, or 19.8 cents. Waltham, $3000 cost or 9.9 cents. Brockton, cost $5523 or 9.5 cents. Fall River, net cost $12,000 or 10 cents.

The committee calls attention to the favorable location of Newton for swine raising to the west and northwest. The committee believes that the cost of garbage should not exceed $8000 per year, and that the excessive price of $13,000 was due to the failure to appreciate the opportunity to dispose of the garbage in a profitable manner.

EDITORIAL

While the aldermen spend considerable time in debating the punctation of the new ordinance relative to the collection of waste, the effect of this measure on the citizens of Newton is never given a thought. The requirement that ashes shall be placed in metallic receptacles is one that affords hundreds of small householders quite seriously, if it is enforced. The matter of carting away lawn clippings, while a great convenience to many, will add at least $1500 to the expense of this work, without even a word said in the meeting on that subject. It is possible, of course, for this new ordinance to be enforced, or enforced in such a fashion as to create little friction, but doubtful things are always uncertain, and important matters like these ought not to be left to the discretion of any city official.

The aldermen have considerable food for thought in the garbage report submitted to them this week. The figures sent in by the committee seem to be thoroughly substantiated and it is evident that the contract price paid for the past five years has been greatly in excess of what is fair and reasonable. The only doubt cast on the situation is the fact that the present contractor has had little, if any competition, in securing this contract, in the past. The figures of the committee will certainly open the eyes of other contractors and we look for a few more bidders when the next contract is awarded.

In the present crisis affecting our national honor, every good citizen should refrain from a too explosive form of patriotic fervor as well as from the indifference of indolence. What is imperative is a wise and sane counsel looking to the best plan for preparation—not for war but for our own protection. We should have done this years ago and not waited until our preparations are spurred by haste, with resultant loss in efficiency and economy. Let us do what we have to do in decency and in order and do them in such a way that lasting good will come from them.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Representative Allen's bill for old age annuities was heard this week by Social Welfare and was opposed by representatives of the Savings Bank Insurance Dept. as a duplication of effort, by the State Board of Trade, who wanted postponement until more favorable times, and by the advocates of the non-contributory old age pensions. Mr. Allen explained the features of his bill which have already been noted in this column. Mr. H. W. Kimball for the Savings Bank Insurance department said that in Canada where a similar plan was in operation there were only about 4000 persons who had taken advantage of the plan. There had been but little response also in Wisconsin. He favored more assistance to the Savings Bank Insurance plan.

The Legislature established a new record this week when it passed a bill placing $1,000,000 in the hands of Governor McCall for the defence of the state and nation. Within less than two hours and a half, from the time the message was received from the governor, the enacted bill was laid before him for his formal approval. Mercantile Affairs has voted to report favorably the bill of the Mass. Anti-Saloon League to make the post-press law permissive instead of mandatory. The present law states that the aldermen "shall license one or more" such expresses. The amendment changes the word "shall" to "may." There may be quite a fight against the measure in the House but there is no good reason why the bill should not pass.

As predicted last week, the bill to require meters on telephones used for limited calls was defeated, the vote in the House on Monday being 8 to 134, all three Newton representatives being recorded on the negative side. Newton was given an unusual and unenviable notoriety this week when Representative Jarvis led the fight of the money lenders, otherwise known as the "loan sharks" for an amendment to the present law limiting their interest charges to 36 per cent. The bill was adversely reported by Mr. Jarvis' committee, and he took the floor Wednesday afternoon to urge the substitution of the bill. Mr. Jarvis felt very keenly the financial stress of the loan sharks, 30 of whom he said had been forced out of business by the present law. The measure was characterized as the "rottenest bill before the House this year" by Mr. Rowley of Brookline, and the debate brought out the fact that the bill by allowing certain indefinite amounts to be charged for "overhead," might entail a charge of 72 per cent per annum for loans to poor people. Mr. Jarvis' influence in the House was shown by the vote yesterday afternoon of 180 to 21 against his motion.

SUFFRAGE MEETING

Mrs. Freedom Hutchinson opened her home on Centre street yesterday afternoon for a meeting of the Newton Equal Suffrage League. Mrs. Frank P. Scofield, the president, presented Miss Laura Clay of Kentucky, a niece of Henry Clay, who gave a forceful address on "Ballots for Both." After discussing the principles underlying woman's suffrage, saying that there is no argument against the right of women to vote that can't be held against the right of men to vote, she said that the taking away of industries from the home has forced the women and girls into the open markets of the world. This exodus of women from the home was never done voluntarily by them. More than 8,000,000 women now in the labor markets of the world. They have entered all trades with a very few exceptions. The ideal woman described in the Book of Proverbs is far from being the "clinging vine" modern idealists have portrayed her to be.

Since Kansas gave the ballot to women the death rate has been going down, the same is true in Chicago. In that city formerly a large sum was paid for the carrying off of the garbage, now since women have had a hand in things it is sold for a profit. Where women have not the ballot reforms are secured only through much labor and a great expenditure of time, so that the ballot is really the great labor saving device of the age.

Before 1920, the speaker predicted, most of the states will have granted at least presidential suffrage. In Indiana by the recent law women are to vote for delegates to the constitutional convention and are to have a vote on the referendum. Arkansas has found a way to allow women to vote, by amending its primary law instead of its constitution. Oklahoma has passed a bill for a referendum in 1918, which now only awaits the governor's signature to become a law.

The claim that Wilson's re-election was due to the women's votes is leading the democratic party to take notice and it is thought that Southern conservatism may be overthrown for the sake of party advantage. In response to questions concerning conditions in the South Miss Clay stated that there are active suffrage associations in all the states, that there is not the bitterness of feeling between those in favor and those opposed as in the North, due to the fact that there the suffrage question has not been mixed with other earlier struggles that have previously aroused strong antagonism. Kentucky, where Miss Clay lives, has a liberal school suffrage law gained through the efforts of the Federation of Women's Clubs. The address was logical and convincing and the speaker a woman of most interesting personality.

DARING RESCUE

Mr. Francis McCourt, agent at the Newton Lower Falls station showed the stuff of which he was made on Wednesday night when he plunged into the cold waters of the Charles River and rescued Miss Catherine Keough of Weston. Miss Keough and Miss Mary Curran were crossing the river on the railroad trestle near Lower Falls when they became frightened at an approaching car. They ran along the trestle until Miss Keough fell off into the water below, while Miss Curran collapsed on the floor of the trestle. Mr. McCourt head of the accident and running to the spot jumped into the river, but was nearly exhausted when he reached her and he had hard work to bring her to the shore. Both were given good care and are none the worse for their trying experience.

HILLSIDE SCHOOL

Prominent society ladies of this city are interested in a recital to be given next Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock at the Copley Plaza hotel, Boston, for the benefit of the Hillside School for Orphan Children. The artists are Signor Brancasca Sabasta, Neapolitan tenor, Miss Rosetta Key, lyric soprano, and Mr. Raymond R. Laughlin, cellist.

until his death. He was a member of several clubs and organizations including the Boston Art Club, the Harvard Club and the Brae Burn Country Club.

On February 1, 1877, he was married to Lelia Sylvia Nickerson, the daughter of Thomas Nickerson, formerly president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and Mexican Central Railroads. His widow and their three children, Mrs. H. Stanley Hyde of Brookline, Miss Ella S. Mason, and Mrs. Harold P. Mills, of New York, survive him.

The funeral services will take place at the First Baptist Church at Newton Centre on Saturday, at two o'clock.

MINSTREL SHOW

A capacity house greeted the Central Club Minstrels on Monday and Tuesday evening in the Central Congregational Church and the Show proved a gratifying success, the cast appearing as one luminous galaxy of stars reflecting great credit on those who directed the performance.

Mr. William E. Strong made a decided hit as interlocutor and the endmen, Robert Boyden, Chauncey Waldron, Augustus Wakefield and Maurice Moore, certainly made good and created considerable merriment with their amusing repartee and local jokes. Their negro dialect was good and as black-faced comedians they were very witty and scored a tremendous success. Mr. Raymond Tucker, tenor, and Mr. Thomas Cotton, baritone, contributed some vocal selections that were immensely enjoyed by the audience who encored them enthusiastically. The opening chorus "Minstrel Town" was sung with pleasing effect by the entire company, and Mr. Robert Boyden in the end song "How's Every Little Thing in Dixie," and Mr. Raymond Tucker in the ballad "Indiana" were liberally applauded.

Mr. Augustus Wakefield scored in the end song "Brutus Caesar Anthony Lee," and "Turn Back the Universe" by Thomas Colton. Tropical Song by Chauncey Waldron, and "Shoot the Rabbit" by Maurice Moore, were among the best on the program.

Mrs. Augustus Wakefield was the accompanist. "The Cotton Twins" Miss Mae Cotton and Miss Wilhelmina Cotton proved themselves very excellent entertainers and played a banjo duet, exceedingly well. They were blacked up and appeared in the role of pickaninies in overalls and big straw hats. The entertaining program closed with two charming vocal duets by two charming singers well known in musical circles; Mrs. Augustus Wakefield, contralto, and Mrs. H. Belden Sly, soprano. Mrs. Harlem Lockey played the accompaniment. The chorus included Messrs. A. D. Auryansen, G. W. Auryansen, C. E. Bevan, W. C. Boyden, Donald Hill, Stewart Hill, B. F. Kenney, E. P. Leonard, Rev. A. J. Muste, Robert Nagle, F. W. Rust, P. G. Stiles, W. H. Sears and P. R. Ziegler.

It is interesting to note that the words of two of the songs "Minstrel Town" and "At the Central Club" were written especially for the occasion by Mr. Edwin C. Vose of Cabot street.

This very successful performance was given under the direction of Mr. H. Belden Sly, and efficiently staged by Mr. Horton S. Allen.

HONOR WITHOUT WAR

A most enthusiastic and exciting meeting was held Thursday evening in Bray Hall, Newton Centre, under the auspices of the Emergency Peace Committee of Massachusetts. When three speakers, Rev. A. J. Muste, the eloquent pastor of Central Congregational Church, Professor Hudson of the University of Missouri and Mr. Brent D. Allinson, president of the Harvard International Polity Club, advanced some strong and urgent reasons why the United States should not engage in warfare.

The meeting was in charge of Miss Mildred Lucy Clark, president of the Young People's Christian Association of Eliot Church, Newton. It opened at 8 o'clock and the audience arose and sang "America, The Beautiful." Miss Grace Horne of the Emergency Peace Society of Boston presided at the piano.

In his opening remarks Rev. Mr. Muste explained how the Emergency Peace Committee was organized in New York, when the relations between Germany and America became strained. The Boston friends of peace decided to follow the example of the Emergency Peace Committee in New York and those interested in keeping peace formed the Emergency Peace Committee of Massachusetts with headquarters in the Walker Building, Boston. This meeting was called for the purpose of showing how to handle the question in the present crisis. Mr. Muste believes that the interests of mankind will be best preserved by the U. S. keeping out of this war. In this solemn hour of our Nation's history, we ought not to use our military and naval forces against Germany. We are not in a state to go to war unless we choose and we must reckon on the financial cost. The Allies are spending 25 million dollars to destroy; 25 million for destruction and taking away from construction.

He spoke of the energy expended by the working classes; putting men, women and children at hard labor to make weapons to kill with. We are putting a tax on our children for centuries to come which will be a burden on our children. Think of the cost in health and life. Five million dead men and five million wounded, five million children stunted; eight hundred thousand Armenians massacred. Consider the ethical and spiritual cost of war. Think of what it means; of the hateful spirit of men who engage in war, and forget all about the value of human life. Think of what it means in the way of suppressing Christianity, and of the immorality which it encourages. Why should we go to war? Is it because American ships have been interfered with? For the sake of keeping up the profits of shipping are we to spend millions? Are we to plunge the U. S. into this war, the sake of these fighting countries? They say it is a war for Democracy on the part of the Allies. If we enter this war it will be a suspension of liberty. We want to consider in this terrible crisis whether it will not be better for our Nation to keep out and invest our money in reconstruction in Europe and Asia Minor instead of furthering the destruction of submarine marauders. War is not the best way for us to save Christianity. Civilization is to get into this war or to keep out of it. If one really believes in the spirit of Jesus he cannot come to the conclusion that war is the best way. The whole New Testament would have to be re-written to advocate such a course. If Germany sinks our ships we must sink Germany's ships. If we oppose the war we must do it on reasonable Christian grounds. It is up to us to choose, and God help us to do it.

A more detailed account of Mr. Muste's address, and the addresses of the other two speakers will be given in next week's issue. CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—A novelty of no little interest will be seen on the Castle Square stage next week, when Thurston will begin a limited engagement that will offer a varied entertainment of magic, sleight of hand and specialties. Thurston has held for ten years the foremost position in the ranks of the profession in which Herrman and Kellar won lasting distinction.

Thurston will bring to the Castle Square many new special features. This year he will provide novelties that are not only mysterious, but uncanny in character, which proves that the Egyptians had only the alphabet of fooling after all. Most of his new mysteries deal with life in the after-world, such as the manifestations of spirits and the materialization of ghosts.

"ERMINIE"

The famous opera "Erminie" will be presented by the members of the Newton Amateur Opera Association on the evenings of May 8, 10 and 11. William G. Hambleton is the producing manager, and William Wolf is the stage director. The performance will be given in Players' Hall, West Newton.

LAST BONUS VOTE

Only 10 Days Left to Hustle for Graphic Automobile

With about ten days left for the candidates in the automobile contest to secure the needed votes for the grand finale excitement as to the final outcome is increasing.

The active candidates are very closely bunched in the vote exhibit as given and while each one is known to have some reserve votes which will be dumped into the count at the end no one can tell when he has enough, so all possible energy should be in evidence during the few important days which remain in which to hustle. The organizations can now show their qualities for aiding the favored candidate and further their own interests as well by doing their mite at this important period.

The special prize of ten dollars which was offered to the one candidate who reported the greatest amount of subscription business during the two week period ending with Thursday night was won by Mrs. May Swett, of West Newton. Verification of this award will be made by the judges at the close of the contest. The last bonus vote offer which will be given is for this week and is for 10,000 votes for each fifteen dollar report.

The contest does not close until Tuesday night, April 3rd.

Candidates will want to make as large reports as possible for the contest week ending next Thursday night to appreciate on the bonus vote offer. As much business as is desired may be brought to the office on Tuesday, the closing night.

The final count will be in the hands of three competent and disinterested persons who will make the findings and announce the winners accordingly. No coupons will be counted after next week as the one which appears in today's issue of the GRAPHIC expires.

The closing plans of the contest are very simple and will be given in full next week.

The officers of the Committee are: president, William F. Garcelon; vice-president, General James G. White; treasurer, Edwin M. Richards.

So far as appointed the committee chairman are as follows: Committee on Recruiting and Public Safety: General James G. White, chairman; Committee on Special Police, Mayor Edwin O. ALL NEWTON STAMP CLUB

An exceedingly interesting and entertaining meeting of the All Newton Stamp Club was held at Small Players' Hall, West Newton, on Sunday, March 18th at three P. M.
There were seventeen members and one guest present. The speaker for the occasion was Mr. J. S. Bell of Somerville, who showed the Club his wonderful collection of the former Danish West Indies, a subject extremely apropos at the present time, and his cancellation collection of old U. S. stamps.
There were examples of the cracked plate, of the Danish West Indies, and the stars, Maltese crosses, the "iron cross," as one member facetiously remarked. The cartwheel, horse heads and pin wheels, all pounded on to postage stamps, were a marvel and a revelation.
The whole Club took great interest, in this unusually excellent entertainment, and unanimously gave Mr. Bell a vote of thanks.

REAL ESTATE

The following sales have been made through the office of Alvord Bros.:

The Newton Forge and Carriage Co. has sold to J. B. Warner, et al., Trustees, the property 778 to 782 Beacon street, Newton Centre, consisting of about 19,000 square feet of land and several buildings used for blacksmith shop, carriage painting and harness shop and stable, the whole assessed for $16,600 of which $5100 is on the building and $11,500 on the land.

Mrs. E. F. Veldore has sold to A. White the estate 998 Beacon street, Newton Centre, consisting of a single frame house and about 9000 square feet of land, the whole assessed for $3,500 of which $1,800 is on the house and $1,700 is on the land.

WILBUR THEATRE—"He Said—And She Believed Him," an original farcical comedy written by Frances Nordstrom will receive its first presentation on any stage at Ye Wilbur Theatre next Monday evening March 26, with Mary Young as the featured player. The comedy, which is in three acts with scenes laid in New York City, tells the story of a popular doctor whose special method of treatment of his fashionable female patients who are suffering from imaginary ailments, is misunderstood, with the result that several of them fall desperately in love with him, including the impressionable young wife of a Professor who has written a book whose subject is the marriage relation of couples with incompatible temperaments. The complications which ensue furnish no end of ludicrous situations and innocent fun.

DR. DANIEL FISKE JONES TELLS OF HIS EXPERIENCES WITH THE HARVARD UNIT

An audience that taxed the capacity of Channing Church last Monday evening assembled to hear the experiences of Dr. Daniel Fiske Jones with the Harvard Unit last fall. Sailing from this country last August nothing unusual presented itself upon the voyage until he reached the Irish Sea, where the small British patrol boats were everywhere evident. Once on land everywhere station platforms were crowded with men in khaki. The appearance of London in the daytime would not have indicated that anything was going on, save that all the conductors on the trains were women. There were plenty of taxis, but the gasoline was not plenty. The hotels were crowded, and also the theaters. It is crowded with officers everywhere. At night, however, it was very different, owing to the darkness, and he stated that more people have been killed by automobiles in the darkness than from Zeppelins. Proceeding to France, the channel was crossed in perfect safety. The part of France where he was located is absolutely filled with convalescent homes, and hospitals. In his particular unit there were 23 surgeons, 4 dentists, 75 nurses. In push times they cared for 2,300 patients, but in ordinary times about 1,700 beds. In three weeks 9,000 patients were treated. Of this number but 144 died in the hospital, though others must have died after going to England. They kept them only long enough to get them into shape to be sent home. The experience, he said, was an interesting one, but from a scientific point of view not of very great value, as the cases were of the most ordinary kind, so very terrible, such as he hoped he may never have to see again. Of the medical cases there were practically none in September and October, but in November they began to have cases of "trench feet." "Shell Shock" cases were very sad. The poor fellows were veritable wrecks. One poor man who had lost his speech from this cause fell out of bed one night. He promptly got up and swore, from that he regained it.

The British Tommy is cheerful, happy, buoyant, grateful; a most wonderful patient. The characteristics of the English and the Australian Tommies show marked differences. The Englishman will obey orders literally. He is told to go over the parapet at five minutes past three and go a certain distance he will stop at exactly the right point. If he does not he will be likely to be killed by his own artillery. The Canadian and the Australian will go further than they are ordered and many of them have been killed on that account. The English Tommy would always salute on meeting an officer on the street; the Canadian would occasionally if he thought of it and the Australian would if you looked him straight in the eye as much as to say, "Why don't you salute?" The Australian is the terror of the English officer. He is likely to get drunk oftener than the others, but that is not so very often. I think I could count on my fingers the drunken soldiers I saw while I was away.

The different types of soldiers that we had were very interesting. In one corner of one ward we had a British Columbia Indian, in another corner a Maori from New Zealand. We had a Boer who in the Boer War was shot in one shoulder by an Englishman, and when he came to he had been shot in the other shoulder by a German. We had a Scotch Highlander from Brooklyn and another from South Boston. We had three orderlies from the Boston City Hospital.

Following Dr. Jones' address, Hon. Samuel L. Powers made brief remarks. Dr. Frank R. Stubbs presided at the close of the evening. He announced the hymn, "America," which all joined in singing.

The church was resplendent with flags of all the Allied nations besides several exceedingly beautiful American ones.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—Richard Walton Tully's latest production, Guy Bates Post in "The Masquerader" will begin its fourth big week in the Plymouth Theatre on Monday evening next, March 26th. This dramatization, by John Hunter Booth, of the famous novel by Katherine Cecil Thurston, has captured the theatrical interest of the city, and capacity audiences have been sold for the last two nights. Mr. Post's splendid performance, the many thrills of the play and the ingenious stage-craft of Mr. Tully are all features which no theatregoer can afford to miss. Prominent in the excellent cast provided by Mr. Tully are Louis Calvert, Thais Lawton, Florence Malone, Clarence Handysides, Ian Forbes Robertson, Ruby Gordon, Olive Temple and Nina Lindsey.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—Although it had been hoped that the engagement of "A Daughter of the Gods," William Fox's $1,000,000 picture beautiful featuring the amphibian star, Annette Kellermann, now current at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, could be extended, this has been found impossible due to the fact that the ever increasing demand for it elsewhere and to the contracts for it held in other cities which must be filled on time. However, one week remains in which to see this massive spectacle of beauty and adventure and the story, which is one of engrossing interest, requires ten reels of thrilling episodes in the film beginning next Monday, March 26, as fast as the eye is fed with the kaleidoscopic changes of locale and incidents the spectator's brain reels with enthusiastic admiration and wonder.

Notice Is Hereby Given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administratrix of the estate of Sydney J. Clifford late of Newton in the County of Middlesex, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond, as the law directs. COMMUNITY MEETING

A meeting of more than passing interest was that arranged by the Newton Welfare Bureau last Tuesday evening in the Classical High School Hall, when Mr. George W. Coleman, director of the Ford Hall Forum was the chief speaker and his subject, "The New Civic Spirit." The Welfare Bureau, he said, is one of the signs of the times, it is prompted by a new spirit which is abroad in the land. During the past hundred years there has been a gradual change of emphasis in the business world, the age of competition has been replaced by an age of co-operation; in the world of fellowship the change has been from that which divides to that which unites, from property to life, from the individual to the social. We are not going to lose the proper emphasis on property, but it is being changed in favor of life rather than stocks and bonds. Wonderful changes have taken place in our own life from that of the colonial families. Today the family life has moved out and expanded until it has become a part of the community and a very different civic spirit exists. Out of the new conditions and the new churches, the recent open forums being one evidence. Mr. Coleman, who has organized these forums in many parts of the country, feels that they are bringing together people of all races and creeds in a way that is of the greatest value to any community.

Mrs. Alice Higgins Lathrop opened the discussion with a forceful address upon conditions in our own city. She pointed out ways in which the Welfare Bureau is meeting real needs in the city and showed conclusively that it is justifying its existence. She urged and welcomed every effort which endeavors to bring the sixteen parts of Newton into one, and reminded the audience of certain things in which Newton is still lacking. A social hour gave opportunity to meet the speakers.

REAL ESTATE AND SUMMER HOME ISSUES

On Saturdays, March 31 and April 7, the Boston Evening Transcript will print a generous amount of reading matter which will be of much interest to real estate owners in New England, investors and those who lease or have summer homes at the seashore, mountains or country.

Anyone having a house, farm, cottage or desirably located land for sale or exchange, or a summer place to rent for the season, will do well to secure advertising space in these issues, for they will have a wide circulation among interested people all over the United States.

STATE BOYS' DAY A BIG SUCCESS

The State Boys' Day Campaign conducted by the Boys' Division of the Newton Y. M. C. A. last Saturday was a big success. The citizens of Newton, Brighton and Watertown were very generous in their response to the appeal of the boys and as a result of the day's work $320 was secured. At the lunch which was served to the workers at 1 o'clock the reports of the morning's work were received with great enthusiasm. The team captain by Mr. G. A. Grace was returned the winner and Arthur Durgin of this team reported the largest individual sum. Other workers were especially large amounters. Kenneth Kepner, Leander Harding, Harold Perry, Dwight Noble, Carter Plinn, Alvin Crowell and Erving Plummer. The teams finished in the order following: G. A. Grace, Captain, George Cone, Arthur Durgin, Alfred Houghton, Robert Houghton, Warren Houghton, Joseph Ladd, Eugene Leary, John Tufts, Allan Williams, Thomas Noonan and Chester Harris. W. H. Sears, Captain, Thomas Considine, Alvin Crowell, Emile Cyr, Malcolm Briggs, Harold Plinn, Carter Plinn, Abbott Cotshall, Arthur Haynes, Frank Hinks, Elmore Pickemer, Walter, Alvin Plummer, Dwight Noble, Herman O'Neill, Irving Wallace, Leo Strout and John Nolan. C. L. Ellison, Captain, Erving Bufum, Walter Dodge, Marshall Dolbier, Grasse Gulian, Donald Fairweather, Leander Harding, Erving Plummer, Clarence Rummler, William Van Buskirk and Raymond Van Buskirk. F. Many of the hotels have increased their capacity for entertaining and new diversions are offered for outdoor pleasure and sport. Newtonville is well represented there this week, for registered at the Buckingham, are Mr. and Mrs. Willard S. Higgins of Brooks Avenue, Dr. and Mrs. George H. Talbot of Walnut Street, Mrs. Frank Wendall Pray of Kirkstall road, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Corson and Miss Corson of Elm road. As Mrs. Higgins is president of the Newtonville Woman's Guild, and all of the other ladies club members, it makes their sojourn in this beautiful southern resort most homelike and sociable, and they are enjoying life to its fullest extent. The Buckingham is of the quaint old Colonial type, beautifully located and surrounded with towering palms, the spacious verandas overlooking the ornamental grounds with their luxuriant growth of blooming shrubs and flower beds.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The regular Wednesday morning Assembly was held in the hall on March 21. The three upper classes were entertained by three pupils who have been interested in the study of music. Miss Houston sang two solos, the first being, "Somewhere a Voice is Calling." She was accompanied by the program consisted of two very enjoyable piano solos by Miss Cate.

At the end of the program, Mr. Adams announced that the date which has been set for Graduation is Wednesday, June 27.

Announcements were made in the hall Wednesday morning that the annual Senior Dance will be held in Temple Hall, Newtonville, on the evening of Saturday, April 2. All the members of the Senior Class were urged to give their support.

The annual Senior Play will be presented tomorrow evening, March 24, in the Classical High School Hall. Announcement has been made that the play will start promptly at eight o'clock, and holders of reserved seat tickets are requested to come to the hall before the last few minutes.

WINS TWO TITLES

The N. H. S. Hockey team won titles last Friday night at the Boston Arena by defeating Brookline 3 to 0, the game being the final match in both the Inter-scholastic and Triangular Leagues.

Newton High was strengthened by part of the first period by the return of Austin Eaton, right wing, who was replaced by Davidson and the latter by Owen, who recently recovered from a surgical operation.

All told, Newton High scored five points, but two were allowed because of offside. The only tally that counted in the opening period was made by Leo Hughes who carried the puck half way down the rink and snapped it into the cage.

Roger Buntin was the headliner, his excellent skating, dribbling and shooting giving the Garden City team two of its points. Garry, coverpoint, played the best game of his career.

Hughes drove his stick into a Brookline High player's ribs in the first period and was sent from the rink for four minutes. Luckily for Newton, its defense stood the onslaughts of the Brookline forwards.

PARENT-TEACHER CONFERENCE

Come to the Parent-Teachers Conference on Tuesday, March 27, at 7.45 in Memorial Hall. The speakers will be Supt. U. S. Wheeler and Principals Enoch C. Adams and Samuel B. Paul. TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

Nearly all of the post graduate students in secretarial studies have completed their courses and have obtained positions with Boston firms. A number of the seniors have secured positions and will take advantage of the ruling that permits those who have maintained high scholarship standing to leave school after April first.

Mr. Ernest Stevens, a former teacher of history in the Technical High School, who is now head of the history department in the Lynn English High School, was a welcome visitor at the Newton schools on Wednesday.

Mr. Geo. J. Gaw, 1910, who will be remembered as the premier pitcher of the championship baseball team of that year, has been coaching the aspirants for similar fame on this year's squad. Mr. Gaw has signed to pitch for the Buffalo team in the Eastern league this summer. He has recently graduated from the Tufts Dental School and plans to engage in the practice of dentistry in Buffalo after another season of baseball.

The three upper classes listened to a timely and interesting talk, on Wednesday, by Mr. Alton E. Briggs, Executive Secretary of the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange. He explained the problems of difficulties arising from the work of keeping the metropolitan district supplied with fruit, vegetables, meat, eggs and other perishable food supplies. It was made very clear that the so-called "barons" of the produce trade are merchants engaged in a line of business that is vital to the welfare of the public and one in which the profits are often less than the large risks involved would justify. Mr. Briggs attributed the high prices of the present to the operation of the law of supply and demand, the shortage arising in part from the long period of suspended production in the countries at war and in part from the fact that the production of food stuffs in our own country has not kept pace with the increase in population. He predicted that New England, which now produces less than ten per cent. of the meat, vegetables, fruit and dairy products which are consumed within its area, will be forced to re-establish these industries. The states of the Middle West, wherein a large surplus has been produced heretofore, are now rapidly increasing in population and developing manufacturing industries so fast that an ever-increasing proportion of their food products will be needed for home consumption. Mr. Briggs urged the boys not to overlook the possibilities of agriculture, dairying, sheep and cattle raising in New England when making a choice of a vocation. He deplored the tendency of young men to choose mercantile positions of extremely limited possibilities on the ground that the wages, though small, are certain, when the rewards in the form of larger income, independence and fullness of life are so much greater in agricultural pursuits.

CHURCH HOME SOCIETY

At the children's service, Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, on Friday afternoon, a very interesting talk was given by Miss Lucy Turner on her work of Social Service among children connected with the Episcopal Church.

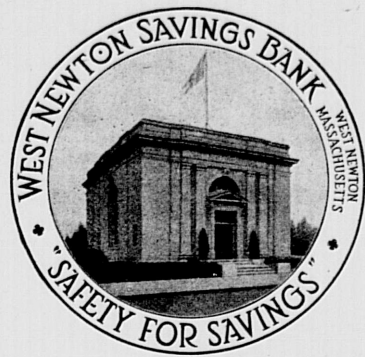

Sixty years ago there was established in South Boston a "Church Home," where children without parents, or those whose parents were unable to care for them, were placed. These children had their wants supplied, but lived in a community by themselves, and went outside the high fence which surrounded the home, only occasionally, and in groups. Of late years many strides have been made in the work of social service, and it was finally realized that the children who grew up in homes surrounded by family life, became much more quickly able to care for themselves than those who remained "inside the fence," and consequently the "Home" was given up, and places found in private families for all children who needed care.

A part of Miss Turner's work is to find the right families in which to place the children, to see that they are cared for in the matter of health, that teeth and adenoids, are looked after, to take them to the hospital if need be, and to see that they are started on the road to become useful and honored citizens in the community.

This work is done under the direction of the Church Home Society for the care of children of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

WARD'S TIP-TOP or DAINTY-MAID BREAD

Size 11 x 14 inches

Buy WARD'S TIP-TOP or DAINTY-MAID bread—the ten-cent loaf—save the coupons and get a collection of these educational and patriotic pictures for your home. If you cannot bring the coupons to our bakery, hand them to any of our wagon salesmen, who will deliver to you the large Rotogravure Photo put up in a tube ready for mailing.

Are you discouraged with the high cost of living?

Here's a suggestion! Eat more bread! Buy the ten-cent loaf of WARD'S TIP-TOP or DAINTY-MAID bread. Serve it in liberal portions to all the family. Note how far it will go in comparison with other foods costing double and triple the price. Observe the satisfaction its fine flavor creates. Prove for yourself how much better it slices, butters and toasts than the small loaf and how superior it is in flavor and eating qualities.

Aside from all this, you get more bread for your money when you buy the ten-cent loaf. It has more dough, less crust, but two "heels" instead of four, and it keeps fresh longer than the small loaf.

Eat plenty of pure, nutritious bread—WARD'S BREAD. Supplant more costly food staples with it. In these days of war prices of all foods, your money can buy no food so cheap and no food that is better.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Seeing results is a very gratifying thing. One so seldom does that it comes almost as a surprise when one actually hears that conditions have been improved through the efforts of the women. This was true when a representative from the Women's Municipal League stated in a recent address that food conditions in Boston are on the whole greatly improved, that the dealers do protect their goods from dirt and flies pretty satisfactorily. Mary Boyle O'Reilly in her address before the New England Woman's Press Association this week told of finding a Lap woman attending a "movie" every time a certain reel was shown and that reel was one made in Boston to demonstrate the proper way of washing a baby's eyes when afflicted with ophthalmia. Is this another result in a far off corner of the earth?

On Saturday afternoon, March 3d, the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will observe Good Day at the home of Mrs. W. J. Bicknell, 84 Erie avenue.

Local Happenings

The Progress Club held its last regular meeting of the season 1916-1917 on Friday afternoon, March 16, with Mrs. George Burnett of Auburndale as hostess.

After a business discussion, and the distribution of leaflets containing the program of study for the ensuing year, the afternoon was devoted to the reading of two papers.

"Spirit of American Cities" was the title of a paper entertainingly treated by Mrs. Joseph A. McDonald. "World Progress of Women" by Mrs. John R. McLean traced the condition of woman from the early ages, through the centuries to the present.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Alfred L. Pratt of Fisher avenue entertained the Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands. The quiz was conducted by Mrs. S. L. Eaton, who took the last two acts of Twelfth Night, showing the clever character drawing and the culmination of the delightful comedy of this play.

On Monday afternoon the weekly meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. was held with Mrs. Sanford E. Thompson, Miss Ayers, who was in charge of the day, presented Miss Cora Stanwood Cobb, who treated the topic, "Co-operation, Economic and Ethical."

The Auburndale Review Club met on Tuesday, March 20th, at the home of Mrs. Arthur C. Farley, 251 Central street. After the business Mrs. Farley, chairman of the morning, gave a sketch of Chekhov's life, telling something also of his literary productions, and reading from some of his works. Mrs. Mary E. Herron read one of his short stories, "In Exile," which describes people on the way to Siberia. This was followed by the reading of several short stories in "Russian Silhouettes" by Mrs. Charles Brown. Chekhov's coarse humor was depicted in his play, "The Proposal," read by Mrs. Farley, Mrs. Herron and Mrs. Brown, the reading giving a bright ending to the morning's program.

One of the most enthusiastic meetings of the year for the Newtonville Woman's Guild was that held on Tuesday afternoon, when Mr. William Craig, superintendent of Faulkner Farm, spoke to the members on "Gardening." The speaker gave timely advice as to the planting, and care of flower gardens, embracing what to plant, when and how to do it. He also gave instructions as to the insects which are enemies to the growth of flowers and how to kill them. Mrs. Anton R. Fried sang several Swedish songs. Tea was served by the executive board under the direction of Mrs. Hubert Ripley.

Hunnewell Club hall was well filled on Wednesday morning at the open meeting of the Social Science Club to the talk of Mrs. Barrett Wendell on the work and aims of the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness. This society was formed to organize the women of Massachusetts, that they may render to their country the most efficient service in time of need however and wherever that need may arise. Mrs. Wendell claimed to be a peace propagandist and that the only way to secure peace is by being prepared. The society aims for a political, military, industrial, agricultural and social preparedness. It advocates universal military training and services on the lines of the Swiss or Australian systems. It is seeking to enroll the women of the state recording the kind of service each one is willing to render in case of need. It is in the closest co-operation with the Red Cross. Leaflets and enrolment cards were distributed among those present.

Newton Federation

Mrs. L. H. Marshall, chairman of the Education committee of the Newton Federation, reported at the meeting of the executive board on Monday morning a continuance of the work along the lines laid down for the year. The class in Civics under the University Extension courses offered by the State was an unqualified success and the committee is taking names of those who would join a class in Spanish next fall. Those desiring to enrol should send their names to Mrs. Marshall by the first of April, the only expense being the cost of the text book. A first rate teacher has been promised. The committee has been considering defective children in the schools and has arranged three clinics with Dr. Fernald of Waverley, thirty-four children having been examined. The movement for Parent-Teacher Associations has taken a new start, one having been organized at the efforts of the Women's Club in Auburndale and one meeting has been held in Newton Centre, while Newton is considering it. The Junior High School is in the air and Mrs. Marshall advised the club women to be on the lookout.

Mrs. B. E. Taylor reported for the Social Service committee that an increasing number of children are being treated at the Dental Clinic. Three girls are receiving training there to take positions in dentists' offices, one is on duty all the time and two others serve alternately. The Federation has paid its final pledge to the Welfare Bureau, but we must continue its support and know that work well. A summary of housing conditions gathered by Miss Rich last spring was read. Among the facts brought out in this summary may be mentioned, that there are houses in three of the villages where basement rooms are being used as living rooms. In a majority of the houses examined the toilet is in the cellar. In many it opens off the kitchen and has no window. In many of the two and three family houses there are wooden stairs going up on the outside of the house. In one case there is a wooden fire escape. In some tenements there was no separate running water, so that the tenant must go either up or down stairs to secure it. It is practically impossible to find a place that is light, well ventilated, and well built under $18 or $20 a month. In Billerica where they are building model houses, one of seven rooms with modern conveniences including bath room rents for $16.50 a month.

The chairman after telling of other efforts to co-operate with work of the State Federation stated that there is a desire on the part of the committee to change the name, so that it may more nearly conform to that of corresponding committees of the State Federation. This will be brought up at the annual meeting. The executive board endorsed the Daylight Delivery bill proposed by the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

It was voted to appropriate $75 of the $300 guaranteed by the Social Science Club toward the salary of Mr. McDonald in order to retain his services to the city and the clubs were asked to co-operate in the matter in so far as they are able, also urged to visit his classes. An annual affair for the benefit of the Federation was recommended by the special committee, and was accepted. The special form of this year and the date will be announced later. The Junior League and the Women's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. were accepted into associate membership. The Federation will carry on a campaign of education during Baby Week, which will be observed by this state in April instead of May. Plans for the annual meeting were considered and a new departure in the way of a program committee to plan for the Federation meetings next year was authorized. The sum of $1 was voted in response to an appeal for a leper hospital in Japan.

TO PUT A GIRL THROUGH COLLEGE

A course in Current Events will be given by Mrs. W. C. Crawford, who has been conducting the Newton Centre Club's current events classes the past season. Mrs. Crawford is distinct, clear-cut analytical, authoritative and impartial in her presentation of world events. Because of the rapid succession of dynamic happenings in these days there has been an expressed desire to have Mrs. Crawford continue her lectures. They will be given at 10 A. M. in Mason School Hall, Newton Centre, the mornings of Wednesday, March 28, Tuesday, April 10 and Tuesday, April 24. The course is under the auspices of the Educational Committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club and is in the interest of the Scholarship Fund which provides tuition in one of the leading women's colleges each year for a deserving Newton Centre girl who could not otherwise have the benefit of higher education.

WALTHAM CO-OPERATIVE BANK

Of the value of property may be loaned to those who wish to build or buy through the Waltham Co-operative Bank. Many prospective purchasers and builders are inquiring at the Bank about the Co-operative System, as only a small investment is necessary outside of the amount that the Bank will loan for those who wish to become realty holders. It is very probable that many transfers of property will be made during the coming months. If you are not acquainted with the advantages derived from the Co-operative Bank, call, write or telephone, Waltham 106 at once, that arrangements may be made for an interview.

PARK THEATRE, WALTHAM

Do you know how many thousands of rich little girls, surrounded by every luxury, there are in our own country who are poorer than the veriest street urchin simply because they have no one to play with, no one to fight with, no one to confide in, and no one to love?
 You can find out what a dreary, cold, forlorn life such little girls lead by seeing Mary Pickford in "A Poor Little Rich Girl," this famous child character actress' latest success, which will be shown at the Park Theatre, Waltham, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
 For today and tomorrow, the biggest vaudeville program ever presented outside of Keith's circuit is being shown at this popular Waltham theatre. The headline is Kar-Mi, the Indian priest who mystifies by his illusions, as practiced by his sect in India. Four other big acts are also included together with Nance O'Neil in "Greed," the third of the Seven Deadly Sins.

THE SEVEN DEADLY SINS OF CHRIST
 Dubois' sacred cantata will be sung by the choir of the Church of the Messiah at the five o'clock service, Sunday afternoon, March 25. Every-one is cordially invited to attend.

PRIZE DRILL
 The annual Prize Drill for the Pulitzer Medals will take place tonight at the Army of Company C, 5th Mass. Inf. Everyone interested in the Company is cordially invited to be present on that date.
 McKenney & Waterbury Co., Franklin street, corner Congress, Boston, are showing the latest and most improved Lighting Fixtures in Gas and Electric for homes and public buildings, goods of their own manufacture and from all parts of the world.

 —Mr. and Mrs. E. Payson Upham, Jr., of Collins road are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.
 —The Rev. William E. Strong, D.D., representing the American Board will preach at the Union Church Sunday morning at 10:30.
 —At a meeting of the directors of the Gorton Pew Fisheries Co., Gloucester, Mr. Charles A. Andrews was elected treasurer of the corporation.
 —The Rev. Raymond Calkins, D.D., of Cambridge, will preach at the mid-week Lenten service at the Union Church next Wednesday evening, March 28th.
 —Mrs. C. Adrian Sawyer, Jr., and daughter have returned from Chicago and will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Zeiss of Neholden road for the present.
 —Next Friday evening a church supper will be served in the Union Church vestry at 6:30. Mrs. Frank Rane will be in charge and this will be the last supper of the season.
 —Rev. Daniel Dulang Addison, D.D., of All Saints Church, Brookline, will preach at the Church of the Good Shepherd next Friday evening, March 30th.
 —Mr. George M. Angier has been appointed special agent of the American Red Cross to receive statements of willingness to co-operate in case of need. Cards are furnished which, when filled out, state the work for which the individual is best fitted, and willing to perform.
 —The Women's Guild of the Church of the Good Shepherd will meet at the home of Mrs. Edward Street on Nesbobe road, next Tuesday afternoon, March 27th, and hold a "White Elephant Party." At the last meeting of the Guild twenty-five pads were made for the Allies Relief Work.
 —The following are the officers of the Improvement Society for this year, the election being held last week: president, Lawrence Allen; first vice-president, Willis Fisher; second vice-president, Clifford Walker; treasurer, A. T. Gould; secretary, E. Payson Upham, Jr.; executive committee, Louis Tilton, George Souther, Harold Womson, Alfred Turner.

LITTLE BOY BLUE

The Library Club House groups of the North End in co-operation with the Garden Association will present "Boy Blue" in Players' Hall, West Newton, on Saturday afternoon, March 31, 1917, at 3 P. M.
 This charming operetta is particularly enjoyed by the little folk—because the plot is so simple and direct that they can readily understand it; and because the costumes are effective and the voices sweet and well trained. 22 girls and boys in smocks and overalls sing and dance and recite the adventures of Molly and Boy Blue.

Auburndale

—Auburndale Co-operative Bank. New shares on sale, pays 5% Advt.
 —Mr. Henry R. Nash is having a garage built at his residence on Studio road.

 —The annual corporate communion of the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Messiah will be observed at the 7:30 A. M. service Sunday, March 25.
 —At the annual meeting this week of the Boston Stationers Association, Mr. John D. Lamond of Woodbine street was elected a member of the executive committee.
 —Newton Co-operative Bank, over $1,000,000 assets. Pays 5% interest. Shares now on sale at 297 Walnut St., Newtonville, or 73 Tremont St., Boston.
 —Miss Laura Drost of Central street has returned from a short visit in Concord, N. H., where she enjoyed snow-shoeing, skiing, skating and the various winter sports with a party of friends.
 —The Seven Last Words of Christ! Dr. Dubois' sacred cantata, will be sung by the choir of the Church of the Messiah, at the five o'clock service Sunday afternoon, March 25th. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.
 —Thru the courtesy of Company C, M. V. M., a community dance will be held under the auspices of The Newton Circle on Thursday evening, April 12th, in the Armory. Slavin's Singing Orchestra will furnish the music.
 —The Young People of Auburndale gave a fine entertainment at Norumbega Hall in December but through unfortunate advertising was unable to net much money. All profits voted to be placed as a beginning for a fund for the French wounded.
 —Bishop Babcock will visit the Church of the Messiah and administer confirmation at a service held at 4 P. M., Saturday, March 31. This will be the second class of confirmation candidates presented in this parish within a year, and will consist of adults only.
 —Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Irvin of Pasadena, Cal., have planned a journey by way of New Orleans and Panama to South America, for an extended stay. Mrs. Irvin was formerly Miss Alma L. Tower of this village. Mrs. Irvin's mother, Mrs. A. W. Tower, is spending the winter with her family in Pasadena.
 —The service at the Congregational Church next Sunday evening promises to be one of unusual interest. Mr. Nichols, chairman of the Christian Work Department of the Boston Y. M. C. A., will preside, and the chief speaker will be Mr. William H. Flake, who will tell the story of his life, 27 years of which have been spent in prison. Those who have heard him, say that he holds his audience spellbound, and has proved remarkably successful in persuading men and women to become Christians.

INVITATION DANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan M. Stewart of Park street, Newton, entertained a large company of guests at an invitation dancing party on Thursday evening at the Hunnewell Club.
 Stanley Hall and the dining hall at the Club were elaborately decorated by Galvin for the occasion, with festoons of southern smilax and pink Killarney roses. Russell's Orchestra was placed before a screen banked with greenery and a large American flag formed a background. A pink and green color motive was carried out in the dining hall decorations.
 The large table and the buffet table had for central decoration a beautiful arrangement of pink Killarney roses intermingled with ferns.
 Mrs. Wilbur M. Dailey and Miss Hobart poured; they were presented by the hostess with beautiful bunches of violets centered with Jack roses.
 Mr. and Mrs. Stewart held a small reception at their home on Park street before the dance.
 Guests prominent in the society of New York, Boston, Brookline and the Newtons were present.
 There were several dinners given before the dance. Among those who entertained at dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howard of Waverley avenue and Miss Hobart of Sargent street.

A THIEF IN THE HOUSE

After the Minstrel Show at Central Church on Monday evening a pleasing comedy in one-act was presented by the sons of the Central Club members.
 The cast included Wentworth Richards, Belden Sly, Howland Lord, Joel Leete, Alfred Stafford and Emerson Hunt. The various characters were well portrayed and the performance reflected great credit on the boys, who were coached by Mrs. H. Belden Sly.
 The young actors were received with enthusiasm by the large audience, and the acting was liberally applauded.

 —Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mann of Sewall street have returned from a sojourn at Atlantic City, and are entertaining Mr. H. H. Baker, the latter's father of Buffalo, N. Y.
 —High power blasting on Carver road shook the entire city late Tuesday afternoon, and started many wild rumors of an attempt to blow up the Metropolitan Water System at Echo bridge.
 —Mr. Guilford S. Newhall of Hartford street was elected grand treasurer of the N. E. Order of Protection this week at the annual meeting held at Winthrop and has also been chosen as a delegate to the Supreme Lodge.
 —The Men's Club of the Congregational Church met last evening for the annual election of officers. After the meeting Dr. Smith who has been in the Ambulance Corps in France, three miles from the trenches, gave his experiences which were very interesting.
 —The Men's Club of St. Paul's Church will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday evening, March 29th, in the Parish House. Mr. Charles F. Ramey, of St. John's University, Shanghai will speak on the present economical, political and religious condition of China. He will show the stereoscopic pictures of China which have been put out by the Missionary Board of the Episcopal Church.
 —The Newton Highlands Improvement Association has arranged for a Patriotic Meeting to be held in Lincoln Hall on Saturday evening, March 31st, at 8 o'clock. The purposes of and opportunities for service furnished by the Navy League of the United States will be explained by Mr. Harry K. White, State Chairman, and Mrs. Gardner Hall, Chairman of the Woman's Auxiliary, of the League. Lt. G. T. Swasey, U. S. N., will explain stereoscopic views of naval life and service. All the people of the village are urged to attend this meeting and thus show their patriotic interest in our navy.

MISS SPALDING DEAD

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Spalding and family of Paul street, Newton Centre will have the sympathy of their many friends in the sad news that their daughter, Margaret Spalding, more familiarly known as "Peggy" had committed suicide last night in a Portsmouth, N.  THE UNIVERSAL CAR
320,817

Have been built and actually delivered to retail buyers since August 1, 1916. These figures—320,817—represent the actual number of cars manufactured by us since August 1st, 1916, and delivered by our agents to retail buyers. This unusual fall and winter demand for Ford cars makes it necessary for us to confine the distribution of cars only to those agents who have orders for immediate delivery to retail customers, rather than to permit any agent to stock cars in anticipation of later spring sales. We are issuing this notice to intending buyers that they may protect themselves against delay or disappointment in securing Ford cars. If, therefore, you are planning to purchase a Ford car, we advise you to place your order and take delivery now. Immediate orders will have prompt attention. Delay in buying at this time may cause you to wait several months. Enter your order today for immediate delivery with our authorized Ford agent listed below and don't be disappointed later on.

statesman.

"This movement that you typify is not over 20 years old in this country, and the reason why it wasn't started before was simply that men of previous generations, and we revere and honor them, were apparently so strong that they petrified into four the men that worked with them, and they were given credit for much more wisdom than they possessed, because the poorest kind of wisdom lies with the self-centered man who never calls anyone else into his thought and concentration; and those leaders in the business world of those days long gone by, were only strong unto themselves, and you could go through the world of business today and throughout this country, and see the disintegration of the houses which these men dominated. And why?
Because they held the reins and held the power. They looked upon every man in their employ as simply a cog in the machine. They did not call for the development of first lieutenants, and second lieutenants, and when these men became old patriots there
carry on the business.

"Then men conceived that by giving up a bit of knowledge of their business, they would impart from other men 10 times the knowledge that they previously possessed, and these men decided that it was better to try it out and they tried it out in trade organizations. Those men have opened up their hearts and come to realize that instead of jealous opposition, there was such a thing as friendly competition, and they began to exchange ideas as to ways and means of dignifying their businesses, and then they began to realize that they could learn from their brother competitors, and those trade organizations have grown and waxed strong.

"The fundamental aim is to develop commercial and industrial prestige in your city, but wise men, men who learn that it is their duty to sacrifice time and strength, know that underneath these apparent fundamentals are the greatest problems. They know of the great social and cast exemption that in our city and in our country, and they know that their first duty is to get right down in their own experiences under the skin of those representatives of these different classes that go to make up this cast. They realize that class understanding is simple. That the jealousy of the poor man for the rich man brings down upon the poor man the contempt for the rich man, and neither one understands the other. These business men do not wear the banner of religion upon their sleeve, but I find that most of them get their inspiration from the church.

Senator Weeks said in part:
"Since I went to Washington, a number of years ago, I have had too few opportunities of meeting my old friends in Newton. Congress has become a continual performance, and I have believed that I could serve you and the people of the Commonwealth better by attending to such duties as were imposed upon me in Washington than by doing other things, principally in Massachusetts.

"Newton is a fine city because the units that go to make it up are of a higher average standard than most other communities in the United States. There is a better degree of citizenship, a greater and more willing desire to serve it in this city than any place with which I am familiar, and I believe that that condition of serving the community was never greater than it is today, and that is why I take particular pride in the place where I live, in my members and friends, and in this community in general.

"I am going to talk to you a little first about what happened in Washington the last week of the 64th Congress, because there is a great deal of discussion of the situation and one which gives the reader of the average newspapers, I think, a very incomplete and distorted view of the situation.

"The business of Congress has increased enormously in recent years.
If the men 50 years ago could have com-prehended the amount of business which is now imposed upon Congress,
I think they would have said that it would have been impossible to consider one-half of it with sufficient care. A vast amount of legislation is put on the statute books which has to be modified in the future. A man who has an idea that there is something wrong in the world, wants to reform that wrong by the statute.

"In the last session of Congress there are about 65 legislation days.
Committees meet in the forenoon, senators and members look after their correspondence, etc., and Congress convenes at noon and sits until 5 or 6 o'clock, and in the last days of the session, in the evening and sometimes all night.

"On Monday, the 23rd or 24th of February, the Monday on which Congress was to adjourn the following Sunday noon, there had not been passed by the Senate 14 of the 16 Appropriation Bills. There was a Finance Bill before the Senate (it is necessary for us to provide a large amount of revenue) and what was known as the authorization Bill was also being considered by the House.

"This Finance Bill contains new and unheard of methods of raising revenue.
I never, if I can help it, take a secondary view of legislation, and yet under the present method of raising revenue, it has developed that we in Massachusetts in the direct taxes being imposed, six times as much on every dollar of our wealth, than is being paid in most of the states in the South and West, and this bill provided for an excess private tax. That is to say that if any of you were engaged in partnership, and you made more than $50 on your capital, the balance is taxed

"There are so many inequalities and unwise provisions in that excess tax, that in my judgment it is the most unfair, unwise, sectional, legislation which ever passed. It should have been killed by discussion. It could have been killed, but conditions were such in Washington that it was necessary to act. The government had to have this revenue so on Wednesday we voted on the bill and it was passed, and then we had 3 1/2 days to pass 6 Appropriation Bills and the Authorization Bill.
The navy is our best defense. If we have a sufficiently strong navy, we may rest in certainty that we are going to be protected in case of need. If our navy breaks down, we are in a deplorable condition, because I can say to you frankly, that our army conditions are no better than when the Spanish War came. We have a good navy, the personnel of the American Navy is, in my judgment, the best, and we have just as good ships as the others, and when the test comes, if it ever does, you will find that the American Navy will do what it has always done during the life of the Republic.

It will render a good account of itself.
There were many things that seemed necessary and desirable to do at once, and therefore it was necessary to pass the Navy Bill, and make the money immediately available, but it took some 36 hours to pass this bill. I discovered in this bill a provision that an officer in the navy should not be promoted to the next higher grade unless he had served half of his time at sea. Certainly our naval officers ought to serve half of their time at sea, but naval constructors do not go to sea, the higher grades in the medical corps do not go to sea, so that if that had not been amended, it would have prevented the promotion of these men. By Friday night we had passed the navy bill.

"It was to authorize the president to arm and man merchant ships, expressed in so many words, and to do such other things as he deemed best in emergency case. The phrase, 'I discovered in this bill a provision that an officer in the navy should not be promoted to the next higher grade unless he had served half of his time at sea. Certainly our naval officers ought to serve half of their time at sea, but naval constructors do not go to sea, the higher grades in the medical corps do not sion relative to taking land for Ham-

The ordinance allowing three weeks'

The ordinance relative to collection of waste called forth a long discussion in which President Early left the chair to protest against what he termed the levity of certain aldermen in offering trifling amendments. One motion to insert a comma was adopted and one to strike out a comma defeated and the ordinance was then adopted.

Alderman Hollis was the spokesman for the Mayor in urging the postponement of the orders accepting legislative acts for retirement of policemen and firemen at the age of 65 years. He wanted the board to await action on the budget so that the men when required would receive a pension based on the expected raise in pay. Alderman Winslow stated that it was the opinion of the committee that the men should retire on the salary which they were receiving and not on a salary which would be paid in the future, in other words that the men retire on the work they had done and not on what was given their successors. It was brought out in the debate that the acceptance of the act would immediately and without further action retire Leites, Soule and Harrison, Sergeant Clay and Patrolmen Fuller and Moulton of the police department and one member of the fire department. Alderman Hollis' motion to table was overwhelmingly defeated 15 to 2 and he then interposed a charter objection to further consideration of the matter at that meeting.

pose of garbage at a price yielding a large profit.

The committee believes that the contract method with a well equipped and responsible contractor, with rigid specifications, is the best plan for the city, but if an unreasonable price is demanded, it would be profitable for the city to create and equip a sanitary division of the street department to do this work.

The committee adds that the disposal of garbage by reduction or burning is wasteful when the food value of garbage is considered and is only justifiable when the transportation of garbage to the country and of swine from the country to the city is too expensive.

The report is signed by Aldermen Percy M. Blake, Charles N. Flitts, and Justin A. McCarthy.

ton, Newtonville, and Newton Highlands have sold the estate 37 Beaumont Avenue, Newtonville, consisting of a modern single dwelling and about six thousand square feet of land to Vernon H. Moss for Charles W. Sawyer. Mr. Moss will occupy the house.
The property is not yet assessed.

John Linn of Newton Highlands has purchased a lot of land at the corner of Boylston and Woodward streets, from A. A. Kidder of Boston. The property is assessed on $2000, and contains 17475 square feet of land. Mr.
Linn will at once commence the erection of a modern dwelling on the land.

Philip T. Long of Somerville has sold a parcel of land containing 8,000
ft. on Columbus street, Newton Highlands, to John Linn, et al. The property is assessed on $1800.00.

for Theodore C. Nickerson to George H. Stewart of Newton Highlands.

COLONIAL THEATRE—Geraldine
Farrar in person, and Geraldine Farrar on the screen came face to face at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, last Tuesday evening, when for the first time in Boston Cecil B. DeMille's notable production of "Joan the Woman" was seen in all its pomp and pageantry, all its historic wealth of facts and lore, all its superb acting and realistic photography. While it had been intended to hold the premiere Monday evening, the opening date was advanced to Tuesday, the 20th, chiefly to meet the wishes of Miss Farrar, who appears in the picture as Joan of Arc, to be present. As she sings the title role in "Madame Butterfly" at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York Monday afternoon, and therefore could not come to Boston to any avail that same day, it was decided to pay a delicate tribute to the popular and dual star by adapting the opening date of "Joan the Woman" to her convenience.

CONSTITUTIONAL DELEGATES

The Good Government Club of Auburndale will hold an open meeting at Norumbega Hall, Auburndale, next Thursday evening, at 7.45, to which everyone interested in the choice of delegates to the coming constitutional convention is invited to be present.
Many of the candidates will be present and address the meeting.

WESTERLY GRANITE, MARBLE and SLATE

Few people give memorial art the critical appreciation which it merits. This applies not only to the laity but to the designers themselves, and workers in the art. The Henry Murray Company, however, has given years of critical study to both the designing and producing sides of the work, and the result is an unerring ability to choose and develop the ideal motif and the material most adaptable to the nature of the design.

Constitutional Convention

Vote at the Primaries, April 3, for

ANDERSON OF NEWTON

And the Anti-Sectarian Amendment

First name on the second or Congressional list

1. Dr. Anderson is thoroughly fitted for the task. Though for sixteen years a Professor in Newton Theological Seminary, he began his career as a teacher of Constitutional History and the Science of Government in the University of Chicago, and has always made this study his outside interest.
2. He favors the submission of the work of the Convention to the people in separate amendments.
3. He is for the Anti-Sectarian Amendment, prohibiting the appropriation of public money for schools and institutions wholly or in part under sectarian control. This is perfectly fair to all, safeguards the religious liberty of Catholics and Non-Catholics alike, assures the future of the American Public School and the dignity, independence, and spirituality of the Church, and takes the last irritating, debatable religious question out of politics. The Supreme Court says that it is necessary, if the object is to be attained.

FLAGS DEDICATED

Two Churches hold Impressive and Patriotic Services Last Sunday at Newton and Newtonville

St. John's Church, Newtonville

An inspiring patriotic service was held Sunday morning at St. John's Church, Newtonville, at which National and State flags were dedicated and a choir of 60 voices sang many patriotic hymns. Rev. Richard T. Loring, the rector, gave the following interesting address:

The Stars and Stripes has floated to the breeze some hundred and forty years and more. For it was in the year 1776, at Philadelphia, that the first American flag was made. A few years later an American ship, the "Bedford," displayed the flag for the first time in a foreign port. In 1787 the "Columbia" journeyed around the world, and where the "Columbia" went the flag went too. And when John Paul Jones, the first American naval officer to engage a foreign foe, went into battle he flew the emblem of liberty at the masthead of the good ship "Ranger." The flag he flew had thirteen stars arranged, if I remember rightly, in a circle. And it was this flag which the French nation recognized as it floated over the "Ranger"—and act on the part of France which constituted the recognition of the new born American Republic as one of the nations of the earth.

them. That is why some years ago I was glad to have men of the Grand Army of the Republic here on Memorial Day. I remember thanking those men just for being here for, as I told them, they had by their presence lent to this building a something which otherwise it would have been without. And our flag stands not only for earth and home. It stands also for the highest and the most spiritual ideals any nation has yet conceived—ideals of justice, and liberty, and fraternity. They are ideals for which our fathers fought. They are ideals which our fathers died. And they are ideals which our fathers bequeathed to us with the injunction that we should see to it that they perish not from off the face of the earth.

And now, apparently a time has come when we have got to show whether or not we have it in us to carry out that injunction faithfully and effectively to the end. A time of testing is at hand. To my mind such a time came three years ago. When Belgium was overrun, devastated, crucified, we ought to have entered our solemn protest even although that protest had led to serious consequences. But we failed in the test. Instead we watched and waited and waited. Again a time of testing came when the "Lusitania" was sunk when citizens of our country, men, women, and children experienced downright and ruthless murder on the high seas across which they had every right to travel toward the haven where they would be. We should have then, at whatever price, have upheld the ideals for which our flag stands. We failed to meet the test. Instead we watched and waited and waited. The time of testing is, however, still with us. Almost it seems as though we were not to be allowed to escape the responsibility that is ours. Already as many of our people have been killed as fell at the battles of Lexington and of Bunker Hill. Our patent rights as a free nation have been trampled upon without regard and without remorse. We have been plotted against times without number.

But now, thank God, it would seem that at last we are going to show that we have got it in us to live up to the injunction bequeathed to us from the past. And if I say "thank God" it is not because I feel hostility toward the German people as such, and it is not because I feel at all friendly toward war. I know Germans and their country well. I know them almost as well as I know my own land and people. And I find much in the Teutonic race that calls forth strong admiration. When I look across to Germany today I see a people misled and misdirected, a people deliberately nourished from their youth up on false and unchristian teaching, a people more sinned against than sinning. And the Prussian militaristic element has done the deed. I believe that the tyranny from which the German people have suffered will soon be overpast. They will come to themselves, and they will be enabled again to make their contribution toward the advancement of the human race. Nor am I a friend to war. War is what Sherman said it was. It is something that does fearfully outrage the sensibilities of high-minded men and women. We may be sure that God does not want us to go out and kill. But, the present stage of civilization considered, there do come times when war is the only way out. If you see your friend waylaid by footpads and robbers there is only one thing to do—and that is to strike first, and to strike hard, and then to use moral suasion. War is terrible. But to be untrue to the ideals for which we stand is also terrible. The choice is one between two evils. I believe in peace at any price, but as someone has said "the price just now of honorable peace is war." And so I say there do come times when war is the only way out if we are to maintain the gains of civilization. And those gains, toward which our country has contributed so much, must be defended and kept. That is why almost to a man we are behind the President today. We only hope and pray that competent men shall at once be placed in charge of all our resources of defense, and that if war is to be waged it shall be conducted

WALTON A. GREEN

OF WESTON

BENJAMIN LORING YOUNG, South Avenue Weston.

SHOWER PARTY

Mrs. Charles Ellsworth Gibson Jr. of Colorado, who is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Vee of Otis street Newtonville, gave a kitchen shower on Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Margaret Harvey of Hingham, formerly of Newton Centre. Miss Harvey's wedding to Mr. Edward Woods of West Newton, will take place early in June.

Miss Harvey was presented with a quantity of useful gifts, and the affair was delightfully social, about fifteen young lady friends being present from the Newtons.

In the dining-room where afternoon tea was served, the decorations were pink, and a vase of pink Killarney roses centered the table.

The hostess was assisted by Miss Eleanor Dowd of Newton Centre.

Mrs. Gibson's little daughter Margaret was five months old on Thursday and Mrs. Gibson took advantage of this occasion to introduce her to her friends, and the baby was the "guest of honor."

HOMES FOR CHILDREN

Miss Katherine P. Hewins, General Secretary to the Church Home Society of Boston, spoke before the Sunday School of Trinity Church, Newton Centre, last Sunday, in connection with the work which that Society is doing for the less fortunate children of the Episcopal Church in Massachusetts.

Briefly, she traced the development of the old Church Home, which for nearly fifty years cared for its wards in the institution in South Boston, up to the newly organized Church Home Society, which has closed the doors of the institution, and are now placing and supervising the children in carefully selected homes of their own religious faith.

In comparison to the routine life of a child in a Home, who is taught to "work, play, love and worship" to a system of signal bells, Miss Hewins told of the normal life of the average child placed in a foster home. She graphically illustrated this newer method with the stories of several children who for some reason or other, had been in the care of the Society and later had been returned to their parents.

CITY HALL

A special meeting of the Board of Aldermen was called Monday night for the purpose of granting permission to the North End Garden Association for 35 children under 14 years of age to take part in an entertainment on the afternoon of March 31 in Players' Hall, West Newton. The operetta "Boy Blue" will be presented by the children.

EDITORIAL

The voters of Newton will have the opportunity to go to the polls next Tuesday to select certain candidates for the office of delegates to the coming constitutional convention. There is a field of 50 candidates from which to choose 16 from the state at large, a field of 12 for the 4 to be chosen from the Congressional district and 10 candidates for the 3 positions of delegates from this city. So far as the city candidates are concerned, we have but little choice as almost any slate of three names would include gentlemen who would honor the city at that convention. Eight of the ten are personal friends of the editor and the other two are men of the highest standing in the community in which they reside. It will be difficult task indeed to make a definite choice of three from such a list of candidates. In the Congressional district, there is a more distinct line of difference. Outside of the two Newton candidates, Ex-Congressman Samuel L. Powers, who needs no introduction to the voters of Newton and the Rev. Frederick L. Anderson, who will undoubtedly receive splendid support from the voters of their home city, the field can be easily reduced to include the names of Mr. Frederick P. Fish of Brookline, Hon. Robert Luce of Waltham, Mr. Walton A. Green of Weston, editor of the Boston Journal, and Mr. Henry S. Dennison of Framingham. Newton voters will make no mistake if they make their choice from this group of candidates. Personally the editor favors a ticket consisting of Mr. Powers, Mr. Fish, Mr. Luce and Mr. Green. The greatest difficulty will be experienced however, in selecting 16 names from the list of 50 for the state at large. From a somewhat extended acquaintance among the candidates, the editor suggests the following list of 18, from which, it may be easier to select 16 than from the larger group of 50. In indicating these names, party affiliations have not been considered, the only desire being to select the ablest men possible. We recommend the names of Charles Francis Adams of Concord, John L. Bates of Brookline, William H. Brooks of Holyoke, Edwin U. Curtis of Boston, Louis A. Coolidge of Milton, Harvey S. Chase of Brookline, Chas. F. Choate, Jr. of Southboro, George W. Coleman of Boston, Frank E. Dunbar of Lowell, Samuel J. Elder of Winchester, Harry A. Garfield of Williamstown, A. Lawrence Lowell of Cambridge, Nathan Matthews of Boston, Josiah Quincy of Boston, Moorfield Storey of Lincoln, James A. Stiles of Gardner, David L. Walsh of Fitchburg and Sherman L. Whipple of Brookline.

Attention is invited to the statement that the Newton Trust Company will be open for deposits until 6 P. M. tomorrow afternoon on account of the provisions of the tax laws regarding donation of money in hand on April 1st.

We are absolutely compelled to carry over to next week, several columns of news.

IN SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Mr. A. C. Baxter of Boyd street was in a serious automobile accident last Sunday afternoon at Watertown when the machine which he was driving was run into by the automobile of John Carmody of Newton. Mr. Baxter was giving Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Perkins and Mrs. Eliza Eaton, of Watertown an automobile ride, and while crossing Spring street, was run into by the Carmody machine. Mrs. Eaton was so seriously injured that she died the next morning, and Mrs. Perkins also received serious injuries. Mr. Perkins was cut over the right eye.

MISS SPALDING BURIED

Funeral services for Miss Margaret Spalding of Newton Centre, who died last week at Portsmouth, N. H., were held from the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Spalding, on Paul street, on Sunday afternoon. There were many floral pieces from the school clubs of which she was a member and from individual members of her class. Rev. Oscar B. Hawes, pastor of the Second Unitarian Church, Newton Centre, conducted the services. Jacques Hoffman played several selections on the violin. The interment was at Pine Grove Cemetery, Lynn.

INTENSE ENTHUSIASM

At Patriotic Meeting Held at State Armory with Inspiring Speeches by Noted Gentlemen

Never in the history of the present generation have Newton residents been worked up to an intense strain of patriotism as shown last night in the State Armory at West Newton, at the monster mass meeting arranged by the Newton Committee on Public Safety. Every available space was occupied in the huge hall, estimated at nearly 1,600, and a crowd of more than 400 were unable to gain entrance, and were massed around the doors. The Army presented a gorgeous sight, decked out in "war array." Draped about the platform were streamers of red, white and blue bunting and an artistic arrangement of United States flags formed a background for the speakers.

A profusion of United States flags and banners were used in elaborate decorations along the entire side walls of the Armory and back of the gallery a huge flag-draped portrait of George Washington stood out prominently.

Long before the opening time the hall was taxed to its capacity and as soon as the speakers finished their address to the audience inside they were escorted to the outside to repeat their stirring talk. Just before the meeting opened the members of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R. and the Spanish War Veterans marched completely around the hall, and when seated were followed by the various troops of the Boy Scouts and local company of militia.

In their line of march around the hall everybody was on their feet, cheering frantically and waving the Stars and Stripes. A great deal of enthusiasm was shown in the singing of the patriotic airs led by the Harvard Regimental Band, and when the Boy Scouts gave their pledge to the flag.

Mr. William F. Garcelon, chairman of the local committee was the presiding officer and the speakers included Mayor Childs, Hon. John A. Keliher, Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, Senator John W. Weeks, Congressman William H. Carter and Capt. Henry D. Cormier. The speakers were accorded a most enthusiastic welcome.

Following the meeting seven additional men enrolled in company, and the roll of the Home Guard reached the 200 mark.

The speeches will be given in full in the next issue of the Graphic.

—Miss Edith Thomas held a very successful dancing party for her Friday evening class last night at the Newton Club. Mr. Stuart Daniels and Mr. Davis furnished excellent music and there was an unusually large attendance. Miss Thomas was assisted by Miss Ruth Chapin. This party was the last of the season.

—The Boston Metropolitan Society of the American Red Cross is making a canvass for volunteers for Emergency Service. Registration cards may be obtained from Mrs. H. D. Jones. It is hoped that a large response will be made to this appeal for service to be rendered as the need arises in the affairs of our country.

—The Woman's Association Home Department gave a successful entertainment Wednesday evening in Central Church parlors. The program included "Susie's Famous Kitchen Symphony Orchestra," and "A Bachelor's Dream." The trial scene from "The Merchant of Venice" was recited by Professor Charles Kidder of the Emerson School of Oratory.

MRS. HEATH KILLED

Stepping from behind one car into the path of another in front of 733 Boylston street, late yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Nellie Jones Heath of Newtonville was fatally injured. She died at the City Hospital about an hour after being taken to that institution. Mrs. Heath passed behind an outbound car and stepped in front of an inbound Harvard square car, which knocked her down between the two.

Mrs. Heath was the widow of Daniel C. Heath, the founder of the publishing house of D. C. Heath & Co. and in her own name was well known as an author and educator. She was the author of a widely used grammar and several English textbooks used in schools. For some time she lectured on educational matters and published numerous articles on schools in educational journals.

She was born in Nashville, Tenn., in 1850, and passed her girlhood there. Mr. Heath met her in Colorado Springs and there they were married on Jan. 6, 1881. Mrs. Heath was a widow with one son.

Mr. Heath was a member of the firm of Glan & Heath at the time she was located in New York city. There Mrs. Heath lived for five years, active in school matters of the city.

In 1886, Mr. Heath sold his interest in the firm, and came to Boston to found D. C. Heath & Co., publishers. The Heaths made their residence in Newtonville. Mr. Heath died Jan. 29, 1908.

Mrs. Heath is survived by three sons, James L. Knox of Boston and D. C. Heath and Warren Heath of New York city.

The funeral services will be held Sunday from the Heath homestead, 147 Highland avenue, Newtonville.

PUBLIC SAFETY WORK

Newton citizens are responding readily to the call of the Committee on Public Safety for additional recruits to Company C, and for enlistments to the Home Guard. The various committees are hard at work and it is expected that by next week, Newton's local company of the militia will have reached its full strength, a Home Guard of 500 men will be ready for the call to service for protection of the public buildings and other points, and that the city will also have the assistance of a motor cycle corp comprising about 100 members.

The first and most important step undertaken by the committee was in conducting an active campaign for fifty additional men for Company C. Automobiles placed at the disposal of the committee were brought into service with the result that nearly forty men were secured. While many failed to pass the rigid examination of the Federal authorities, there is every hope that the company's full strength will be mustered in before long.

Gen. James G. White of Newton Centre is directing the work on recruiting for the Home Guard. Fully 200 have already enrolled. While it is hoped that this body will not be called for active service, the committee feels that should home danger arise, there ought to be a body of drilled and instructed men to act and act quickly. Drills for the men already enrolled will begin next week and several officers of experience have been secured for drill instruction.

At the State Armory on Wednesday night, Arthur W. Blakemore, a former president of the Board of Aldermen and an ardent motorcyclist, had more than fifty of the 150 cycle owners of the city present for the purpose of outlining plans for a motorcycle corp. A great deal of interest was manifested and thirty signified their intentions of joining immediately. At this meeting William J. Robinson of Boston Globe staff, who spent thirteen months in the service of the English motor cycle corp, gave a short talk on the duties of the members and also offered some valuable advice on the formation of the body. The members for the present will drill at Newton and unless plans change, the men will motor there for their first drill on Sunday.

The committee have opened headquarters at the armory and Col. Morton E. Cobb of Newton Centre, secretary, is on duty every day and evening. The committee can be reached by calling Newton West 724 and the committee will be very glad to detail autos for any possible recruit to the company.

The committee is also desirous of having every automobile owner list his car so that in case of an emergency they can be called into service. Augustus T. Beatey is chairman of this work, and already a great many of the 2800 automobiles owned within the city have been listed. The work of listing all the available horses has been delegated to Dr. A. C. Boultelle of Newton Centre.

GARBAGE BIDS HIGHER

The Board of Health opened bids on Monday afternoon for collecting and disposing of the garbage of the city for the next three years.

In view of the recent report on that subject by a select committee of the aldermen, which recommended a reduction in the appropriation from $13,000 to $8,000, there was considerable interest. Four bids were received. One from J. B. Watt & Son for $6500 for one-half the city, and one from the Boston Development and Sanitary Co. for $16,800 was based on condition that the city provide and equip an adequate yard for handling the garbage. Bids from Kelley & Sullivan of Somerville for $10,000 the first year, $11,000 the second and $12,000 the third, and from William H. Mague, the present contractor for $17,000 the first, $18,500 the second, and $20,000 the third year have been taken under consideration by the Board of Health.

ENDS TUESDAY

The automobile contest which has been in progress for the past few weeks will close at nine o'clock Tuesday evening, April 3rd. At that time all activity will cease and the judges who will make the final canvass of the vote, as well as make the awards, will take charge of the vote. The last announcement of the standing of the various workers is given today and no further information relative to the outcome will be announced until after the final checking up is made and the awards decided by the judges.

The following well known gentlemen have consented to act as judges: Mr. HORACE W. ORR, President Newton Board of Trade; Alderman CHARLES N. PITTS; Mr. CHARLES H. CLARK, Treasurer Newton Savings Bank.

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., report the sale of 271 Mill street, Newtonville, to Mr. Ernest J. Bartlett, who will occupy. By a rare coincidence the well known estate is sold to a Bartlett, although not related to former owner. The estate consists of a twelve room house, garage and 26,000 square feet of land. All valued at $20,000. Joseph W. Bartlett, Adm., was the grantor.

James H. Smith, Attorney, has sold through John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., his new four apartment hollow-tile and stucco apartment building, with 9000 square feet of land, all situated at 14 to 16 Wallingford road, Aberdeen section of Brighton. Mrs. Sarah F. Ivy of Newton buys for investment. The said property is not yet assessed, but is valued at $28,000.

The annual Triangular League debate will be held in the Newton High School assembly hall, March 30, at 7:45 P. M. The opponents will be Newton and Somerville. The subject is: Resolved, that warring the constitutionality of the question, the United States should adopt a system of old-age pensions modeled upon that of Great Britain.

The Newton Debating team has been coached this year by Mr. Epstein, a former Harvard debater, so an unusually good contest is anticipated. There will be dancing afterward in the gymnasium.

COLONIAL THEATRE—"Joan the Woman" starts on its third week at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, next Monday afternoon and evening, with the unqualified endorsement of the press and the thousands who already have witnessed the engrossing scenes of this historic photo-play. Miss Geraldine Farrar, whose characterization of Joan of Arc has proved a revelation to even her most ardent admirers, has demonstrated in this picture that she has all the attributes which tend to make a screen star of the highest type, combining as she does youth, beauty and high degree of theatrical intelligence. Young and old of either sex, find in her impersonation much to admire and praise.

vigorously and not feebly. Only so shall we be able to hand down to our children a nation worthy of its founders. Only so shall we be able to maintain those ideals for which our Flag stands. They are ideals which must endure long after wars shall have ceased, long after the nations shall have beaten their swords into ploughshares, their spears into pruning hooks. They are ideals which will inspire and lead men on until our Savior, the Prince of Peace, has at last come into his own!

The Stars and Stripes! Last summer when I came away from Plattsburg there journeyed with me a New York man. He belonged, I fear, to the idle rich. But he had learned something while at Plattsburg, and I know that he had learned something because he said to me, "When I came up here I did not care two cents for the Flag. But now I just love it!" Today we have gathered together to consecrate ourselves anew to the Colors. And we have placed those Colors in this church in order that our children coming here, and seeing the Flag here, may learn to love it—in order that we who already love the Flag may learn to love it more passionately than we do. For it is

And how it flies today!
In your land and my land,
And half a world away.
Rose-red and blood-red
The stripes forever gleam,
Snow-white and soul-white
The good forefathers dream,
Sky-blue and true-blue
With stars to beam a light—
The glorified guildon of the day,
A shelter through the night.

Your flag and my flag!
And, O, how much it holds—
Your land and my land Secure within its folds!
Your heart and my heart
Beat quicker at the sight,
Sun-kissed and wind-tossed,
Red and blue and white
The one flag, the great flag,
The flag for which we live—
Glorified all else besides,
The red and white and blue!

Elliot Church, Newton

Elliot Church was taxed to its capacity by the large congregation which attended the Flag Service Sunday morning.

The National Flag was presented by Mayor Edwin O. Childs and Rep. Thomas Weston Jr. presented the State Flag which Rev. H. Grant Person accepted in behalf of the Church. Military escorts from Company C. and Battery A. M. V. M. carried the Flags and buglers trumpeted the call to the colors. The two Flags were hung from the pillars of the North and South transepts.

It was one of the most stirring and impressive services ever held in the church.

Representative Weston said in part: The flag of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts bears on one side a representation of the coat of arms of the Commonwealth on a white field, an Indian bearded and moccasined with a bow in his right hand and over his head an arm and hand grasping a drawn sword; below him, in Latin the motto of the Commonwealth. On the other side a blue shield bearing the representation of a green pine tree, upon a white field.

The coat of arms of the Commonwealth was adopted by the Governors Council in 1780, and in 1787, the Governor ordered that the standard which the Massachusetts troops carried should be of white silk, with this coat of arms. This has never been changed.

The reverse side in the civil war and after, often carried the name and designation of the regiment. The pine tree flag was first carried by the Continental troops at the Battle of Bunker Hill. It was most fitting to have this emblem placed on the reverse side of the Massachusetts flag.

It was not until 1908, at the recommendation of Gov. Guild that a statute was passed, thus definitely fixing by law the flag as it is today.

The next year a law was passed ordering every state building, including armories and institutions of every kind to fly both the national and the state flag every day.

It is fitting that this church should have before it not only the stars and stripes, typical of union and liberty, but also the white flag of the old Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Ever to remind us of the ideals and traditions of Plymouth Rock, of Lexington, Concord and Bunker Hill, ever to keep before us the memory and service of Gov. Bradford, Sam Adams, Daniel Webster, Charles Sumner and George Frisbie Hoar.

The motto of the Commonwealth meant much to the men of 1776; it meant more to the men who fought to preserve the union in '61; it should mean more to all of us today, and wish that this motto could be stamped and impressed upon the brain, the heart and the lives of every man, woman and child not only in this Commonwealth but in the United States of America and the whole world. "By the sword we seek peace, but no peace without Liberty."

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The usual Wednesday morning Assembly was held in the hall on March 28. Mr. P. Alexander Chandler, of Chandler and Farquhar Company, gave a very inspiring talk to the pupils of the three upper classes.

Final preparations are now being made for the annual Senior Play, which will be held in the Assembly Hall of this school on the evenings of April 13 and 14. "The Elopement of Ellen" is the play which will be presented. An innovation this year will be the selling of candy between the acts.

At the regular Assembly on Wednesday, March 21, the pupils of the three upper classes were addressed by Mr. Alton Briggs. His subject was "The High Cost of Living." Mr. Briggs gave a number of definite reasons for the great increase in the prices of various necessities.

DANCING PARTY

A very pleasant affair of the past week for the children was the dancing party on Saturday afternoon at the Newton Club, which Miss Edith Thomas gave for her children's classes.

This was the last party of the season and there were about 75 little folks present. They presented a very pretty sight as their teacher led them thru the various forms of the grand march, and they danced most gracefully, the waltz, two step, fox trot and many other popular steps.

A lively program of up-to-date music was furnished by Mrs. Bryant of Boston.

Miss Thomas was presented with a beautiful bouquet of sweet peas. She was assisted by Miss Ruth Pierce and Miss Ruth Chapin.

There was a good attendance of the parents and friends of the pupils, who greatly enjoyed the party.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—Guy Bates Post in "The Masquerader" will enter upon his second highly successful month at the Plymouth Theatre next Monday evening. This latest production by Richard Walton Tully is on a par with his other unusual and elaborate offerings, including "The Flame" and "Omar, the Tentmaker," and has won the emphatic approval of the Boston public. In his dual role, Mr. Post is giving the best performance of his career, and the work of the splendid supporting cast, including Louis Calvert, Thais Lawton, Florence Malone, Clarence Handysides and Ian Forbes Robertson, is more than meritorious. The play is in nine scenes, and the speed and facility with which the settings are accomplished has excited wide comment.

MR. LORD DEAD

Charles William Lord, who died last Friday at his home at 151 Waverley Avenue, Newton, was formerly a member of an old-time shipping firm in Boston. He was born in Kennebunk, Me., on Jan. 17, 1845. Previous to entering business in Boston in 1869, Mr. Lord went abroad and for two years travelled through Europe. He later became a member of the firm of George C. Lord & Co., who were managing owners of vessels sailing to various foreign ports. They had Boston offices in the old Merchants Exchange Building in State street, which was demolished to make way for the Exchange Building. The firm continued in business till about 1890, when it was dissolved. Since then Charles W. Lord had been associated with Charles Edward Lord, 24 Milk street, in the management and care of estates.

Mr. Lord was married twice. The first time, Miss Jennie M. Chapman became his wife on Nov. 28, 1866. She died in 1868, and on June 23, 1870, he married Miss Annie H. Anderson of Portland, Me. His wife survives Mr. Lord, as do his daughter, Mrs. Charles P. Beason of Newton, and two sons, John Anderson Lord of Danvers, and Robert H. W. Lord of Gorham, Me.

For wedding stationery, Ward's 57-61 Franklin St., have an enviable reputation for absolute correctness and highest quality.

—The cordial spirit of co-operation among the Christian Churches of Newtonville, which has been so often remarked, is to find another expression in a series of Union Services which are to be held in the different Churches on the first five evenings of Holy Week. Each service will be conducted by the Pastor of the Church in which it is held, but other ministers will be present and taking part, and the sermon in each case will be delivered by a visiting minister.

—The schedule of services is as follows: Sunday, April 1st, at the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church, Preacher, Rev. Richard T. Loring.

Monday, April 2nd, at the Church of the New Jerusalem. Preacher, Rev. Rufus H. Dix.

Tuesday, April 3rd, at the Universalist Church of Newtonville. Preacher, Rev. Peter Black.

Wednesday, April 4th, at St. John's Episcopal Church. Preacher, Rev. A. J. Muste.

Thursday, April 5th, at Central Congregational Church. Preacher, Rev. E. M. Lawrence Gould.

The Sunday evening service will begin at 7:30; all others at 7:45 P. M.

The ministers and congregations extend a most cordial invitation to the public.

Union Service in Newtonville

The cordial spirit of co-operation among the Christian Churches of Newtonville, which has been so often remarked, is to find another expression in a series of Union Services which are to be held in the different Churches on the first five evenings of Holy Week. Each service will be conducted by the Pastor of the Church in which it is held, but other ministers will be present and taking part, and the sermon in each case will be delivered by a visiting minister.

The schedule of services is as follows: Sunday, April 1st, at the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church, Preacher, Rev. Richard T. Loring.

Monday, April 2nd, at the Church of the New Jerusalem. Preacher, Rev. Rufus H. Dix.

Tuesday, April 3rd, at the Universalist Church of Newtonville. Preacher, Rev. Peter Black.

MONDAY, APRIL 2ND, in the Church of the New Jerusalem. Address by the Rev. Rufus H. Dix.

TUESDAY, APRIL 3RD, in the Universalist Church of Newtonville. Address by the Rev. Peter Black.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 4TH, in St. John's Episcopal Church. Address by the Rev. A. J. Muste.

THURSDAY, APRIL 5TH, in the Central Congregational Church. Address by the Rev. E. M. Lawrence Gould.

The Sunday evening service will begin at 7:30; all others at 7:45 P. M.

The public is cordially urged to co-operate in making these services representative of a united spirit of devotion in these troublous times.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The "Elopement of Ellen" the annual senior play of the Technical High School will be given in the Technical High School Hall, Friday and Saturday evenings, April 13 and 14, at 7:45 P. M. The play has been somewhat added to and enlarged so that it ought to prove more than usually interesting and amusing. The cast includes the following members of the class: Alice Foley, Grace Kneeland, Ruth Taylor, Mildred Bucknam, Hazel Chivers, Margaret Hanlon, Lawrence Barber, John Farnan, Herbert McGill, and Lawrence Sullivan. There has been a large advance sale of tickets but there are still available about one hundred seats for Friday evening and about half that number for Saturday evening's performance.

Mr. Horace Taylor, lecturer on Natural Science, and formerly a teacher in this school, addressed the members of the Senior Class at their assembly recently. His subject was "The Evolution of Bird Life," and very skillfully and vividly, in a forty-five minute period, Mr. Taylor covered the story of many millions of years. His lantern slides were particularly good, while his graphic charts showing animal kinship were his original work of making clear his points. He is thoroughly in love with his subject and is a convincing speaker. Mr. Taylor said in part:

Birds like mammals came from reptile stock, but from different reptile stock than mammals; so birds are not ancestral to mammals as we would be. A parallel side class which developed feathers and special mobility in air, while mammals developed fur and more general versatility in several directions. Another great superiority of mammals over birds lies in the enhancement of motherhood, the care of the young, and the possibility of a longer youth and period of education. Birds sprang from agile, branch-jumping reptiles of the Jurassic Age, twenty million or so years ago. Feathers were developed for a warm covering, but this took eons of time, and with it came the survival and gradual out numbering by those individuals who were most efficient.

Among these tree jumping reptiles with feather scales, a skinny parachute from elbow to knee would be at a premium, and especially so if it had a good outgrowth of stiff feathers along the edge. Thus it was that these tree reptiles, near kin of the great dinosaurs of the ground, were gradually transformed into the four winged, gliding reptile bird, Tetrapteryx.

By the middle Jurassic time the front wings grew stronger and the hind wings were used less and less as wings. He was finding a more plane better than a biplane, but he was still a volplaner and glided instead of flapped. Therefore his long lizard like tail was a great advantage. His teeth were also retained. His skeletons, called Archeopteryx, have been found in the rocks.

Much later in the world's history we find the Sunset Bird, Hesperornis, still uses teeth to catch fish, but he has lost his tail and wings and forehadows the fate of the Giant Auk. Thus we see how some of the birds by spreading into new lines of life work have become specialized for the water, or for running on the ground as the ostrich. They gave up priceless power of flight in order to economize in a more limited but a less crowded theatre of existence. For instance the Penguin, while he fed and laid the Sunset bird, decided to keep his wings and do his swimming with them as paddles instead of using his feet.

The noble Albatross typifies the greatest aerial master for he flies almost endlessly, without working, sailing on wind currents which he detects as they rise off the waves.

The ostrich type of bird evolved from smaller birds like the Tinamon of South America, which runs in the grass as a method of escape.

As a contrast in size with the ostrich or the recently extinct Moa of New Zealand, that was the largest bird ever known, let us turn to the Humming bird, which deserves comparison with the Albatross in a discussion of flight. While the ostrich typifies the pinnacle of economy in flight power, the little Humming bird typifies the pinnacle of energy. Thus we see that flight, the glorious gift of nature to birds above all other animals, has reached two different pinnacles, sailing and flapping. Our monoplanes with rotary motors seem to combine in one machine what it takes two birds to represent.

Many of our old Archeopteryxes stayed in trees and improved as tree birds. One such called the Hoactzin is now living in the Brazilian jungle. He has free fingers on his wings and many other traits allying him to the root stock of Pheasants, Ralts, Pigeons and Touracons. The Touracon best shows us how the dainty song birds and our Hummer could have descended from the first bird through a type like the Brazilian Hoactzin.

Thus we see how millions of years and the laws of nature can transform and create the wonderful forms of life that make up all our cousins on this planet. The histories of the Bluebird, the Woodpecker, the Owl, the Flamingo, or in the class of beasts, the Sloth, the Kangaroo, the Whale, the Bat, the Giraffe, and finally Man himself, are the most fascinating stories of Science. They serve to give us a deep philosophic perspective of how we got here and what we are put here for.

WILBUR THEATRE—Messrs. Lee Schubert and John Craig announce the second and last week of Frances Nordstrom's new play, "He Said and She Believed Him," at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, commencing next Monday evening. This exceptionally rapid and bright pace has been delighting large audiences the past week. "He Said and She Believed Him" is in three acts, with scenes laid in New York at the present time. The story is woven around a fashionable doctor, whose gallantry is mistaken by several of his female patients for affectionate advances. Mary Young is cast for the leading female role, and Messrs. Craig and Schubert have a notable supporting cast of metropolitan players.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

At the regular Assembly on Wednesday morning, March 28, the three upper classes were entertained by a most enjoyable musical program, which was presented by three very talented musicians, one of whom is a graduate of the Newton High School. Miss Bessie Talbot Salmon, of Newton Highlands, who teaches both English and French singing, sang a number of short soprano solos, including a group of old English folk songs and four French airs. Her songs were extremely popular with the students. Miss Salmon was accompanied by J. Angus Winter at the piano and by Mrs. Kenneth Hastings on the violin. Mrs. Hastings also gave a number of short violin solos. Patriotic airs were sung by the students at the beginning and at the close of the program.

The annual Boys' Triangular Debate will be held on the evening of Friday, March 30, between the debating teams of the Newton, Brookline, and Somerville High Schools. The question which will be debated at all three schools is: "Resolved: That, waiving all question of constitutional, the United States should adopt a system of old age pensions modelled on that of Great Britain." The Newton negative team, consisting of Ralph Emery, Russell Ford, and Richard Cole, will debate against the Somerville affirmative team in the Newton Classical High School Hall. There will be dancing in the gymnasium after the speaking.

By a recent Australian Ballot held by the Senior Class, Russell Simpson was elected Class Orator, and Miss Elizabeth Carter was chosen as Class Historian.

The school will close at noon today for the annual Easter Vacation, which will last nine days.

The candidates for the school baseball team held their first outdoor practice on Monday afternoon of this week. During the rest of the week the squad has held practice daily at Cabot Park. A fairly large number of candidates have reported. The first game of the season will be played on Friday, April 6, against Watertown High School. Coach Dickinson is now rapidly recovering from his illness, and expects to take charge of the candidates next Monday.

MUSICAL

Mrs. Lillian Haynes Walker, violinist, and Mrs. Pauline Mason White, pianist, entertained a company of friends at a very delightful musicale on Monday afternoon at Mrs. Walker's residence on Simpson terrace, Newtonville.

A program of choice selections was given which comprised works by the great composers.

The opening number, Rubinstein's "Sonata" for violin and piano by Mrs. Walker and Mrs. White, was a beautiful selection which was most pleasing to the audience.

Mrs. White, interpreted with marked skill, Chopin's "Berceuse" and "Prelude" and MacDowell's "Scotch Poem" and "Etude de Concert," and demonstrated her ability as a pianist to good advantage, her execution being excellent.

Fisher's "Deep River," Cue's "Oriental," and Goen's "Schirzo" was a charming group by Mrs. Walker, who also played "Baby Mine," a touching little melody, and "Tarantelle," and her interpretation of the music was forceful, appreciative and characteristic. She gave to her playing that beauty of tone which is so essential to the complete charm of music and is the foundation of the art, and held her audience captive from start to finish.

The guests present enjoyed an afternoon of rare pleasure and at the close of the program tea was served by the hostess.

IT COULDN'T BE DONE

Somebody said it couldn't be done. But he with a chuckle replied That maybe it couldn't, but he would be one Who wouldn't say so till he'd tried. So he buckled right in, with a trace of a grin On his face. If he worried he hid it. He started to sing as he tackled the thing That couldn't be done and he did it. —IKE HARRIS.

SENIOR PLAY PRESENTED IN CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The annual Senior Play was presented in the Assembly Hall of the Newton Classical High School on Saturday evening, March 24. The presentation was enjoyed by a large audience, and was a decided success from a financial, as well as a dramatic, standpoint. "Number 313," written by Coggins and Scott of the Senior Class, was a mystery dealing with a German attempt to steal a British secret. The scene was laid in Germany and in Halifax. The play was admirably presented by a cast chosen from the Senior Class. This cast had been coached by Miss Alice Carey of the English Department. Miss Carey was ably assisted in the coaching by Miss Elise Dodge.

The most prominent feature of the presentation was the excellent acting of Richard Cole and John Clapp. Cole's part was perhaps the most difficult in the play, being that of a public gentleman of Halifax who was a secret member of the German Spy System. Clapp gave an unusually fine impersonation of a chief of German spies. A close second to these two prominent part in the play in a most creditable fashion, Warren Brimblecom, in the role of a country constable, made a decided hit from the moment of his appearance until the end.

Among the girls' parts, the most noticeable success was that of Miss Marjory Howland in the role of a traitor's daughter. Her admirable impersonation of a villainess has caused much favorable comment among those who witnessed the play. Miss Doris Lovell took the part of a middle-aged lady in an excellent manner.

After the play there was a social hour in the Library, where refreshments were sold. This was followed by dancing in the gymnasium. Between the acts of the play, candy was sold by several girls of the Sophomore Class.

The complete cast of the play was the following: John Clapp, Chester Whelden, James Kilton, Harold Cutter, Paul Nash, Leslie Perkins, William Fawcett, Doris Lovell, Mary Harrington, Harold Doherty, Richard Cole, Marjory Howland, Elizabeth Clapp, Russell Simpson, Frederick Ranlett Jr., and Warren Brimblecom.

The music was furnished by the Newton High School Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. H. M. Walton. The members of the orchestra were Winthrop Whitaker, Bartlett Boyden, Allen Symonds, Aldith Barrett, Natalie C. True, Ralph Billings, Natalie Ham, Richard T. Loring Jr., Donald Curry, and Mildred Colby.

The ushers were Clark Macomber, Damon Jones, Philip Stone, Lawrence Trowbridge, Hubert Ripley, Bradford Sturge, Donald Curry, Ralph Huntley, Philip Holmes, and Herbert Quick.

The business manager of the presentation was Paul P. Coggins, '17. The chief stage manager was J. M. Scott, '17. The assistant stage managers were G. Walcott Forbush and Robert Lutz.

Scores of Newton residents were convinced last Saturday evening that a really good vaudeville program can be seen outside of Boston proper for the bill presented at the Park Theatre in Waltham was unexcelled by any Boston show, without a single exception. Another bill of the same calibre will be put on tonight and tomorrow. Telephone orders are attended to by special attendants, doing away with the necessity of waiting in line.

At the head of the bill is Prescott, the master mind of mental mysticism, without doubt the most clever mind reader on the stage today. His act compares favorably with that of Kar-Mi, the headliner a week ago, although of a different nature. Prescott, with his partner, Miss Hope Eden, performs many deeds which cannot be understood but which will satisfy this satisfying the desire for amusement.

"Sloth," the fourth of the Seven Deadly Sins, with Charlotte Walker in the leading role, will be the feature picture, while a news reel will also be shown.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Amidst the excitement and rush for preparations to meet the present national crisis it seems likely that there is danger of confusing the issue of universal military training with whatever military preparedness may be needed just now. It may be well to stop and think whether we are able at the present moment to decide what will be best for the country after the war is over. Are we not too near to things to get a true perspective? The Springfield Republican in a recent editorial on this point says:

"What military system the United States will require after the war must depend chiefly on the results of the war and the nature of the settlement; whatever preparations are made now should be regarded as merely temporary while plans are maturing for a system that will meet actual needs as they develop. At the present moment nobody knows enough to prescribe a permanent military policy."

Club women look and listen before endorsing any principle which might plunge this country into a condition from which Russia is just emerging and which has been largely responsible for the cataclysm that has shaken the world even to its foundations.

State Federation

Wednesday, April 4, Civic-Conservation conference at Medford.

Annual Meeting

June 6 and 7 are the dates decided upon for the annual meeting of the State Federation and Great Barrington is the place. The fifth annual meeting was held there in 1897, when the Thursday Morning Club as hostess, celebrated its fifth anniversary. Again in 1907 the Federation went there for its fifteenth annual meeting and now in 1917 it returns for the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Thursday Morning Club. No details can as yet be announced.

Local Announcements

Guest day will be observed by the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. J. Bicknell of Erie avenue.

Miss Marion Dorr of Lake avenue will be hostess for the weekly meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. on Monday afternoon.

The regular meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club will be held on Monday afternoon with Mrs. Leon Rogers of Lenox street.

On Monday afternoon, April 2, Mr. Henry Weston will give Personal Reminiscences of the Civil War before the Brightestone Club.

The club announces a long list of activities during the month of April for the benefit of the May Festival. A cake and candy sale next Monday afternoon, a Chinese luncheon on Wednesday at one o'clock, and a Pivot Whist the same evening.

The Abundant Review Club will meet with Miss Margaret Haskell of Vista avenue on April 3rd.

At the meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday afternoon Dr. Willard Scott will speak on "Our Mental Movies."

Under the auspices of the Home Economics department of the Guild on April 5, 6 and 7 there will be a Twentieth Century Cooking School and demonstration of pure foods in charge of Mrs. F. H. Daniels.

On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club will hold its monthly business meeting. The second hour will be in charge of the Industrial and Social Conditions committee.

The annual meeting of the Newton Ladies' Home Circle will be held on Thursday, April 5th, at 2 P. M. in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville. There will be the annual reports of all committees, election of officers, report from the Federation Board meeting and other matters of interest. A full attendance is desired, as it is a most important meeting. Tea will be served.

The Newton Centre Woman's Club announces a debate by club members for its meeting on Thursday, April 5, in the chapel of the First Baptist Church.

Local Happenings

At the home of Mrs. Emory W. Clark on Monday afternoon of this week the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. held its regular meeting. Dr. Caroline Y. Wentworth treated various phases of Community Hygiene and considerable interest was shown through the discussion, which the talk aroused. There was the customary social hour and refreshments.

At the meeting of the Monday Club held with Mrs. Walter Godsoe on March 26, the subject of the afternoon was "Midsummer Night's Dream." Mrs. Harry Kimball gave a concise resume of the plot, after which Miss Call of the Emerson School read the rehearsal and play of Pyramus and Thisbe in a charming manner. Her interpretation of the various characters was most realistic and the contrast between the fanciful fairies and the hard handed mortals was well brought out.

On March 26 the Waban Woman's Club was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. George Phipps. The program was a musical one, given by the Olivette Trio, Miss Mary Cooper, violin; Miss Gladys Berry, cello; Miss Olive Davis, piano, and Mrs. Collier, soprano, a member of the club.

The business meeting was unusually interesting and the members listened to the report of the Newton Federation delegate, Mrs. Helen Andrews, with a feeling that the work now being done, and that planned for early spring and fall, is well worth while. Classes are to be formed in Emergency Aid, both medical and surgical. She spoke of a course of six lectures in civics, of a class in Spanish that is to begin, in November. She also referred to the bill for Daylight Deliveries. The president spoke of classes to be formed for Nursing and First Aid, and of the decision reached at the last board meeting, to give $12.00 towards the increase in the salary of the Newton teacher in Nature Study, Mr. McDonald, $10.00 to the Newton Welfare Bureau, $15.00 to the Newton Hospital, $5.00 to the West Newton Music School, and $2.00 to the Consumers' League. These were voted upon and approved by the club.

Mrs. Irving O. Palmer was the guest of honor. She graciously spoke a few words, and complimented Mrs. Andrews' comprehensive report of the Federation meeting. She mentioned the Patriotic Fete to be given on May 31st, in which the Boy Scouts and the Fireside Girls are to assist. The meeting was then adjourned and tea was served. Miss Mary Champlin and Mrs. Leah H. Robinson poured and were assisted by Mrs. Hanna Street, Mrs. Edith Lamb, Mrs. Emma Rice, Mrs. Harriet A. Harlow.

The Fortnightly Club of Newton Center met at the home of Mrs. Robert Clark. Dr. George W. Nasmith gave a most interesting talk, the subject being "After the War, What?"

Having lived in various countries as a member of the International Student Body, he spoke from personal knowledge of conditions.

He feels that economic pressure will end the war before long, and that State Socialism will be continued, citing the Nationalizing of many industries, as competition must be eliminated for the great debts incurred.

Using the incident of Edison signing a contract for a new fireproof laboratory while his was still burning, he advanced some plans for a new World Federation, quoting the League to Enforce Peace as the wisest measure. As Nasmith, broad minded speaker, Dr. Nasmith most cordially commended. Tea was served.

GIRL SCOUT MASS MEETING

A Girl Scout Mass Meeting is to be held on Monday afternoon, April 2nd at 3.30 o'clock at the Classical High School, Newtonville. Mrs. James J. Storrow, of Boston, will speak on "The Girl Scout Movement." Mr. James C. Irwin, District Commissioner of the Boy Scouts of Greater Boston, will preside.

A company of Girl Scouts has already been successfully formed in Newtonville under the leadership of Mrs. J. C. Irwin, chairman, and Miss Elizabeth Westgate, captain. At the first meeting held a week ago, sixty-seven girls enrolled and this group has now begun knitting sleeveless sweaters, mufflers, etc. Although the organization is still in its infancy, the enthusiasm is keen and the possibilities unlimited.

Mrs. Storrow, being one of the leaders of this movement in the state, is well fitted to tell of the value the community will derive from the organization of the Girl Scouts. The meeting is open to all interested and is being held under the auspices of the Newtonville Branch of the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness.

COLONIAL TEA

Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., will hold a Colonial Tea and Food Sale next Saturday afternoon from two to five o'clock at the home of Mrs. Elmer L. Gibbs, 90 Washington street, Newton.

Newton

—Rev. Reginald Coe of Belmont will preach at the Lenten service Wednesday evening at 7.45 in Grace Church.

—Miss Mildred Clark entertained Mrs. Charles Ellsworth Gibson, Jr., on Friday at her home on Claremont street.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Kellogg are expected home from Florida this week and will be guests at "The Hollis" for the present.

—The Elliot Guild meeting will be held next week on Tuesday afternoon with the Misses Jewett at the Mt. Ida School.

—Miss Katherine Ganse who has been visiting relatives in Chicago is now being entertained by friends in Springfield, Missouri.

—The Mt. Ida School is closed for the Annual Easter vacation and many of the students have gone to their homes in the west. The Glee Club Concert and Dance was held last week on Wednesday evening.

—A Colonial Tea and Food Sale will be held under the auspices of Sarah Hull Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, at the home of Mrs. Elmer L. Gibbs, 90 Washington street, Newton, on Saturday, April 7th, from 2 until 5 o'clock.

—Mrs. Prescott Warren of Hyde avenue is among the patronesses for the Easter Dance of the Mothers' Rest Association, the big society event which will be held on Saturday evening, April 14th, in Bray Hall, Newton Centre.

—Dr. Charles F. Painter reported to the police Tuesday that his automobile was stolen early Sunday evening in front of Grace Episcopal Church. Tuesday the machine was found abandoned by Patrolman Cronin near Adams street.

—Next Sunday morning the Men's League of Immanuel Baptist Church will present a silk flag to the church. There will be services appropriate to the occasion. An invitation has been extended to Charles Ward Post, 62, G. A. R., to be present.

—The funeral of Mrs. Maria A. Healey, wife of Edward J. Healey, late home, 47 Clinton street, Newton, followed by a requiem high mass at the Church of Our Lady, celebrated by Rev. Fr. A. S. Malone. The interment followed in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Lovely, widow of Patrick Lovely, a resident of Newton for the past half century, took place Wednesday morning at her late home, 296 Watertown street, followed by a requiem high mass at the Church of Our Lady, celebrated by Rev. Fr. Kelly. The interment followed in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. Two sons and a daughter survive.

—Miss Mabel Bundy of Vassar College is spending the Easter vacation at her home on Lake avenue.

—Mr. George Nutting of Lake avenue leaves Sunday for a ten weeks' trip to North Conway, N. H.

—Mr. Harold Miller of Langley road who has been ill at his home for the past month is able to be out.

—Mr. Frank Scudder of Hingham, formerly of Newton Centre, is spending a few weeks at Newton Highlands.

—Mr. Andrew Barney of Dedham street has gone to Provincetown where he will remain until the first of May.

—Mr. Alfred C. Foss of Beacon street has returned to his home after a month's vacation spent in Nashua, N. H.

—Miss Katherine Flanders of Vassar College is spending the Easter vacation with friends in Washington, D. C.

—Miss Olive Thompson of Lake avenue is enjoying a trip to Brunswick, Me., where she will stay until Spring.

—Mr. Ernest J. Bartlett of Knowles street has purchased the house at 271 Mt. Street, Newtonville, and will occupy it about April 1st.

—Mrs. Edward P. Bosson entertained the members of the Newton Highlands Monday Club on Monday afternoon at her residence on The Ledges road. A reading of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was given.

—The newly organized Friday Club of the Unitarian Church held its first meeting on Monday evening. Supper was served and was followed by an address by Mr. Charles F. Flammann, who related his experiences in the European War.

—The W. F. M. S. of the Methodist Episcopal Church held its monthly meeting last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. A. Quick on Pleasant street. The address was made by Mrs. Charles Parkhurst of Boston, who took as her subject "Our Goal."

—The many friends of Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, resident Bishop of the Methodist Church of New England will be glad to learn that an opportunity has been afforded them to hear Dr. Hughes preach next Wednesday evening at the Union Services at the Trinity Church.

—The Easter Dance of the Mothers' Rest Association will be held on Saturday evening, April 14th, in Bray Hall. The music will be of the best and every provision has been made for the pleasure of the guests, including boxes of any size for parties for which no extra charge will be made. Mrs. George W. Crampton is chairman of the committee of arrangements. For further information telephone Newton South 586.

—Rev. and Mrs. Emory W. Hunt announce the engagement of their daughter, Harriet Olney Hunt, to Clarence Earl Richards, Jr., of Columbus, O., son of C. E. Richards, the senior member of the firm of Columbus architects, Richards, McCarty & Bulford. Miss Hunt was graduated in 1914 from Denison University, of which her father was president. Mr. Richards received his baccalaureate degree at the same college in 1913 and will be graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1918.

—Funeral services for the late Edward H. Mason were held Saturday afternoon in the Baptist Church. The beautiful floral offerings were indicative of his wide-spread acquaintance. The services in charge of Rev. Dr. E. W. Hunt, the pastor, were simple but unusually impressive and consisted of organ music, a prayer by Rev. Dr. Geo. E. Horr, president of the Newton Theological Institution in recognition of Mr. Mason's deep interest in that work. The interment was in the family tomb at Newton Cemetery.

—Next week the following program has been arranged by the various churches of this village. On Wednesday evening the services will be held in the Trinity Church, and Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, resident Bishop of New England for the Methodist Church will preach the sermon; on Thursday evening there will be a union communion service in the Methodist Church and on Good Friday the services will be in the Congregational Church. On the Sunday following the Easter music will be given at the respective churches.

THE NEWTON WOMAN'S CLUB

The regular meeting of the Club was held March 22 at the home of Mrs. Lindwish Schwartz, 1809 Beacon street. It was home talent day. The program was a varied one—humor and pathos intermingled. A pleasing section entitled, "The Good Prince," by Oscar Wild, was given with music in a most charming manner. An Automobile Ride caused great merriment as did many funny stories. Songs were given and much enjoyed. A pleasing feature was the showing of some beautiful Chinese embroideries by the hostess and giving a description of them. Social tea was served. It seemed to be the consensus of the meeting that it was the most interesting one of the season.

MR. WORTERS DEAD

Mr. Willie John Worters of Newtonville passed away on Friday, March 23, after a long illness. He is survived by a widow and two children. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at his late home 83 Central avenue. Rev. Peter Black, pastor of the Newtonville Methodist Church, conducted an impressive service at 2 o'clock and sacred selections were rendered by a quartet.

A service was also held by the Red Men of which the deceased was a member. The burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

Have been built and actually delivered to retail buyers since August 1, 1916. These figures—320,817—represent the actual number of cars manufactured by us since August 1st, 1916, and delivered by our agents to retail buyers. This unusual fall and winter demand for Ford cars makes it necessary for us to confine the distribution of cars only to those agents who have orders for immediate delivery to retail customers, rather than to permit any agent to stock cars in anticipation of later spring sales.

We are issuing this notice to intending buyers that they may protect themselves against delay or disappointment in securing Ford cars. If, therefore, you are planning to purchase a Ford car, we advise you to place your order and take delivery now.

Immediate orders will have prompt attention.

Delay in buying at this time may cause you to wait several months.

Interesting Speeches at Meeting Held in Bray Hall Newton Centre

A meeting was held last week Thursday in Bray Hall, Newton Centre and attended by about 200 persons at which addresses were made in favor of "Honor Without War." The matter was briefly mentioned last week and a more elaborate account follows:

Some of the remarks of the speakers caused considerable acrimonious comment from several patriotic spirited men in the audience who were put right on the defensive and were not at all backward in showing their disapproval at many of the sentiments expressed. So anxious were they to refute some of the statements that they frequently interrupted the speakers who were not in the least disconcerted.

Colonel James Gardner White, who was among the audience, arose and emphasized the fact that we were not going into the war with European nations, but we were simply going to defend ourselves, and he believed that we should certainly be prepared to defend ourselves, or we will suffer ignominious defeat. Every God fearing man who respects his country should be in a position to defend his country, and he, himself, he said, stood ready at any time to offer his services and enlist.

When Professor Hudson commenced an attack on newspaper headlines, which he said were "grossly misleading," and quoted from the old reliable Boston Transcript, the indignation of Mr. Frederick E. Stanley was instantly aroused and jumped up, armed with a Transcript, and vigorously denied the accusation and begged to be allowed to read the full headlines, as the speaker had based his accusation on only half of the headlines, which he had read. Mr. Stanley then asked if all the views of the pacifists were based on half truths or whole truths?

The meeting was intensely interesting and exciting, and all of the three speakers advanced some good logical reasons why we should advocate peace, in spite of being interrupted and heckled by shouts from the audience of "How about the Lusitania?" "How about Belgium?" and "How about Armenia?"

Rev. Mr. Muste said in part:—
But there are things worse than war? A few perhaps. Why, then, are we asked to go to war now? Not to defend American soil from invasion, nor to defend our national integrity from a direct attack upon it. Germany attacks our shipping in order to get at England, just as England has interfered with the flow of our trade in order to get at Germany.

But neutral commerce is interfered with. True, but are you ready to sacrifice millions of dollars, thousands of lives, numerous liberties, to fight Germany, when so doing gives you no guarantee that in the next great naval war neutral rights will not be invaded? But American lives have been lost. True, and we are all unspeakably grieved and indignant. But war will not bring back the dead. Will the sacrifice of thousands of Germans and Americans "make up" for those already slain?

But our "honor" is at stake? Our honor is not in the keeping of a submarine commander, nor is the method by which we defend it subject to his dictation. If we choose to defend our honor by appealing still to Germany's reason, by patience, by self-control, we are at liberty to do so, and nothing but our own conscience can decide whether we are cowards or not. Once men thought they could defend their "honor" only by the duel. We know better now.

Probably, however, the best feeling in America is that the Allies are fighting for certain great principles in which we also believe and that we are recreant to duty if we do not go in and help. Note that in one aspect the war certainly is not one for great principles, but a war between Austria and Russia for dominance in the Balkans, between Germany and Russia for control of Constantinople, between England and Germany for control of Mesopotamia and the Persian Gulf, between Italy and Austria for control of the Adriatic, between England and Germany for the chief "place in the sun." If we go into the war, we inevitably lend our support to the Allies in these controversies. Are we prepared to do so?

It is said to be a war on the part of the Allies for the small nations. But how kind and unselfish has England's blockade been to Holland and the Scandinavian countries? In what essential is the invasion of Greece neutrality different from the invasion of Belgium neutrality?

It is said to be a war for democracy. Let us take the Allies at their word. They will want us, then, in this crisis to do what seems to us best for the cause of democracy throughout the world. They will want us to remember that John Morley, as to whose allegiance to democracy there can be no doubt, left the English government the moment war was declared and has not publicly come to its support. They will want us to remember that if we go to war for freedom, we must submit as England has done, to at least the temporary suspension of our liberties of speech, press, assembly, religion. They will want us to consider that in our own midst the conservative elements, however noble their motives, have been most eager for resort to arms and will probably come more and more into power if we go to war. They will want us to remember that there are millions of Social Democrats in Germany, and will want us to make sure before we go to war as to whether this is the best way to assure these Democrats in Germany official victory over German monarchy and Junkerism. They will want us to ask ourselves whether in this crisis when there is actual danger of the complete break-up of Christian civilization, the best service we can render to the world is not to keep cool, to stay out of the war, to multiply many times our labor for the relief of suffering, and to prepare for large and heroic service in the reconstruction period.

These are some of the reasons that might justify a refusal to take up arms. Those, however, who are clear in their minds that the battle is essentially one between democracy and autocracy and who believe in the ultimate resort to force, are doubtless now called upon to fight. If they should fail to persuade the nation to declare war, they must go over and enlist in the Allied armies.

But the Christian, that is to say, the man who thoroughly believes in the spirit and method of Jesus, will not be able, in my humble opinion, to reach this conclusion. He would have to rewrite his New Testament before he could do so, and read, "Blessed are they who stand up and fight for their rights, for they shall inherit the earth. An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth. If any man proclaim any other law, he is a deluded pacifist or a coward. We preach Christ armed and summoning his followers to take up the sword after him. If thine enemy hunger, tighten the blockade, that you may bring him to his knees the sooner. The end justifies the means, and the only way to cast out Satan is by Satan."

The Christian is confronted today with the choice of a cross or the sword dripping blood—the cross that stands for the appeal to reason and the nobler impulses of man, for the love that hopes, believes, endures all things, the cross of misunderstanding, of those who will be called fanatics, cowards, traitors, the cross that stands for patience, creative good-will, the glad acceptance of misfortune, the hands of evil men in the behalf of their redemption, the cross or the dripping sword. The method of the cross may seem utterly futile just now. The cross of Golgotha seemed utterly futile once. Choose ye this day!

Mr. Brent D. Allinson, President of the Harvard International Policy Club, was the second speaker.
He said in part:—Our duty to maintain neutrality today is no less imperative than it was in 1792. Our principles triumphed then because we had them and remained neutral.
Our principles will triumph today if we define them, provided we remain neutral. We hold that the rights of remaining aloof from a general war is a fundamental human right and that a declaration of war without submission of the dispute to an international council of investigation and conciliation is a criminal offense against society.

Our quarrel is not with the German people. It is not even with the German government. Our quarrel is with war.

We shall never defeat war by defeating Germany. We shall never protect our citizens or their rights by making war upon Germany. We have everything to gain and nothing to lose by remaining technically neutral.

We have nothing to gain and everything to lose by becoming belligerent. Will we keep the faith?
Prof. Manley O. Hudson of Missouri University said:—
We are called on today to make a decision that has solemn consequences, and we are to take over the decision. It is for us to decide what kind of a nation we will pass on. As citizens of a free republic we shall exercise the right to speak our minds, a privilege handed down to us since 1776.

It is our duty to defend the principle of neutrality. Neutrality of belligerency are so fundamentally opposed, that one cannot be advanced by the other. If the United States becomes a belligerent, she loses all interest in neutral rights, for effective belligerency necessitates restricting neutral activities. How can we be sure that this issue will not develop into a fight between the Allies and the neutrals? And if it becomes so, does anyone suppose that small nations and neutral nations will come in for any consideration where their interests conflict with military policy?

In the past, neutrality has been built up by neutral, not by belligerent nations. Its greatest impetus was from Washington in 1793-1795, when they refused to fight France under circumstances similar to the present. From 1793-1800 Washington, Adams and American Congress did not declare war when France seized and sunk American ships and impressed American seamen, and when France was the butt of hatred as Germany is now. In 1812 Madison, pushed by the hot-headed West declared war on a principle of sea-law (the impressment of American seamen by England)—a principle which was not kept clear during the war; a principle which the treaty of Ghent (which terminated the war) failed even to mention, a principle which the war itself failed to establish. In 1917, even if we declare war to establish a principle of neutral rights on the high seas, even if we are able to keep that issue perfectly clear throughout the war, even if we bring Germany to her knees and by the power of our victory establish a principle which is the treaty of peace, we shall not establish neutral rights for the future. Because any nation backed to the wall and actuated by the law of military necessity, will, at any further date, flagrantly violate neutral rights. If the United States is really interested in establishing sea law, ours is the opportunity at this time to speak in behalf of small nations, in behalf of neutral rights—but we shall have thrown that opportunity to the winds if we enter the war and become a belligerent!

SHUBERT THEATRE—Having terminated a highly successful engagement of seven weeks at Ye Wilbur Theatre, "The Blue Paradise," the reigning Viennese musical sensation of the season, now makes new appeals to music-loving theatre-goers at the Shubert Theatre, the ninth and last week of the Boston run beginning next Monday. In its new surroundings it proves more popular than ever.

After seeing this piece the habitual theatre-goer's jaded appetite is refreshed because of its remarkable music, the logical continuity of its plot and the smoothness of its execution. The delightful quality of the music of "The Blue Paradise" and its fidelity to a plot are qualities rarely found in even first-class musical comedies, and wherever one goes one hears its captivating melodies sung and whistled, especially the alluring waltz song, "Auf Wiedersehn," which has an irresistible appeal.

Laugh about something every morning. If you can't think of anything to laugh about, keep a joke book on hand. It will beat a cocktail a mile.

MARDI GRAS FESTIVAL

Gethsemane Commandery K. T. Entertains
in Royal Fashion

The annual Mardi Gras entertainment by Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templars, is always an interesting event, and that held last Friday night in Masonic building, Newtonville was fully up to the standard, and in some particulars greatly exceeded the fun and frolic of other years. The hall was most attractively decorated with many vari-colored paper lanterns, and when the ordinary electric lights were extinguished, the general effect was delightful. The hundreds of guests were seated at round tables in the hall, while the Sir Knights served salad and rolls, ice cream, cake and coffee, while a pop concert was being rendered by an orchestra, assisted by Signor Pietro Verdi with concertina solos, which were greatly enjoyed. The guests were also presented with multi-colored paper headgear of wonderful styles, while watchmen's rattles, "Ma-Ma" horns and other instruments of noise torture were vigorously used. Colored balloons were kept constantly in the air, while paper balls were thrown about. The climax came when thousands of yards of ribbon confetti made the hall a wilderness of color.

While the hall was being cleared for dancing the guests were entertained in the asyrum above, with a splendid program given by a group of children, pupils of Miss Jeanie May Train, or of Cambridge. The dancing, monologues, and acting of the children was enthusiastically applauded, and numerous and well deserved encores were demanded.

Dancing and whist concluded the evening's fun.
The affair was in the hands of a capable committee of which Mr. Fred M. Blanchard was chairman.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:—
Some candidates to the constitutional convention have declared for biennials—the election of state officials at sessions of the legislature, one or both. It is to be hoped that they will revise and change their opinion. Having been formerly of that mind myself and, by long observation at the state house and by study of the question, become convinced that the biennial view is essentially superficial, I urge that the subject is the most important of all to come before the convention and ought to have first place in electing delegates.

This is a question of good government. Such government is worth all it costs in attention to public questions on part of voters and in time taken to vote. Good government underlies all our business, political and social prosperity. It cannot be had without intelligent public opinion. That opinion cannot be had without attention to public affairs.

Biennials divert attention from public business, diminish the intelligence of the voters regarding public policies, play into the hands of politicians and officeholders who are on the inside of political activity and who use public office for selfish purposes, increase the power of corporate wealth, cripple the rights and the benefits due to the laboring people, and are a serious obstruction to the health and growth of a healthy body politic.
This issue is far larger and more important than is generally realized. It would take a book to discuss it properly. It is to be hoped that every citizen will give intelligent and patriotic support to our present annual system of state elections and legislative sessions which has been proved, by comparison with every other state, to be the best.

R. L. BRIDGMAN.

PRIMARIES

City Clerk's Office, March 21, 1917.
In accordance with law, notice is hereby given that meetings of the citizens of this city, qualified to vote for State officers, will be held in the several polling places designated for the purpose by the Board of Aldermen on TUESDAY, APRIL 3, 1917, and all such citizens will on said date, in the several precincts in which they are entitled to vote, give in their votes for candidates for the offices of Delegates to the Constitutional Convention.

At these Primaries there are to be chosen from those nominated by nomination papers:
16 Delegates At Large.
4 Delegates, Thirteenth Congressional District.
3 Delegates, Fourth Middlesex Representative District (Newton).

And those so chosen shall be deemed nominated as candidates for delegate, and their names only shall appear on the ballot at the Special Election to be held on Tuesday, May 1st, 1917.

The number of delegates of each class for which the voter has the right to vote will appear on the official ballot. No party or political designation will appear on said ballot.

The polls at said meetings will be opened at six o'clock, A. M., and closed at four-thirty o'clock, P. M., at the polling places which have been designated for the purpose by the Board of Aldermen.
The polling places which have been designated for the Primaries by the Board of Aldermen, descriptions of which are posted on the bulletin boards in the different precincts, are the same polling places used at the State and City Elections in 1916, except that the voters of Ward 2, Precinct 1, will vote in the Precinct 2 polling place, the voters of Ward 3, Precinct 2, will vote in the Ward 3, Precinct 1 polling place, and the voters of Ward 6, Precincts 1 and 2, will vote at one polling place in Bray Hall. By order of the Board of Aldermen, FRANK M. GRANT, City Clerk. Advt.
